Ameri... vessels engaged in the coastwise trade are exempt from the payment of tolls, but must pay tonnage dues, light dues, pilotage and other charges to which they may be subject.

The rates named in the proclamation are practically the same as those which will be in force at the Suez Canal next year.

The President based his declaration of rates upon the report and investigation of Prof. Emery R. Johnson of the University of Pennsylvania, an expert designated by executive order for the task. The report has been awaited with interest by shipping interests throughout the world.

JOHNSON'S REPORT.

According to Prof. Johnson's report to the President, also made public tonight, the Panama Canal should be upon a self-sustaining basis in twenty years. It should compete successfully with the Suez route for the traffic of Europe, with South American West Coast points and with New Zealand, but cannot be expected to compete successfully with Europe's trade to the Far East.

Taking the estimates of the Canal Commission for expenses of operation and maintenance of the canal and for the improvements held to be necessary at the end of a decade, Prof. Johnson figures that the rate per net ton can be reduced at the end of ten years to $1. Even with this rate, which he says probably will correspond closely with the rate that may than be enforced through the Suez out specific mention, either in the act of Congress or the proclamation, because the authorities believe it unnecessary to explain the uselessness of payment from its Navy Department pocket to the one belonging to the Treasury Department.

PARALLEL SUEZ RATES.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The House of Commons was the scene tonight of a riot over Premier Asquith's proposal to rescind the action of Monday when the Unionists carried by a majority of twenty-two Sir Frederick Banbury's amendment defeating the most important financial feature of the home-rule bill.

The Unionists refused to permit the debate to go on, and the Speaker was forced to adjourn the session because of the disorder. This is an extremely rare necessity and the situation is considered critical.

Advance Guard of Savoff's Warriors Come in Contact With Moslem Outposts at Two Points in the Line About Tchataldje—Desperate Fighting Is Reported to Have Preceded Cessation of Struggle.

BY PAUL LAMBETH.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE, BY WIRELESS OVERLAND TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 14.—News has just been received from Constantinople that Turkey and Bulgaria are considering directly terms of peace. A provisional armistice was signed at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and hostilities ceased three hours later.

Nazim Pasha has asked the Bulgarian commander-in-chief to extend the armistice for eight days.

The Times correspondent at Constantinople says:

"The Bulgarian advance guard today came in touch with the Turkish outposts at two points in the lines about Tchataldje. It was a mere affair of the advance guard so far as it can be judged in this portion of the lines. The Turks are adequately intrenched and their defenses are properly manned. The statements by a correspondent of the Reichspost with regard to the piercing of the lines are entirely inaccurate, with the exception that a few outposts had encounters of no importance. No serious fighting has occurred in front of the lines since the Ottoman troops raced thither.

"At present the Bulgarian forces appear to be facing the Turkish lines from the western end of Derkos Lake to a point between Kalfikratia and Kumburgos, south of Tchataldje. As for the accounts of a second great battle on November 4 they appear to be based upon the harassing of Mahmud Mukhtar Pasha's rear guard by the Bulgarians during his retreat from Visa on November 3 and 3. Such, at European witnesses. They deny that any great action such as described by the Reichspost's correspondent took place."

AUSTRIA'S PROPOSAL.

An answer from the Balkan Kings to the Austrian proposal supported by Germany and Italy cannot be expected before Saturday, according to the Vienna correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, and therefore all decisions must remain in abeyance.

Preparations for all eventualities continue, however, in Austria, and the belief is generally entertained that Russia will give a mobilization order on Friday and will support Servia's demands.

Efforts were made today to produce the impression that the matter would take a favorable turn, but pessimism has gained ground everywhere and the general disposition is to doubt all news promising a peace arrangement.

It is officially admitted that Austria's demands, sent to the Balkans by M. Daneff, president of the Bulgarian Chamber of Deputies, are absolutely the least that can be asked and that no abatement can be yielded. The conditions must be accepted or be refused.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN.

Austria explains clearly what will happen if a negative answer is given. The Durazzo, the official organ in Albania, has addressed this telegram to the Preis Presse: "We protest

VICTIM OF TARRING PARTY THREATENED WITH DEATH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NORWALK (O.) Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Minnie Lavalley, the 19-year-old victim of the West Clarksfield tarring party, was threatened with death in an anonymous, roughly scrawled note she received at her home in Norwalk today. Coming on the second day of the trial of the six men indicted for the outrage, the note accentuated the fears for her safety that the girl has had since the drama of which she is the central figure began to be unfolded before a jury of sturdy Ohio farmers. The note read:

"November 11, 1912—To Miss Minnie Lavalley: Madam: You've caused enough trouble in West Clarksfield. If these six men go to jail, you'd better look out."

DUE NOTICE AND WARNING.

The State's case against the six defendants was bolstered up somewhat when Jerry A. Fenimore, lover of Minnie Lavalley, testified today. Fenimore declared that a few days after the tarring, he was accosted in the West Clarksfield depot by a group of villagers, among whom were Barlow and Ernest Welch, two of the men indicted and William Smith. Fenimore swore that Smith said:

"They tarred Minnie Lavalley, they're going to stop her seeing men or stop her clock and people who come here to see her will get the same or worse. Take this as a warning."

GIRL DIDN'T REMEMBER.

Thirteen-year old Irma Ewartz, a little round-faced girl with innocent baby blue eyes, was the first witness to be called to add to the testimony which may send the villagers to jail. Irma looked right at Prosecutor Young with her innocent eyes as she answered: "I don't remember," to any of his questions that might have implicated the men on trial.

Irma was the girl Minnie took to the depot on the evening when she was tarred. Irma testified to this, telling simply how she was escorted to the train by the Lavalley girl and saw the latter starting for home. That was all she remembered.

The defense in the case late this afternoon began their attempt to discredit the Lavalley girl's testimony as to the identity of the men who attacked her. Every effort will be made to free Ernest Welsh, the first of the six indicted men to be placed on trial. Scores of witnesses will be called to attack the girl's reputation for veracity. A number of these

GIRL KILLS MOTHER IN MISTAKE FOR THIEF.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—Mrs. J. Rappe Myers, wife of the proprietor of the Rappe Hotel, Greensburg, Pa., was shot by her daughter, Gladys Elizabeth Myers, in mistake for a burglar in a sleeping car on a Pennsylvania railroad train bound for New York. She died a short time later in a Trenton (N. J.) hospital. The shooting occurred when the train was passing Croydon, Pa., just this side of Bristol, Pa., and near Trenton.

Miss Myers and W. R. Cuthbert, 60 years old, of Lynchburg, Va., were detained by the Trenton police for some time, but were released tonight after a thorough investigation. It was thought at first that Cuthbert was concerned in some way with the shooting, as he was found with Miss Myers at the side of the wounded woman a few seconds after the sound of the shot, which aroused the other passengers in the car and brought the porter and conductor. Later he explained that he had been standing on the front platform of the car in the rear and had run in when he heard the shot.

TO BUY A TROUSSEAU.

Miss Myers, who is about 20 years old, was on the way to New York to purchase a trousseau for her coming wedding to J. Blair Dillard of Salem, Va. She had a casket of jewels which she was taking to New York to have repaired and matched and when she heard her mother re-entering their section after Mrs. Myers had gone for a few minutes to the dressing-room, she took her revolver from under her pillow and fired, thinking a burglar was after the gems. She was half awake at the time.

Miss Myers's brother and her fiance are on their way from Salem and will arrive in Trenton early tomorrow morning. Her father is en route from Greensburg to meet his daughter. He is accompanied by an attorney.

GIRL'S STATEMENT.

Miss Myers made the following statement:

"My mother and I left our home in Greensburg, Pa., to visit my fiance, J. Blair Dillard, for a short time, then went to see my brother, J. Rappe Myers, Jr., at Salem, Va. Last night at 5:48 o'clock my mother and I took a train from Salem, Va., engaging a lower berth.

"I was awakened by my mother, who informed me that she was going to the washroom and while she was absent I dozed off to sleep. I was suddenly awakened from my sleep by seeing the curtains parted and some one crawling into the berth. I always sleep with a revolver under my pillow, and knowing that the porter had seen my jewelry, I pulled the revolver from under the pillow and fired and was horrified to hear my mother scream and see her stagger into the smoker, where I found her. When I shouted for some one to get a doctor and some whisky, a gentleman came forward whom I afterward learned is William R. Cuthbert of Lynchburg, Va., and offered his services."

WILSON MAKES STEADY GAINS.

Forges Ahead of Roosevelt for a Time.

Los Angeles Count Likely to Decide Contest.

San Francisco and Alameda Also Storm Centers.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—At 10 o'clock tonight Theodore Roosevelt, by latest official and unofficial returns, was ten votes ahead of Woodrow Wilson in California's vote for President.

As occurred yesterday, Mr. Wilson enjoyed a fleeting plurality on the face of slowly-incoming returns. For about fifteen minutes tonight he was shown to be one vote ahead. Revised figures from a mountain county, however, threw eleven more votes to Roosevelt.

San Francisco, Alameda and Los Angeles counties now furnish the storm centers. In San Francisco no change in the previously-recorded vote was shown today. In Alameda county the Democrats claimed a gain for Wilson of thirty-two votes, and in Los Angeles county it was asserted that the recount in progress showed a gain for Wilson of seventy-two votes, making a total of 104.

The one precinct missing from Humboldt county contains fourteen voters. Of these, twelve are registered as Republicans, one as a Socialist and one declined to state his party affiliations.

Money staked on the result of the election, local betting commissioners say, will be paid upon announcement by the Secretary of State of the certified vote as reported to him from the fifty-eight counties of the State.

In paying these stakes, one man who holds some $20,000 said today, no recount, possible or actual, will not be considered, the Secretary of State's announcement being the one which will govern.

BALKS THE AFFINITIES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Reno divorcees will not make Carson City a Gretna Green as long as they have to deal with County Clerk Patterson of Ormsby county. It has been the practice to obtain a decree in Reno, slip out of the city either to Carson City or Virginia City and quietly get married.

County Clerk Patterson has dug up a law which requires couples to get married where they swear they reside and this week put the ruling in to effect when a Reno woman just freed came into his office with her affinity in search of a marriage license. There was nothing doing and there will be nothing doing in future, either.

"Easiest thing in the world to beat that County Clerk," said a pretty New York divorcee tonight. "We will give our New York address and he can't refuse a marriage license." And in truth the law is explicit in this regard. But there is greater distress in the colony over the fear the next Legislature will change the present divorce laws.

ATHENS, Nov. 13.—Women and children who fled from their homes in the Zagora region on the Albanian frontier before raiding bands of Turks and Albanians are dying of hunger and cold in the snow-covered mountains where they sought refuge. Men inhabitants of the region engage in trading pursuits in all parts of the world and leave their women and children to the mercy of bandits.

THE TURKISH DEFEAT ON TCHATALDJE LINE.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

VIENNA, Nov. 13.—The main Bulgarian attack on the Turkish forts along the line of Tchataldje in front of Constantinople is now progressing favorably after being delayed for two days because of the difficulty of transport after the heavy rain, according to the correspondent of the Reichspost at Bulgarian headquarters, in a dispatch dated Tuesday.

The Turks, he says, have been driven from their advance posts.

In another dispatch, the correspondent says the Turkish officers captured during the sorties made by the garrison of Adrianople declare the Bulgarian artillery fire was unbearable. The Turkish troops engaged in the sorties had only a few biscuits to eat. They treated their officers' commands to advance with indifference and stirred only when the Mussulman priests intervened. The utmost confusion prevailed among the besieged. Turkish troops fired on one another in the darkness, while the Bulgarian artillery continued to rake their ranks and the infantry finally closed in on them.

The Turks in Adrianople have been kept in ignorance of the defeat of the main Turkish army.

TURKS GET SOAP FOR CARTRIDGES.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—The reasons for the breakdown of the Turkish army before the invaders are brought to light in a letter from Capt. Persius, the war correspondent of the Tageblatt.

Writing from Uskub after visiting the battlefield of Koumanova he says he found on the persons of the fallen Turkish infantrymen numbers of blank cartridges and also cartridges of the old German rifles used in 1871.

He also drew the swords of some of the fallen Ottoman cavalrymen and found them unsharpened and blunt, and it was the same with the bayonets of the infantrymen. He saw a battery of field guns which had been captured by the Servians. The sights were fixed at 2500 yards, but the barrels were only slightly discolored by powder. He was told that when the Turkish gunners opened their reserve ammunition boxes they found them filled with soap. The correspondent adds that hunger was one of the main causes of the Turkish defeats. The commissariat absolutely lacked organization. Hundreds of the Turks threw away their rifles and surrendered to get a piece of bread.

against the imprisonment and extirpation of Albanians in Kossovo. Secretly Servians, murder Albanian war prisoners. Albanians will die, one and all, before they let their country be divided among the victors. Three million Albanians appeal to civilized Europe's help in their distress."

TROOPS ON THE GO.

The Vienna authorities explain the transportation of troops to the south, observed everywhere, in the following manner: The number of recruits being largely increased, it was impossible to give them first instructions in the barracks of the Fifteenth and Sixteenth corps, so the recruits enlisted October 1, were drilled in all parts of the monarchy, and are being sent to Bosnia and Herzegovina and Dalmatia. On Friday 20,000 men leave for South Dalmatia. On account of the military preparations made in Trieste that free port is closed to the public. Two hundred thousand men are about to be transported to Dalmatia.

GREEKS TRIUMPH OVER THE TURKS.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

ATHENS, Nov. 13.—It is announced that 35,000 Turks were engaged in the battle against the Greeks at Yenidje. They had forty-two heavy guns. The Turkish losses numbered 2000 killed, 500 made prisoners and twenty-two guns captured. The Greek losses were 500 killed and wounded, including fifteen officers.

DESPERATE SORTIE.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

SOFIA, Nov. 13.—A desperate sortie was made by the Turkish garrison at Adrianople yesterday, according to a dispatch to the Mir. After five hours' fighting the Turkish troops were driven back by the Bulgarian besiegers. The Turks lost heavily.

FIRING IS SUSPENDED ON TCHATALDJE LINE.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13.—In the last forty-eight hours, according to advices received here, there has been no fighting on the Tchataldje lines, owing, it is believed, to the fact that the negotiations for an armistice are proceeding direct with the Bulgarians.

Another factor which probably has contributed to upset the Bulgarian plans is the outbreak of cholera.

RUSSIA ADVISES PORTE TO SUE FOR PEACE.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Porte, on the advice of Russia, has instructed Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief to apply to the Bulgarian commander for an eight-days' armistice with a view to opening direct negotiations for peace.

This decision seems to show that Turkey has little hope of being able to hold the Tchataldje lines against the Bulgarian advance. There is no news, however, as to how the Bulgarian commander met the Turkish request.

The situation at the front, owing to the paucity of the news allowed to filter through from either side, is confusing. Clearly there has been heavy fighting. On November 12, Constantinople reported that numerous wounded were arriving from the front and the almost invariably correct Vienna Reichspost correspondent has reported the capture of a position by Bulgarians in the neighborhood of the Tchataldje lines.

The same correspondent says now the main attack on Tchataldje has been delayed two days by rain.

POWERS TAKE STEP TOWARD MEDIATION.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 13.—All the European powers have agreed to the Turkish proposal made last week that they should inform the Balkan nations of the Turkish request for mediation and to inquire from them whether they are willing to formulate terms on which negotiations could be opened. Steps in this direction are about to be taken by the representatives of the powers.

Neptune's Plaything.

BEAVER STRIKES BOTTOM IN A TERRIFIC BLOW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ASTORIA (Or.) Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As a wind-up to the roughest trip along the Oregon coast of the season, if not her entire career, the steamer Beaver of the Harriman Los Angeles-San Francisco-Portland line struck bottom while coming in over the Columbia River bar at 2 o'clock this afternoon and was swept by a comber, which smashed her after-house and a half dozen staterooms, flooded a dozen other staterooms, swept a waiter out of his bunk with such force as to split open his scalp and render him insensible, and threw her passengers into a panic, which was only stilled when the big flagship of the Harriman fleet made the quieter waters of Astoria Harbor.

The Beaver ran into a terrific blow almost as soon as she arrived in Oregon waters late yesterday. So rough was the water that nearly everybody on board was seasick. The Beaver arrived off the heads at 6 o'clock this morning, but so rough was the bar that no attempt was made at the time to cross. At 2 o'clock this afternoon, the tide being full and the seasick passengers begging to be brought into port, the captain decided to enter the river.

HIT BY COMBER.

As she was crossing a shoal, half way in, the Beaver struck ground, although there was supposed to be thirty feet of water under her at that point. The gigantic waves threw her stern down as her bow went up, and the deflection was sufficient to let her strike. A moment later a great comber struck the steamer from astern and buried her almost to the hurricane deck. The walls of the house and the first half-dozen staterooms aft were crushed like eggshells. Forward the comber flooded other staterooms and swept clean the saloon deck to the stern. Then the Beaver, freed of the water, crossed the bar.

The waiter who was injured was asleep when the comber hit the Beaver. So great was the shock that he was knocked out of his berth in the glory hole and thrown on the floor with great force.

The Beaver, after a brief stop here, proceeded to Portland.

During the storm the British bark Oweenee, Capt. Jones, dragged her anchor in the bay here last night and went on the sands. She is loaded with a cargo of wheat, which she took on at Portland for the United Kingdom. The bark had been awaiting a favorable opportunity to cross out to sea. She was dragged back into the channel.

Ten vessels which loaded at Portland are stormbound on the inside below Astoria. They are the American-Hawaiian steamship Lyra, the steamers Breakwater, Coaster, F. H. Leggett, Rose City, Camino, Iaqua, the tanker Asuncion, the British steamship Mancunia and the British bark Oweenee.

At the entrance to the river the sea is still very rough with a heavy wind blowing.

RAILWAY CRIPPLED BY DISASTROUS STORM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ABERDEEN (Wash.) Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A house was blown over, railroad traffic has been crippled and all smaller streams are nearly out of their banks as a result of the terrific storm which ended here last night in a gale such as the harbor has seldom seen. Rail communication on the Northern Pacific line from here to Seattle is made by way of Centralia instead of Olympia and the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound and Oregon-Washington joint line has been covered by slides in several places.

Train communication with Moclips still continues, the water not having been sufficiently high to carry out bridges and no slides have occurred on that line. Electric light wires and telephone cables also are down. The fire alarm signal system is burned out, part of the city being in darkness. The bay is now sufficiently calm to allow the departure of a number of bar-bound vessels. Mill men found lumber scattered all over the yards after the blow.

High winds caused small fires at the Western Cooperage plant and at the Western mill.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Two departments of the United States government—the Postoffice and the Department of Justice—today began investigations of the "Black Rose" cult, whose members occupied an old mansion on Michigan avenue as a "temple" until the police raided the place Monday night and carried away men and women, both black and white.

Lauron de Laurence, who calls himself "doctor" and claims to be a Choctaw Indian, is charged by the police with violations of the Mann act and use of the mails to defraud.

Also the police asserted that Laurence is a negro and not an Indian. Among the trappings of the cult found at the "temple" by the police was a wooden cigar store Indian, which was a fetich before which members of the cult prostrated themselves in devotion.

Portland Man Says Wife Slapped Him and Otherwise Accorded Him Cruel Treatment.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 13.—[Special Dispatch.] Monroe Goldstein, son of a wealthy Fresno merchant, has started suit for divorce from Bertha K. Goldstein in the Circuit Court, charging cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married in Alameda, Cal.

In his complaint Goldstein charges Mrs. Goldstein with greatly humiliating him by slapping his face in the lobby of a prominent Portland hotel in September, 1910. In December of the same year he declares that at their residence, in the presence of friends, she grabbed a revolver and threatened to shoot him so he was compelled to seize her hands to save himself.

SUTTER BASIN LAND DEAL.

Chicago Capitalists Take up Options Running Over a Million and Will Reclaim Sixty Thousand Acres.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Cash payments were made at the California National Bank in this city today to close up a land deal that spells much for the development of this valley. Chicago capitalists, acting under advice of W. E. Gerber of this city, have closed options on the entire unreclaimed portion of the lower end of the Sutter basin, over 60,000 acres, and while they announce that they will not decide until February 1, next, pending careful soil and engineering investigations, whether or not they will reclaim, it is highly improbable that the money invested in the land will be allowed to remain idle.

The price of the land alone aggregates over $1,500,000. Most of the options call for payments running over three or four years, but a few provide for full cash.

E. Wineman of San Bernardino, who held 24,300 acres, is in possession this afternoon of certificates of deposit for $608,000. His contract called for gold coin, but when he found that he would be forced to carry away from the bank over a ton of gold he weakened and took certificates.

Stockton Laborer Mortgages Home to Raise Funds for Fortune Teller Who Disappears to Double.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Prof. Mayo," who has been conducting spiritual seances and telling fortunes here, is being sought by the authorities on the charge of grand larceny preferred by John P. Schon, a laborer.

Schon said today that at the suggestion of Mayo he had mortgaged his little home for $800 and placed $800 with the fortune teller to be magnetized in the belief it would be doubled. He states that Mayo placed eight $100 bills in a leather pouch with a cheap magnet and had Schon place them in a bank. Schon carried them from the bank to Mayo several times, and when he took the pouch to Mayo Monday he found the offices vacant.

Student at San Diego Aviation School Drops Hundred and Fifty Feet and Lives.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO (Cal.) Nov. 13.—Falling 150 feet from his biplane at the Curtis Aviation School, North Island, before noon, Edwin Williams, a student aviator, lies unconscious at Agnew Hospital, and a consultation of physicians is being held to determine the exact extent of his injuries, which may prove fatal.

Williams was flying a Curtis biplane over the North Island course. He had been up only a few minutes when the machine was seen to veer suddenly and then shoot downward, dislodging Williams from his seat. Students and instructors at the school rushed to the place where the machine fell expecting to find Williams dead.

Williams was terribly mangled by the fall. Both legs are broken while the body is a mass of cuts and bruises. Internal injuries are what the physicians fear, as well as a fracture of the skull.

He was one of the few thirty-third-degree Masons.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 13.—That the State is the largest single depositor in the State banks is indicated by the report of State Treasurer Roberts, showing a total of $9,097,260 lent to the banks and drawing interest at the rate of approximately $16,000 a month.

Election of Officers Takes Place Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICO, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Responding to an appeal made by Dr. Burlingame of San Francisco, the Baptist convention of Northern and Central California in session here this morning raised within a few minutes, $700 for the mission church of San Francisco. This is the Emmanuel Church of which the late George Gibson of this city was so long pastor. The appeal met with a ready response and money flowed like water for a few seconds.

The first day's business of the convention began this morning with the seating of the delegates. The expected fight over credentials failed to materialize, satisfactory agreements having been reached off the convention floor. The principal feature of the morning session was the report of Dr. C. W. Brinsted on missions, showing a great progress made in mission work and a steady advance all along the line.

Convention problems of various sorts were discussed this afternoon in which about half of delegates participated. Rev. Claud Kelly gave an address on "Our Foreign Population," taking up the question of disposition of the immigrants and the saving of their souls.

This evening there was a special song service and stereopticon lecture by Rev. Van Dyke Todd, on "Our Convention." The Revs. Ari Sims, W. H. Barker, W. C. Spencer, E. Bodin, G. W. Ayers, H. Golvin and J. C. Colyer assisted in this series. The election of officers for the ensuing year will take place tomorrow.

WOULDN'T BUTTON HER GOWN

But Mental Cruelty Reaches Climax When Husband Refuses Smoking Jacket, and Divorce Is Result.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Testifying to coldness and indifference on the part of her husband, manager of a department store at Phoenix, Ariz., for which she could account only upon the ground that he thought she was a wealthy girl when he married her when in reality she was but moderately supplied with money, Hope Thornton of Phoenix secured a decree of divorce in the District Court of Reno today from H. Montreville Thornton.

Mental cruelty was the ground upon which the decree was granted. The plaintiff testifying to a series of occurrences beginning with the time a week after the wedding when her husband refused to button her new gown, and culminating in his refusal to accept from her a smoking jacket as a Christmas present. Her health, she said, was badly shattered as a result of his mistreatment.

He will be sent back to prison.

Davidson served ten years in San Quentin for having killed his wife, while intoxicated, in Kern county, December 27, 1897.

RAILWAY MEN QUIT SERVICE.

Pennsylvania President Steps Down and Out.

His Resignation Ends Service Lasting Forty Years.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 13.—[Special Dispatch.] Two of the best-known railroad men in the country, James McCrea, president of the Pennsylvania, and M. E. Ingalls, chairman of the board of directors of the Big Four—the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railroads — resigned today. President McCrea's retirement takes effect January 1, next. He has been in the service of the company forty-seven years, and has been president for six years, having succeeded Alexander J. Cassatt.

The board of directors elected Samuel McRea, vice-president of the company, president to succeed Mr. McCrea, January 1. McRea has served the company as engineer, as third vice-president, as first vice-president and vice-president. He has been an active member of the board of directors for many years. In order to be eligible for election to the presidency he resigned his directorship and was re-elected a director of the board to succeed the late C. A. Griscom. It will be remembered that the Pennsylvania board of directors consists of thirteen members elected by the stockholders and four additional members chosen by the board from the stockholders. It has been the custom of the board to elect four vice-presidents under this regulation, and McRea was one of these.

Ingalls declined re-election as chairman of the board of directors of the Big Four today. He has been connected with the road for forty years, much of the time as president. His retirement is caused by the failure of his health, and his desire to be free to travel. No action was taken toward filling the chairmanship of the board, but all other officers were re-elected at today's meeting.

HILL TO HAVE COMPETITION.

Harriman Line Is Running Permanent Survey for Extensions Into Upper Columbia Valley.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To determine whether the Columbia River branch will leave the Yakima Valley line at Kennewick or Benton City, Chief Engineer Pitman and two right-of-way agents of the O. W. R. & N. went last night to White Bluffs.

Before leaving, they made a public statement that the Harriman line will next year build a thirty-five-mile branch to tap the rapidly-developing fruit district around Hanford, and that it plans eventually to drive its rails to Wenatchee and into the Upper Columbia River country.

The thirty-five-mile line to White Bluffs will meet the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound branch from Beverly, which is now nearly completed, and will be ready for traffic in a few weeks.

The Harriman line two years ago built a nine-mile grade from Benton City toward White Bluffs which ended at the Yakima River. Probably this will be used. The Great Northern now has no competition in the Wenatchee and Upper Columbia valleys. President Farrell of the O. W. was formerly right-hand man to James J. Hill. Railroaders believe he will give his old employer some real competition when he pushes the Harriman rails into Wenatchee.

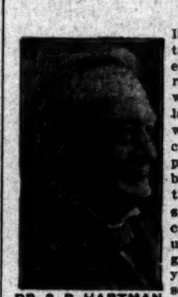
YOUNG LADIES WRITE DR. HARTMAN



DR. S. B. HARTMAN

In my answers to correspondents, published recently, one was to a young lady who had written me concerning pimples and blackheads that were spoiling her complexion. I undertook to give this young lady some advice, concealing her name of course.

The publication of my advice on this subject has brought me a shower of letters from young ladies. I had no idea there were so many young ladies afflicted in this way. In spite of all the advertised remedies for pimples, and lauded preparations to produce clear skin and splendid complexion, in spite of all this it seems there are a large number of young ladies who are haggardly anxious about their complexions. I thought perhaps a short talk from me on this subject might be a good thing.

Of course I will be suspected of wishing only to sell my medicine, and to recommend Peruna for such cases. In spite of this, however, I am going to recommend Peruna for pimples and blackheads. Let me tell you why.

The bowels when they are healthy contain no poisonous material. Long before the poisons can generate the contents of the bowels are discharged, provided they are in ordinary activity. But constipation will dam up the contents of the bowels and retain them so long that they decompose and furnish poisonous gas and fluids. These poisons are absorbed by the blood vessels in the bowels and taken into the system. The result is pimples and blackheads and other disfigurements of the complexion. Young ladies especially are subject to constipation. I think I should not be wide of the truth if I should say that one-half of the young ladies of this country suffer from constipation.

Now I wish to say that Peruna will regulate the bowels. It will stimulate the excretory organs. Peruna will clear the complexion simply because it takes away the offending poisonous materials which cause pimples, blotches, spots on the skin, roughness of the skin, warts, moles and the like. I make no apology and have no hesitation in saying to the public that Peruna taken according to directions on the bottle will do more towards beautifying the complexions of our young ladies than all the applications that can be made to the skin. All the facial massage and treatments that have ever been invented never will do these cases so much good as Peruna, except some other medicine which is made on similar lines.

I do not claim that Peruna is the only medicine that will prevent absorption of poisons from the bowels. But I do claim that it is one of the medicines that will do this—a reliable one—an old and trusted one—one that has stood the test of years—one that is lauded by thousands of people who have tried it.

So then, young ladies, if you want clear skins, free from pimples, take Peruna. This is the advice of an old, experienced physician who admires young ladies in a fatherly way, who is acquainted with scores of them. What I am telling you in this article I have told my own family, my own children and grandchildren many times, and the numerous acquaintances with whom I daily associate.

Land Flyers to Spend Winter in Sunshine.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Preparations to train a considerable number of hydro-aeroplanists for the army this winter are being made, San Diego, Cal., having been selected as the scene of actions.

A large island in the harbor will be utilized as the headquarters. It is the opinion of the army aviation officials that at least ten men can be developed during the season into veteran manipulators of the over-water flying machine. Glenn H. Curtiss has agreed to devote his time this winter to the training. In addition to its hydro-aeroplanes, the army has purchased a "flying boat," a more advanced type of the hydro-aeroplane, and this will be sent to San Diego.

The army land flyers will do their winter work at Augusta, Ga., and the navy aviators will go to Guantanamo, Cuba, where they will work in connection with the fleet during its maneuvers there.

CLARK WILL HAVE WALK-OVER.

Congressman Henry Will Not Be Candidate for Speakership as He Was Two Years Ago.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Representative Henry of Texas, chairman of the Rules Committee of the House, who was a candidate for Speaker two years ago, announced today that he would not oppose Speaker Clark when the new Democratic House is organized after March 4.

It is understood that Mr. Bryan is favorable to the re-election of Mr. Clark as Speaker. Expressions from Democratic members of the House who have reached Washington indicate that the Speaker has little or no opposition for re-election.

Wallace Bassford, the Speaker's secretary, said tonight that he had in his office letters or telegrams from more than half the membership of the National House pledging support to Mr. Clark for re-election.

Meyer to Ask Congress for Three Dreadnoughts to Offset Lapse of Last Year.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Because Congress last year appropriated for only one dreadnought, the construction of three great battleships will be asked this year by the Navy Department, it was learned today.

Secretary Meyer, Assistant Secretary Winthrop and the various chiefs of the Navy Department spent today in conference discussing the salient features to be embodied in the annual report, which will be submitted to Congress soon after the session convenes next month. Recommendations for the number of cruisers and other vessels will be in accord with the battleship policy, an increased number being asked for to offset the reduction made in last year's naval appropriation bill.

Department of Justice Prepares Bill Asking Courts to Dissolve Giant Corporation Charging It With Violation of Sherman Law. Pending Suits to Be Pushed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Department of Justice will file a suit in the near future against the United Fruit Company. The action will be based on alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust law and will ask for the dissolution of that big industrial corporation. The company has been under investigation by the Department of Justice for some time and it was learned today that the bill of complaint in the case already has been prepared.

The United Fruit Company has an authorized capital of $35,000,000, of which there is outstanding $29,700,000. The company owns the entire capital stock of the Tropical Fruit Steamship Company, which has in operation a fleet of eighteen steamships maintaining regular service for passengers and merchandise between the West Indies, Central America and the United States. The company also owns the controlling stock in the Nip Company, with an authorized capital of $7,000,000. Through this company it has undertaken the development of cane sugar plantations in Cuba, along the most advanced lines.

The United Fruit Company is a New Jersey corporation organized in 1899. It not only produces and transports, but distributes its own fruit in this country. It is this distributing plan of the business that has been the subject of the complaint to the Department of Justice. It has been charged that the United company has built up a country-wide distributing business and has resorted to unfair practices. The reported preparation to begin suit against the United Fruit Company indicates clearly that there is to be no letup by the Attorney-General in the prosecutions under the Sherman law during the closing days of the administration. The Department of Justice is making plans also to push the pending suits along as far as possible before President Taft steps out.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Nov. 13.—"It costs $20,000 a year to supply bread and butter to each of the leading hotels of America," said Lyman T. Hay of St. Louis, retiring president of the Missouri-Kansas-Oklahoma Hotel Men's Association, addressing the annual convention of the organization here last night. "The hotels of the larger cities are being compelled to make a charge for bread and butter," he added, "and hotels in the small towns soon will be forced to follow suit." Representatives of some of the small towns said that for country hotels to make such a charge would be as ridiculous as to demand an entrance fee to a dining-room. W. N. Robinson of Tulsa, Okla., was elected president.

LONG CRIMINAL RECORD.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA (Neb.) Nov. 13.—A two and a half years' sentence to the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., closed a twenty-five-year criminal record of Oreste Paginini, who came to Omaha as a curly-headed Italian boy. Since that time Paginini has visited nearly every part of the world and lived under more than thirty aliases. Paginini served under Madero in Mexico and later enlisted under Gen. Orozco. Ten years ago Paginini was convicted of murder in Salt Lake City and escaped with the assistance of the Italian Ambassador at Washington. Paginini is said to have influential family connections in Italy.

MADERO AGENTS EXPOSE PLOT TO ATTACK JUAREZ.

Uncle Sam's Troops Prevent Rebel Reinforcements from Crossing Into Mexico—Organization of Political Refugee's Protective League Gives War Department Officials Much Anxiety.

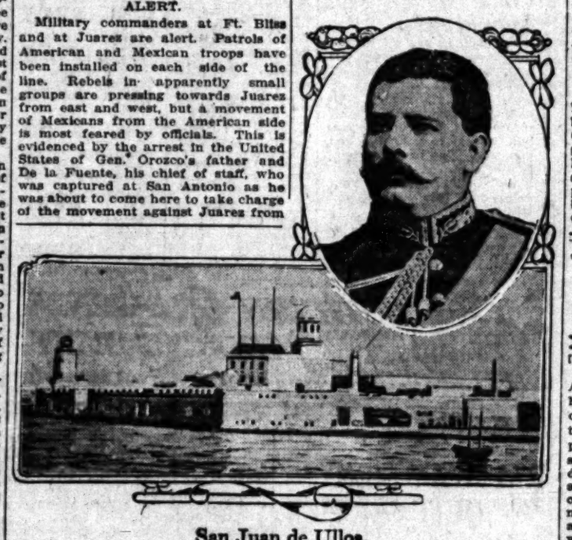
[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Nov. 13.—Efforts of the United States military and the Mexican secret service were directed today to prevent development of a rebel plan to attack Juarez, the Mexican border town and port of entry so often threatened. The arrests this week here and at San Antonio, Tex., of Col. Pascual Orozco, Sr., and Col. David de la Fuente directly resulted from the premature exposure of the rebel plot made known to the War Department by Madero agents here. The arrests here are made possible by the "semi-martial" law which exists along the American side of the Mexican frontier.

ALERT.

Military commanders at Ft. Bliss and at Juarez are alert. Patrols of American and Mexican troops have been installed on each side of the line. Rebels in apparently small groups are pressing towards Juarez from east and west, but a movement of Mexicans from the American side is most feared by officials. This is evidenced by the arrest in the United States of Gen. Orozco's father and De la Fuente, his chief of staff, who was captured at San Antonio as he was about to come here to take charge of the movement against Juarez from some point in New Mexico near El Paso.

Organization of the so-called "Political Refugees' Protection League" is causing officials much anxiety. The organization was launched a few days ago at Phoenix, Ariz., with declared intention of forming a fraternity of Mexicans in the United States to defend, morally and materially, refugees held on American soil for other than criminal offenses. The large Mexican population of the American border States makes complex the problem should the organization assume such proportions that the small membership fee will make possible a material fund to assist rebel activity in Mexico.



San Juan de Ulloa,

Famous fort in the harbor of Vera Cruz, which has witnessed many stirring scenes. In the war of the United States with Mexico it was bombarded and captured by the Americans. Gen. Felix Diaz, the rebel leader, whose picture appears above, was transferred to this prison from the city jail for better safekeeping, but his escape, at which his guards connived, suggests the theory that President Madero deemed it wiser to let go of the rebel leader than to arouse the nation by executing him under the sentence of the court-martial that found Diaz guilty of treason.

Panama Canal Tolls.

Canal, the United States will obtain enough revenue from foreign vessels to pay all fixed charges, provide a sinking fund of one per cent. to retire the Panama Canal bonds and still find a yearly balance.

The Johnson report shows that a foreign traffic of about nine million tons may be expected through the canal during its first two years of operation; a traffic of more than eleven million tons in 1920 and fourteen million tons in 1925. Although not maintaining that his estimate is final, Prof. Johnson declared that an increase of sixty per cent. a decade in tonnage could be looked for and that this would make the canal self-sustaining in twenty years.

DEFENSE OF RATE.

Prof. Johnson's defense of the $1.20 rate for merchant vessels is based on several grounds. It reads in part:

"A toll of $1.20 per net ton on loaded merchant vessels and a reduction of 40 per cent. from the standard rate in the case of vessels in ballast, will place the Panama Canal and its rival, the Suez Canal, on an equal competitive footing.

"The Panama Canal must compete with the Suez route for the commerce of Eastern States, and of the Atlantic-North Sea ports of Europe with the Orient east of Singapore. For voyages between eastern United States and the Orient, fuel expenses via Panama will be less than by way of Suez; and, with equal tolls at each canal, the Panama route readily will secure the traffic.

"It is not to be expected that much of the commerce of Europe with the Pacific seaboard of Asia can be diverted to Panama from its present route via Suez. Distances are less via Suez; and with the exception of voyages from North Europe to Japan and return, the fuel expenses are lower by way of Suez. With equal tolls at Panama and Suez, some vessels will take the Panama route between Japan and Europe in order to discharge and secure cargo at American ports.

"A Panama toll of $1.20 per net ton will not burden unduly the commerce served by the canal. The costs of transportation between the two seaboards of the United States will be reduced several times the amount of toll; and for the commerce of the eastern seaboard of the United States with Western South America and with Australia, the economies effected by the Panama Canal will largely exceed the toll suggested. Likewise, the saving in time and fuel expenses via Panama as compared with the Magellan route between our eastern seaboard and New Zealand will be such as to insure the profitable use of the Panama Canal.

"Nor will a toll of $1.20 per net ton seriously restrict the use of the canal by European countries. For the commerce of Europe with Chile and with New Zealand, the saving resulting in the shortening of the time of voyage via Panama as compared with the Straits of Magellan would not warrant the payment of tolls of $1.20 per net vessel ton for using the Panama Canal; but the fuel expenses via Panama will be so much less than via Magellan as to make the Panama route preferable even with tolls of $1.20 per net ton. Moreover, the profitable trade route between Europe and Chile is via Panama and the ports intermediate between the isthmus and Valparaiso. Panama is the natural entrance for the west coast of South American trade.

"The normal growth of traffic of the Panama Canal will not be interfered with by a toll of $1.20 per net ton. The tonnage of shipping using the Suez Canal has increased rapidly, the growth of traffic having been about 70 per cent during the last ten years, although the tolls at the opening of the decade were $1.74 per net ton, and in 1911, $1.30—a higher rate than is charged for Panama. It is suggested that the tolls at Panama start with the relatively low rate to which the Suez charges will have been brought in 1913, at the end of forty-three years of traffic development."

ON WAR VESSELS.

In the President's proclamation the rate upon war vessels was fixed at 50 cents a displacement ton and Prof. Johnson had this comment to make:

"The tolls upon merchant vessels should be fixed low enough to enable the Panama Canal effectively to promote the commerce of the United States and the world, but the United States government is not called upon to make the Panama Canal tolls upon warships low for the purpose of lightening the naval burdens for foreign countries in sending their warships through the Panama Canal. Foreign nations should pay tolls high enough to cover costs and risks incurred by the canal authorities in performing the service rendered."

Drink Habit Lowers a Man's Earning Capacity

Drinking men do not get the positions they are capable of filling because their employers cannot tell when they will go on a spree and cause serious business complications. They become poisoned with alcohol to such a degree that the craving and necessity for more and more drink becomes stronger than the will power to resist, and it is only a question of time when absolute ruin overtakes them.

The Neal Drink Habit Treatment will quickly relieve all craving and necessity for drink because it eliminates the alcohol from the system and neutralizes its functional effect upon the body tissues without the use of painful, dangerous hypodermic injections. The Neal Treatment is administered at fifty-four Neal Institutes in the United States, Canada and Australia, and is the most successful and satisfactory of all drink habit treatments because it acts so quickly, safely and surely.

Men who drink too much should take the Neal Treatment, at once, and stop drinking—climb higher and take the position in the business world they deserve. Now, today, is the time to stop drinking, for tomorrow may be too late to be restored to a life of sobriety and usefulness.

Dr. Neal, originator of the Neal Treatment, will spend the winter at the Los Angeles Neal Institute, 945 South Olive street, and will be pleased to give full information regarding the Neal Treatment. If not convenient to call for a personal interview, write or phone G. U. Neal, Manager, for Dr. Neal's free book. Phone Broadway 4602, A4072.—[Advertisement.

Explosion of Nitro Blows Receiver From Hook and Warns Operator of Bank Robbery.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEDARYVILLE (Ind.) Nov. 13.—A telephone receiver blown from its hook by a charge of nitroglycerin set off by safe blowers in the First National Bank here was the means of preventing the theft of many thousands of dollars last night. The large doors of the vault had been torn away, allowing access to $75,000 in currency, when Mrs. Theodore Braemer, a telephone operator, answered a signal. No voice came over the wire, but she heard a second blast and gave the alarm. Three thieves, who were engaged in looting the place, made their escape with $2000.

STOMACH MISERY
JUST VANISHES

PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN REGULATES STOMACH AT ONCE.
Time It! No Indigestion, Gas or Sourness Five Minutes After Taking "Pape's Diapepsin"

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only fifty cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases, then you will understand why dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for indigestion or gastritis or any other stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion.—[Advertisement.

AN ALIBI.

T. J. Welch, father of Ernest, took the stand today and established an alibi for the youth, declaring that he was home reading at the time the attack on the Lavalley girl took place.

Welch is the only man among the six whom the girl says she identified on the night she was tarred. She also declared that Harlow Welch, a brother, took part and that she knew him by his form. She admitted that she didn't see the face of either of the men.

Late this afternoon, the Lavalley girl was recalled to the stand and ex-Judge Wickham, attorney for the defense, tried to make her admit further allegations as to her personal conduct in West Clarksfield.

WILSON CLINGS TO OLD WAY.

NO NEW-FANGLED SIMPLIFIED SPELLING FOR HIM.

Even Though It Arouse the Chief of the Bull Moose to Anger, President-Elect Wants State Documents and Contracts to Be Written in Traditional Style.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
PRINCETON (N. J.) Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President-elect Woodrow Wilson does not approve of simplified spelling. He expressed himself emphatically in opposition to the new idea when a contract from the waterways department of the State of New Jersey was laid before him for his signature today.

After having read the document he said: "What kind of spelling is this-I see the word thoroughfare spelled thorefare here, and some other long words contracted in the same manner."

"That is the simplified method of spelling that has been adopted in our departments," said the clerk who had brought the contract.

"Well, I don't approve of it at all; it is too Bull Moose to suit me," said Wilson laughing.

But he signed the contract, and it is just as legal as if the words were spelled in the old-fashioned way.

Ettor Admits He Told Lawrence Strikers That Constitution and Courts Are Property of Capitalists.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SALEM (Mass.) Nov. 13.—Joseph J. Ettor testified today that he told foreign strikers of Lawrence the Constitution, the laws, the courts, the police and soldiers belonged to the capitalists. This was brought out under cross-examination in his trial as an accessory to the Anna Lopizzo murder in a riot last winter. He said he told foreigners the Constitution and laws belonged to capitalists, because of his own knowledge of conditions in this country.

"I was making them familiar with the institutions of this country when I told them that," Ettor asserted.

The District Attorney asked Ettor what he had referred to when in a conference with William D. Haywood of the Industrial Workers of the World he had spoken of the "persecution of strikers" in Lawrence.

"I meant the clubbing of strikers," Ettor answered. "The bayonetting of a boy, the striking of men with the butts of guns, the arrest of men under false charges, and men being condemned without a trial, or a drumhead trial at best."

Mother of Col. Astor's Widow Changes Her Residence to Be Near Her Daughter.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In order to have her residence near her daughter, Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor, Mrs. William H. Force, it was learned today, took the lease of an apartment of ten rooms at No. 135 East Sixty-sixth street. Mrs. Force has been residing at No. 18 East Thirty-seventh street. Her new home will be about four blocks from the home of Mrs. Astor, which is at Fifth avenue and Sixty-fifth street.

SEIZURE OF ORANGES.

Trainload of Fruit From California Detained by Federal Authorities in Chicago.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—A trainload of California oranges was seized by United States deputy marshals in the Proviso, (Ill.) frieght yards, today, because of alleged violations of the pure food and drugs act. United States District Attorney Wilkerson filed suit in the Federal district court here, alleging that the oranges had been artifically stained and colored to conceal inferiority. Five of the cars were shipped by the Lindsay (Cal.) fruit association to branches in several eastern cities.

The sixth car in the train was billed from the Central California Citrus Exchange of Lindsay, Cal., to the California Fruit Growers Association of Toledo, O.

Six suits were filed by the District Attorney. Each suit caused the confiscation of a car. The shipment was made over the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Dr. William T. Kirby Confesses How He Wrecked Savings Institution of Which He Was President.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]
CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 13.—[Special Dispatch.] Dr. William T. Kirby confessed today he wrecked the Kirby Savings Bank, of which he was the president, after his wife had defied the United States Court and refused to tell what she had done with $20,000 of the bank's funds on the eve of the crash.

"I played the races," Kirby said, "and I lost."

"'Wire-tappers' or confidence men got his money," said Attorney Thomas B. Lantry.

ORIENTAL TRUST.

Japanese and Chinese Growers Seek to Control Certain Vegetables Throughout the Entire West.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
STOCKTON, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chinese and Japanese growers, who are now farming about 55,000 acres in the San Joaquin delta region, have banded together under the name of the Chinese Agricultural Association of Stockton to control the potato, bean and onion markets in the West and to reduce the cost of production to the lowest possible figure.

Yep Woo, a local Chinese merchant farmer, originated the plan of the organization and worked out details after interviewing the Chinese and Japanese consuls and San Francisco commission men.

The association will have selling agents in the eastern markets, and will have buying agents who will purchase in large quantities for all of the members of the association, making a material saving in the cost of seed, bags, implements and stock feed. All land farmed by association members will be rented by the association and competitive bidding for land and consequent high prices will thus be avoided.

FATE OF BRITISH CABINET TO BE DECIDED IN VIENNA.

Double Thirteen and Prediction of Palmist Play Part in Keeping Premier Asquith from Meeting of Ministry That Considers French Proposition for Peace, So It Is Reported—War Party Seeks to Gain Control.

BY PAUL LAMBETH.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE, BY WIRELESS OVERLAND TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The European war scare, and radical defections, are sapping the life's blood of the Asquith administration. It is no secret at Westminster Hall or in Fleet street, that only a timely backdown by Austria can save the Liberal Ministry which has ruled England for six years.

A very little thing may dislocate a great machine. A powerful mind may be swayed by an "old woman's superstition." Today is the thirteenth of the month and the Cabinet met to consider the thirteenth "alternative" suggested by Poincaire in the Frenchman's long-continued effort for peace. Premier Asquith was not present. The absence of the Prime Minister from a conclave of such critical importance was officially ascribed to indisposition. It is true that Asquith's health has continued delicate since his return from Italy, where he went during the recess to recuperate; but this explanation was not generally credited. Instead, it was said that Mrs. Asquith, (the Margot Tennant of other and livelier years) had noted the unlucky thirteen" and warned her husband not to risk a political catastrophe by defying superstition. At a recent society seance, the Prime Minister was urged by a woman-palmist to beware of the letter S. Those who heard the story coupled the initial with the name of a well-known titled intriguante, who sometimes dips professionally into diplomacy. Now they are saying it refers to Servia.

NEW COALITION.

The recent adverse vote in the House on the war was not an accident, as some of the ministerial ministers would like the country to believe. The imperialistic labor-Irish coalition has met the fate of all such coalitions after surviving much longer than was expected by any one six years ago, and now they are talking of a new coalition to step into his shoes. Winston Churchill, the Clarence of Pendulum politics, is credited with being the active leader of the new movement, though it is a mistake to call it new. The radical insurance and land reform programme of Chancellor Lloyd George, the quarrel with the labor party, which has remained acute since the loss of Midlothian, England's old belief that the Tories alone know how to make war; these and other lesser causes of friction, call for a change of ministry. The international developments of the last thirty-six hours insist that it shall be a Cabinet of strong militant men—a war ministry, taking its tone from the precedents of Pitt and Palmerston. This Cabinet is not to be formed from the front opposition bench. The war party behind it cannot be formed from the ruck and remnants of the once-swarming stalwarts of Salisbury and the "unholy alliance" of 1886. The time and the opportunity call for a new combination.

WAR CABINET.

Communications are known to be passing between the imperialist leaders allied with the administration on the one hand, and the opposition on the other. The result of this flirtation depends only upon what passes between Vienna, Belgrade, Berlin and St. Petersburgh. If the answer to the question now inflaming all Europe should be "war," the communication will crystallize into action. And the present Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, will assuredly head the war Cabinet.

Unionists in Riot.

make business in the House impossible unless the Prime Minister accepts the amendments or drops the home-rule bill. They declare that his action is unprecedented and will be obstructed by unprecedented measures. Their object is to force the government to resign.

The uproar far exceeded that which stifled Premier Asquith's speech when he introduced the home-rule bill, and has not been equalled since the free fight over Gladstone's first home-rule measure.

"TRAITORS" AND "APES."

Sir William Bull, Unionist for Hammersmith, was ordered from the floor for repeatedly calling Mr. Asquith a "traitor."

After adjournment the Unionists doubled programmes and threw them across the floor at the Prime Minister. Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, was hit with a heavy book hurled from the camp of the enemy. A fight appeared imminent, until Will Crooks, the labor leader, poured oil on the troubled waters by starting the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

When the session began there were packed benches. The Premier's followers gave him a great chorus on his entrance and demonstrated that they were present in force by defeating a motion to adjourn by a vote of 327 to 218.

ASQUITH'S MOTION.

The substance of Mr. Asquith's motion was that the Banbury amendment be rescinded "notwithstanding anything in any standing order of this House," and that the order of the House in respect to the home-rule bill take effect as though Monday's proceedings had not taken place.

The effect of this virtually would be to begin again the consideration of the bill at the clause where the Banbury amendment was offered.

Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, inquired whether there was any precedent for the government's course, and whether it would not destroy all safeguards for regularity in the House proceedings. Amid loud opposition cheering, the Speaker replied that he could find no precedent for rescinding a decision of the House arrived at during the passage of a bill. Whether it would destroy the safeguards was a matter on which every member must form his own judgment.

There was a long Parliamentary discussion and then Mr. Asquith said that no notice had been given of the amendment offered by Sir Frederick Banbury and that its discussion was brief. He doubted if the members on either side had appreciated its importance. It would reduce the $38,000,000 which it was proposed to transfer to the Irish government to $12,500,000.

MONDAY'S DECISION.

"If the decision reached Monday," said the Premier, "on reconsideration is found to be the deliberate judgment of the House it would be impossible for the government to proceed with the bill. There are two reasons for this. In the first place, a mortal blow would have been struck at the financial arrangements of the bill. Finally I hold that a bill passing this House should receive upon all substantial and vital points the assent of the majority of the House."

Mr. Asquith proceeded to point out that last week they had a majority of 121 on a question similar to that raised by Sir Frederick Banbury. He argued that there were precedents for the course proposed.

Bonar Law replied that the established rule of the House was a decision once on a resolution. The government's proposal, he declared, was an affront to the House.

CRAIG'S STATEMENT.

Capt. Craig, Unionist for East Down, said:

"The government's supporters are here under monstrous and degrading circumstances. A change in the government under the present international conditions—if that is the ground for the government clinging to office—will have the whole-hearted support of the Unionist party."

He then moved adjournment, which was defeated, 327 to 218.

Then the storm broke. Sir Frederick Banbury moved that a decision reached could not be reversed at the same session.

"The only honorable alternatives before the government," he said, "are resignation or dissolution. All the respect with which the members of the minority are treated is to have the members of the Cabinet sitting opposite them grinning like apes. The government is only a circus led only by rebels. The best thing the Ulster members can do is to go home and make preparations to resist home rule."

Louis Harcourt, Secretary of State for the colonies, attempted to speak. He was on his feet for several minutes. Every sentence was drowned by Unionist shouts and derisive cries for Lloyd George. He finally took his seat.

The Attorney-General, Sir Rufus Isaacs, had the same experience.

The speaker finally adjourned the House for one hour. Immediately it reconvened, Sir Rufus Isaacs was on his feet amid shouts of "Adjourn."

ADJOURNMENT.

The speaker repeatedly appealed for order and at length declared:

"I rule that a scene of grave disorder has arisen, and I adjourn the House until tomorrow."

A yell of victory burst from the Unionists. The members of the Cabinet clustered on their side of the clerk's table. No one moved to leave the house.

On the Unionist side was a seething mob. An arm was raised and a document flew across the floor. It struck the Prime Minister on the shoulder. A shower of other papers fell among the group of Ministers.

Mr. Asquith, white and indignant, faced the attack with folded arms. The air was thick with papers and hats. At length the Prime Minister stalked to the door, greeted with yells of defiance and approval. Suddenly the Unionist member, Ronald McNeill, rushed to the clerk's table and seized a heavy volume. He hurled it at the First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. Churchill, whom it struck full on the chest. There was an ugly rush from the Liberal benches, but cooler heads held back their colleagues.

For a moment a battle of fists seemed imminent. The peace-making voice of Will Crooks was raised in song, "Should old acquaintance be forgot?" Others took up the refrain and gradually flowed into the lobbies.

At a Cabinet meeting later it was determined to adhere to the programme.

THE SCHRANK CASE.

Alienists to Determine Fate of Man Who Tried to Kill Former President Roosevelt.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Nov. 13.—Alienists examining into the condition of John Schrank, who pleaded guilty to attempting to murder Theodore Roosevelt, continuing their inquisition today, expected to be able to say tomorrow when they would complete their work and when they would report to the court. On their findings Municipal Judge A. C. Backus will base his disposition of Schrank.

The court has announced he will receive from his commissioners the report and then will name a day when the former President's assailant will be sent either to the State prison at Waupun or the northern hospital for the insane, near Oshkosh, Wis. Final court action is looked for Friday or Saturday.

Moderator Richard Dewey of the Sanity Commission has ordered secret sessions and only the defendant, his attorney, the witnesses and a representative of Dist.-Atty. Zabel will be admitted.

WIDOW VICTIM OF UNION HATE.

Unwittingly Hires Painter Who Has No Card.

Asphaltum Daubed on House by Night Riders.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An Austin woman, who unknowingly employed non-union help to paint her house, awoke this morning to find it daubed with black, irremovable paint.

The daubing, it is thought, was the work of labor-union rogues, who took this means of protesting against non-union labor. The paint is a sort of asphaltum and cannot be painted over or washed away. It must be burned out with a torch.

The residence thus despoiled is owned by Mrs. Frances A. Horton, a widow, who resides there with her two daughters, and who has a hard struggle to make a living.

"I never thought to ask whether the man was union or not," said Mrs. Horton today. "I made a contract for the work through my son-in-law. I don't know much about union troubles.

ASKED TO SHOW CARD.

"Several days ago the painter was questioned by a tall, khaki-clad man who rode up on a motorcycle and asked to see his union card. The painter had none and the man went away angry. That's the first intimation we had of any trouble. Union plumbers working in our house said nothing about the painter being a non-union man.

"Last night we were told an automobile was seen standing in front of our house and three men were noticed riding away in it. We heard our dog barking furiously, but paid no attention to it.

"The damage is about $500, we judge, as we will have to have all this black paint taken off windows and porch and pillars and pickets. It must be burned out and then repainted."

SCARED AWAY BY DOG.

The paint was evidently thrown on with a cup, the front porch and the sides of the house receiving the most of the black paint. The cup with which the daubing was administered and a can containing some of the mixture were found near the back of the house. It is thought that the dog scared the vandals away before they had quite satisfied themselves.

Mrs. Horton did not notify the police, as she feared more trouble, and believed that it would do no good to report the matter.

VICTIM OF PICKETS.

Bingham Miner, Shot by Strike Sympathizers Three Weeks Ago, Yields up His Life.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 13.—Angelo Pespas, whose American name was Harry Spindon, died today from a wound inflicted October 25 by strike sympathizers, who fired across the canyon at Bingham at a party of men going to work at the United States mine. Two other men wounded in the outbreak have recovered. The crime was charged to strike pickets and several suspects have been arrested.

LABOR LAW VOID.

Oregon's Eight-hour Statute, Adopted by the Initiative Method, Has No Enacting Clause.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because the words, "Be it enacted by the people of the State of Oregon," are not printed on the original of the eight-hour law passed under initiative last week by the voters of the State, it is practically certain the statute will be declared invalid.

The Supreme Courts of a majority of the States of the Union hold that a bill without an enacting clause is void. A search through the records this morning revealed the fact that the recently-enacted measure cannot be enforced. In going over the pamphlet containing a copy of all measures referred to the people for decision at the last election, a Portland attorney today discovered that the eight-hour bill had no enacting clause.

A search was at once instituted as to what could be the result in this State of such a measure. Various digests revealed the fact that in a majority of States, where such a case had been brought up for judicial decision, the verdict of the judges had been that the measure without an enacting clause is null and void. An appeal to Atty.-Gen. Crawford made today brought forth an opinion that the measure cannot stand the test of the courts.

IDENTIFIED AS DAUGHTER OF A PASADENA WOMAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FT. SMITH (Ark.) Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The body of the woman who committed suicide in the Allred Hotel, a fashionable hostelry at Eureka Springs, a health resort, last Friday night was today identified as that of Mrs. Josephine Bidell of Pasadena.

Her mother, Mrs. W. C. Douglas of Pasadena, telegraphed the authorities at Eureka Springs today to hold the body for further instructions.

The woman blew off the top of her head with a revolver, which was found clutched in her right hand when the body was discovered the following morning. Among her effects was a card, on one side of which was the name of Christina Josephine Bidell. The card stated she was baptized December 2, 1903, and that she took first communion from Rev. G. Montgomery at Los Angeles. The card resulted in the identification.

Mrs. Bidell registered at the hotel two days prior to her suicide. She gave the name as Mrs J. Stillman and gave Joplin, Mo., as her home. An unsigned note was found on a table in the room addressed to "A. B. S." It read:

"Dearie: I am trying to think what to do, but my head will not work. I don't know, I don't know. I have not slept for days. If I could, perhaps my head would clear. I can't understand what has happened."

Actress Pleads Poverty as Excuse for Her Act.

Arizonan Kills Four Men, Including Himself.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because she sent pictures through the mails which were designed to attract the eye of theatrical managers to her physical fitness as a swimming and diving girl for the vaudeville stage, Miss Mabel Spencer, an attractive actress, was today sentenced by Judge Dehaven in the District Court to pay a fine of $100 and to serve in addition thirty days in the Alameda County Jail.

The pictures number a half dozen. They show the swimming girl in various poses, such as are commonly posted on advertising boards, the one striking difference being the complete lack of garments.

PLEADS POVERTY.

In explanation the show girl said she was totally without funds and needed employment and had not the $6 needed to buy a pair of trunks, so had her photographs taken in the "altogether."

The girl neglected properly to seal the envelope and while going through the process of sorting and stamping the seal finally burst open and the tightless photographs slid to view and shocked postal officials.

Three Men Killed, One Dying and Another Seriously Wounded by a Clifton Citizen.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLIFTON (Ariz.) Nov. 13.—Franklin B. Dorr, a well-known newspaper man and lawyer, was shot and instantly killed; John Barrone, a saloonkeeper, was so badly wounded that he died soon after, and two Mexicans were shot, one fatally, by William Allender last night. Allender then barricaded himself in his carpenter shop, which was surrounded by officers and citizens, and when he saw that escape was impossible, he blew off the top of his head with a revolver.

The shooting occurred late last night in front of a moving-picture theater, which was recently purchased by Dorr, who moved here from Bisbee, after severing his law partnership with United States Attorney J. E. Morrison. Dorr and his wife were leaving the theater when Allender, one of the former owners of the theater, approached with a double-barreled shotgun and began shooting. Dorr fell dead at the first shot and the second charge pierced the heart of Barrone.

Reloading his gun, Allender retreated to his carpenter shop, in which he took refuge after a parting shot into the crowd, which found a lodging in the two Mexicans.

For nearly an hour deputies and armed citizens besieged the shop, firing many shots into the building in order to force Allender to emerge. During the shooting Allender was wounded several times. Before committing suicide Allender wrote a note on an insurance policy.

The shooting was the result of financial differences between Allender and Dorr, over the purchase of the theater.

Dorr was 46 years old, and a native of Wisconsin. He founded the Douglas Daily Dispatch eleven years ago and when he retired from the newspaper business several years ago, he entered into a law partnership at Bisbee with Attorney Morrison. He was married a year ago to Miss Hamburg, daughter of a prominent mine operator of Bisbee.

Judge Refuses to Reduce Amount of Jack Johnson's Bail—New Surety Is Rejected.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Another attempt to procure the release of Jack Johnson, the pugilist, from jail failed today. Federal Judge Carpenter denied a motion to reduce the $30,000 bond under which the negro is held on a charge of violating the Mann act. W. G. Anderson, Johnson's counsel, then said he would offer new securities later.

Johnson's attorneys offered late today as bondsman a property holder who could qualify for $60,000. On learning that the proffered bondsman was to be indemnified and paid for acting he was refused.

"The government will fight any attempt to give an indemnity bond for the defendant," Dist.-Atty. Wilkerson said.

Minister Held at Topeka for Murder of His Wife Explains He Merely Tried to Silence Her.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Nov. 13.—[Special Dispatch.] After the Rev. W. L. Beers of Wakarush had been formally charged with murdering his wife today he told a new story of the tragedy.

"She was talking loud," he said, "and when I put my fingers in her mouth to silence her she struggled and her false teeth were forced down her throat."

Beers quarreled with his wife three months ago over their three children and had come here to effect a reconciliation. The couple were in a hotel when the tragedy occurred.

IN SUPREME COURT.

JOHNSON'S CASE APPEALED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—No reason exists, according to a brief filed today on behalf of the government by Solicitor-General Bullitt, why Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist confined in jail in Chicago on a charge of violating the Mann act, should be admitted to bail by the Supreme Court of the United States. The Solicitor-General pointed out that while violations of the act are punishable by five years' imprisonment or $500 fine, or both, they are not extraditable.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Nov. 13.—A robbery of jewelry worth $60,000 from a shop on the Place de l'Opera in the center of Paris in broad daylight today has caused a sensation.

The thief crept through a temporary partition connecting the shop with an adjoining building in process of reconstruction and made off with the jewels without being noticed, although several salesmen were on duty behind the counters.

RENO, Nev. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Darwin Moone, described as a Los Angeles real estate man, whose wife and family are in Bellingham, Wash., died in a Tonopah saloon under strange circumstances, today.

Moone had been around the day before and drinking heavily. He dropped to the floor of the saloon and a physician was sent for. Drastic measures were taken to revive him and suddenly he expired.

Note the large amount of residential development under way—100 substantial homes are now being completed and are for sale on easy terms.

Torrance is divided into a business district, a residence district, an industrial district, unclassified district and special quarters for foreigners.

A large amount of property has been reserved for the benefit of the people who will be employed in the various industries.

Now I am better and I tell everyone how it helped me."—Mrs. Ila Benjamin, Woodhull, N. Y.

Great rush of sales causes subdiving of last big ranch

VAN NUYS-LANKERSHIM LANDS

In the heart of this great valley property, lying right at the door of Los Angeles, are the fertile Marian Acres.

The richest of the entire lands, this ranch was reserved from sale to be placed on the market when the vast improvements were entirely completed. The demand was enormous. Men wanted country estates, fruit and walnut orchards close to Los Angeles. We had to subdivide this last big ranch and place it on the market.

HERE IT IS!

The newest subdivision
in 2½, 5 and 10-acre tracts.

The cream of the entire Van Nuys-Lankershim lands.

Do not delay—Do not overlook this ripe opportunity for investment or for country estate. Water is piped. The soil is deep, rich and subirrigated, producing great crops without irrigation. The largest crop in the history of the valley is now being harvested on these lands.

Through the center runs the magnificent half-million-dollar boulevard soon to be lighted its entire length.

Think of owning a splendid country home, adjoining this boulevard and right in line of wonderful improvements.

Now's your opportunity, this new ranch, this fertile suburban land.

FOR SALE — 200 OJAI VALLEY PETROLeum Co. at $5 per share. Company selling for $50 and $60 per share. The company is now in better condition than ever before. Is paid dividends up to the development of the last six wells and they thought it wisest policy to put all surplus moneys into development. It now has 16 producing wells of its own and gets the royalty from four producing wells of its leased property, excepting one-sixth royalty. Also owns lease on 160 acres of oil land in Ojai Valley, Ventura county, on which there are three producing wells. The company owes no debts and the board of directors own the majority of the stock of the company. It is sold 15,000 barrels of oil some time ago, and making frequent shipments during current months. Officers and directors of this company are representative men of both financial and social life of this city. I have cut the price on this stock 25 per share. My client is a small holder of stock in this company and cannot stay with the large holders for the great future of this company. He must have money or sell, so he must sacrifice. If you have the money to buy his stock and know a bargain and investment when you see it, take advantage of this. Will buy it for you.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

For Pure Air.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have read with much interest all that has been said lately in regard to smoking on street cars and I cannot see where the smoker has any argument whatever—to deny him his smoke for the few minutes he is on a car, would do him no harm, but would actually be of benefit to him—the public are entitled to pure air at any and all times and if a man must smoke let him do it where he will not interfere with others. Most people do not like to ride on the inside of a car, but prefer to be on the open ends where they can get a better circulation of air—it is a mistake to think that women are the only ones opposed to smoking on cars.

Lummis on Seeing.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—[To the Editor of the Times:] Here's looking at the world! And particularly at them I love—and I don't care who knows it!

After fifteen months of total blindness, I begin to see again; not much, but a darned sight better than nothing. And I intend to get all my eyes back, in time. The friendly bandage still tempers the sunlight, but I can now peep from under. "Old Son" Quimu has led me by the hand faithfully and well, all this time; but now I can find my own way. The dark is another world, and I had fun exploring it. I was never lonely in that long night—for memory and friendship had hung my attic with pictures of gold—but the glory of the dawn!

Hooray for the man that invented "Things to See With"—and God that gave us love and nerve!

CHARLES F. LUMMIS.

The Citrus Tariff.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] For months, imbecile politicians, calling themselves Progressive Republicans, have been shouting gleefully, that they had killed the Republican party (who's sin was that it always stood for protective tariff.) Now those same great statesmen have discovered that our citrus fruit business is in peril because the Democratic party is a Progressive party, as heartily in favor of reducing the tariff as those wise Progressive Republicans. Should the Democratic party remove the tariff from citrus fruits and the price of citrus fruit lands drop from $2000 to $200 per acre, bankrupting many of our Southern California citizens, those who voted the steadling Bull Moose tickets still think their leaders were gods.

REPUBLICAN.

As to Pure Air and Smoke.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I note with interest a letter in your journal on the subject of smoking in the cars, signed by B. F. Hilliker. That writer wishes smoking on the cars to be prohibited, and his reasons no doubt commend themselves to many of your readers. He is a non-smoker and says the smell of tobacco smoke is not less disagreeable to him than "the smell of a skunk." That is personal. His general reason is that "the man at your elbow is puffing away at a cigarette or a plug tobacco pipe, squarely into your face after he has drawn the smoke into his lungs and sends it out through his catarrhal nostrils."

Now a non-smoker myself, I thoroughly agree with the writer in question as to the use of tobacco because of its effects on the user. But I am constrained to disagree with him as to the effect of tobacco smoke on the bystander. I take his own words quoted above to refute his logic. If you sit by a non-smoker he puffs into your face the air which he has breathed into his lungs and contaminated there as well as in his "catarrhal nostrils."

Tobacco smoke is one of the best disinfectants known, and will kill microbes almost as fast as cyanide gas. The smell of the tobacco smoke may be disagreeable, but I always console myself with the reflection that there are no "bugs" in the breath of the smoker.

N. Q. SMOKER.

"Let the Women Walt."

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It is unthinkable that representative women of Los Angeles will stand against efforts to place our city in line with other great cities of our country in the matter of regulation of smoking on its street cars. Let the women wait until the Board of Public Utilities has made a full report of conditions found in other cities.

POOR RICHARD.

Men's Feet as Mops.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have read so much that has been written of the annoyance of men smoking on street cars; but for myself I do not mind the smoke half so much as having my clothes used as a mop by the dirty feet of nine out of ten men sitting with legs crossed inside cars, or in front seat on front end, which we are obliged to pass on leaving the car. I have entered a car with a perfectly clean, white or light suit on, and on leaving find the skirt streaked with tar, oil or dirt from feet of men inside the car. I have noticed, if one glances down at the foot, the owner as a rule will move around a little, but as for sitting with both feet on the car floor that seems impossible.

MRS. NEIL R. COLGAN.
No. 639 Grand avenue.

And the Spitting!

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It is well that there is some prospect of smoking ceasing on the street cars at least. It is high time. People who have contracted that silly, selfish, boorish habit should not force the offensive results of it on others in the vehicles all must use. Just because it is common the outrageous insolence of puffing smoke in his neighbor's face is forgotten by the smoker. The everlasting spitting that goes with the habit is a disgusting thing. A normal person does not spit the whole day long. It is "amusing" to notice smpkers on the cars; one who refrains from endless spitting is the rarest exception. Fifty expectorations during a twenty-minute trip is the average record. A nice, gentlemanly habit, isn't it? It is strange that anyone will so befoul himself, but everywhere the filthy traces abound. Our beautiful suburban trips are ruined by it. As a substitute for the pure fresh air that is their chief delight we are given an atmosphere of tobacco smoke. We pay the same fare as the smoker; we annoy no one; we ask for no privileges at anyone's expense; but they have assumed a special privilege in indulging a depraved, unnatural habit to the discomfort of everyone else. It is essentially a boorish habit; one who indulges in it must necessarily lack consideration for the rights and comforts of others. Like every other evil thing nowadays, it is commercialized, and every means is used to encourage the extension of a habit that, if left to itself, would perhaps die out. Certainly the child was never yet born with a taste for tobacco. That has to be laboriously acquired.

MINERS FEAR NEW LAW.

Believe Enforcing of New Regulations Will Interfere With Progress of Mining Industry.

BANNING, Nov. 13.—Mining men of the Banning district are fearful lest the recently-enacted mining regulations of Uncle Sam will prove a setback to the mining business in Southern California. Advices of the framing of important rulings tending to make more stringent the laws governing mineral locations have been received from Washington. It is understood that these regulations were drawn up to prevent wild-cat mining.

It is believed by legitimate prospectors, however, that the regulations will have the effect of hindering development of mining properties. They claim the enforcement of these regulations will mark the passing of the prospector. At present the prospector need only lay claim to property where surface indications show ore in paying quantities.

Prospecting in the Colorado desert east of Banning has ever been expensive, and the followers of that profession have been able to realize on the investment only by turning the properties over to capitalists who were willing to take the risk of finding a worthless hole in the ground instead of paying ore. Some mines were developed, while in other cases they were failures. Under the new law it is believed that prospecting on a paying basis will not be possible.

EXIT BLONDE BURGLAR GIRL.

NEW CHAPTER IN PICTURESQUE CAREER A THRILLER.

Girl Who Long Thwarted Police in Motorcycle Thefts and Threatened to Dive to Death from Roof Takes French Leave of Whittier State School.

Escaping from the Whittier State School at an early hour yesterday morning, Olga Newberg, 16 years old, the "blonde burglar" who several months ago held a squad of police at bay by threatening to dive to death from a roof at Pico and Catalina streets, has added another exciting chapter to her picturesque career. Mamie Brown, another inmate, escaped with her.

Working on a tandem motorcycle with a male confederate, who has evaded capture, an attractive girl with an abundance of blonde hair, Olga Newberg is one of the most interesting studies local criminologists have observed.

At the time of her arrest Olga Newberg fenced with University Station patrolmen that her confederate might have time to make good his escape. "He will never go back on me," she asserted. It is believed her confidence was not misplaced and that her escape is the result of connivance from the outside by the motorcycle burglar.

Olga was in her room with Mamie Brown when lights were extinguished Tuesday night. At roll call yesterday the pair was missing. Olga's method of escape is as baffling as her character to scientific students, or her male accomplice's cunning. Other inmates of the school fail to throw any light on the escape and no clews were left by the girls themselves.

Methods pursued by the "blonde burglar" and her pal in their motorcycle raid on residences were ingenious. Assisting the apparently-exhausted "blonde burglar" from the motorcycle the male confederate would seek aid at the residence selected for the robbery.

"My sister is ill; may she rest here while I seek a physician?" the confederate would ask, supporting the girl. In case a telephone was known to be in the house, "May she rest here while I ride to a drug store for restoratives?"

Naturally, the girl was in each instance made welcome. Her escort would mount his machine and ride around the corner, where he would await Olga's reappearance.

If left alone for even a few minutes, Olga would spring from the couch or chair in which she had reclined, hastily loot the room of valuables, disappear through a window, or make a hurried excuse to sympathizers and depart. As a rule she was given rest in a bedroom where jewelry or other small but costly articles lay loose on dressers. Many cases were reported to the police.

Finally, at the Pico-and-Catalina-street house the girl was detected in a robbery. Rushing to the roof she barricaded herself there. Police were summoned. When they arrived the girl was silhouetted against the sky.

"Come down or I'll come up," called a patrolman.

"Come up, and I'll dive headfirst off this roof and kill myself," returned the girl.

Finally captured, she was later committed to the Whittier State School.

KING'S DAUGHTERS CONVENTION

The fifth annual convention of the Southern California branch of the King's Daughters, was held yesterday at the Y.W.C.A. auditorium. An address of welcome was made by Mrs. M. J. Hole, president of the Y.W.C.A., and Mrs. C. M. Carter, responded on behalf of the King's Daughters. Mrs. Morton F. Mason, secretary of the Southern California circles, presided. Reports were made by Mrs. Jennie Wild, recording secretary, and Mrs. Park B. Swartzel, treasurer. Mrs. Helen A. Birdsall, a charter member of the first circle formed in this city more than twenty years ago, of which the late Mrs. Eliza A. Otis was president, spoke interestingly of the early days.

FOR WALKOUT OF BUILDERS.

McCarthy Here Today to Stir Up General Strike.

Good Jobs to Be Sacrificed to Glorify "Card."

Unions Claim Thousands in Benefit Funds.

With the avowed purpose of stirring up a general strike of the local building trades unions, P. H. McCarthy, former Mayor of San Francisco, is expected to reach Los Angeles today.

After a conference with the local labor union leaders, he will speak at a meeting to be held in the Labor Temple tonight. He has already indicated his purpose in coming here, in San Francisco papers. He proposes to tell how things are done in his city and put through plans for obtaining similar results here.

Between $2000 and $3000 has been received here to start things. The international unions of carpenters, plasterers, bricklayers, plumbers, marble setters and others will contribute to a strike benefit fund, it is reported by local unionite bosses.

No time has been set for the contemplated strike, but an effort is to be made to engineer it in the early spring. Winter is regarded as an inopportune time, because of the tremendous influx of unemployed men, who could be utilized by the employers.

McCarthy has been in Bakersfield doing "missionary" work there. After visiting here, he proposes to go to San Diego to look over the situation there, from the standpoint of union labor.

There is no dissatisfaction here on the ground of pay or hours. The members of the building trades are satisfied for many reasons, but if the strike order issues from the main offices in Chicago, Indianapolis and San Francisco, the men are expected to walk out.

But in open meeting, the Los Angeles unionites have taken the stand that they will not obey the ukase of the union labor bosses unless there is a good sum in the treasury to pay strike benefits. This will be arranged, according to McCarthy, when Tveitmoe and others of his allies get away from Indianapolis, where they are now on trial charged with conspiring against the government and illegally transporting dynamite from one city to another.

Tveitmoe is secretary-treasurer of the State Building Trades Council and the ex-convict is regarded as one of the best organizers and unionite leaders in the West. Even if convicted in the United States District Court at Indianapolis, Tveitmoe and the other defendants will undoubtedly appeal. This will give them time enough to look after their Los Angeles "interests."

ELECTRICITY FREE?

Hairdresser Uses Current Eight Years Without the Collector Calling; Objects to Paying Now.

It must be something of a shock to light one's home and carry on the business of a hairdressing establishment using electric current extravagantly for eight years without a collector for the company ever putting in an appearance, and then suddenly be asked to pay $257 for the electricity used. That is what happened to Mrs. Annie McDonald, No. 829 West Seventh street, who appeared as defendant yesterday in Justice Reeve's court.

Little real sense could be gleaned by the ordinary layman from the mass of testimony redolent with technical terminology. Ohms, amperes, watts, kilowatts and resistance coils were hurled at the court, who, being absolutely defenseless, perforce listened. A little light was thrown on the subject when the respective attorneys told the court that the defendant had used electricity eight years without paying for it. This was admitted by Mrs. McDonald, who maintained, however, that she understood her landlord was to pay the electric-current bill. The Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company, the plaintiff in the action, contended that a "flat connection" had been made behind a meter and the current fraudulently used without the knowledge of the company. The case was taken under advisement.

—AND AMBITIONS DIE.

Country Girl from Texas Feels Lure of Operatic Fame and Lands at Police Station.

Prescilla Biggers, a country girl from Texas, who thinks she must know all human emotions before she can become an operatic star, had another new experience last night—she was placed under arrest. Her instructor, Sgr. Giovanni Carvadossi, first tenor in St. Vibiana's Cathedral, who advised her, she asserts, she could never reach the greatness in music that she was capable of until she knew more of life, was also arrested charged with contributing to the girl's delinquency.

Prescilla says she is 17 years old, came to Los Angeles from Texas as a housemaid, cherished ambitions to become one of the great vocalists of opera, and about a month ago visited Sgr. Carvadossi at his studio, No. 935 West Twenty-fifth street, to have her voice trained.

"The test was made and Sgr. Carvadossi told me," she says, "I could become one of the greatest of singers, but my voice was too young, I had not suffered enough, had not loved and wept, and didn't know enough about life.

"So the signor took me into his studio with the understanding that I was to keep it tidy and was to receive $10 a month and singing lessons in return. Also I would be under the personal guidance of the great Carvadossi, whom I thought one of the greatest singers in the world."

October 8 she started her evolution from housemaid to prima donna. But the teacher insisted that in order to be able to sing she must plumb all human sensations, she says. He loaned her his diamonds to wear, talked of placing his bank account in San Francisco to her credit, introduced her, it is asserted, to several persons as his wife. And 17-year-old Prescilla, but five months from a Texas ranch, thought she was but a few steps from the grand opera stage.

The police were notified of her career yesterday and the arrests followed. The girl says she is going back to Texas and give up her career.

ARCANUM REGENT COMING.

F. T. McFaden of Richmond, Supreme Regent of the Royal Arcanum, who is now making a tour of the West in the interests of the order, will arrive in Los Angeles today and will remain here until the first of next week, a guest at the Hotel Lankershim. There will be a reception in his honor at Pasadena Saturday evening and Monday evening he will be entertained at a joint meeting of the several Los Angeles Royal Arcanum councils. Monday, accompanied by Mrs. McFaden and several grand officers, he will enjoy an automobile ride through the county.

Lumberman Called.

DEATH'S SAD MESSAGE COMES FROM PANAMA.

LEAVING her husband, Marshall H. Wells, wealthy lumberman, brother-in-law of F. W. Blanchard, well and hearty in Panama a month ago, Mrs. Marshall H. Wells returned to Los Angeles, to be followed yesterday by cablegrams notifying her of his death in the United States Military Hospital at Ancon. He was a victim of malaria. Prostrated from shock, Mrs. Wells is in care of the Blanchard family at their residence, No. 1324 Crown Hill avenue.

More than a score of cablegrams were received at the Blanchard residence yesterday from friends and business concerns of Panama, among them the Panama Banking Company, bringing news and confirmation of Marshall Wells's sudden death earlier in the day.

The widow will not be sufficiently recovered from the effects of the tragic report to go to Panama before arrangements are completed there by friends, for shipment of the body to the North. She will, however, go East as soon as possible to prepare for interment of the remains in the Wells family plat at Mt. Vernon, Me., according to relatives' statements last night. F. W. Blanchard, her brother, or other members of the family, may accompany her. Wells leaves no relatives in the East.

Marshall Wells was 62 years of age, was one of the best-known railroad lumbermen in the country up to five years ago, when he became interested in Panama lumber and resigned his position as general lumber agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to devote all his time to his interests on the Isthmus. For the past year and a half he had personally been supervising work on the Bayona River Lumber Company's 25,000,000 tract. He was one of the principal stockholders in the company, which owns 115,000 acres of mahogany timber in Panama.

Wells was planning for a boom in Panama lumber on the opening of the canal, and figured on supplying most of the railroads here with carbuilding material from the Bayona River tract. It is understood the company has been conserving most of its product and developing the growth.

For many years, Wells was located in Baltimore. He operated extensively in Arkansas lumber, selling to the railroads, and he was one of the most conspicuous figures in the lumber world of the South, having also had headquarters in Memphis, Tenn.

Wells was married twenty-five years ago. He leaves no children.

BOURBONS LICK EACH A THUMB.

Raid Imminent on Local Pie of Federal Plums.

Kirk, Humphreys and Simons for Postmaster.

Harris for Marshal; Norton for District Attorney.

Hundreds of Los Angeles Democratic vineyard workers are busy these days constructing nicely-jointed, tightly-glued, handsomely-embellished Federal jobs for themselves now that Armageddon has capitulated and Wilson has been elected President. The Bourbon job-hunters, 10,000, more or less, are going blithely about the work. They fairly radiate joy, for it's good-by to long, hard winters, and lean, lanky summers for at least four years. Their principal concern nowadays is getting next to a soft and comfortable seat at the administration pie counter.

The raid on the Federal plum-pie larder is on—you can't get away from it. Everywhere are bevies of Democratic Barkises, button-holing their friends, whispering sweet confidences and trailing lengthy petitions containing names of prominent citizens indorsing Mr. Job-Hunter for a snug government berth at several thousand per.

As there are less than fifteen fat Federal plums on the exempt list in this city, about 9985 unterrified pie-seekers are already doomed to bitter disappointment. Nearly all of the Federal jobs are nailed down with Hayesyized civil service nails and could not be unloosened with a regiment of derricks. Under the law it is possible for the new President to lift the ban, but as Wilson is an ardent advocate of civil service there is but little consolation from this source.

SLATE AND PENCIL.

Although the Federal patronage that will be at the disposal of Wilson when he becomes President is only a tithe of that in the power of Grover Cleveland, the last Democratic President, organization workers and leading Democrats in Los Angeles and California generally are figuring on the exempt places. Since Cleveland became President hundreds of places in Los Angeles have been put under the protection of civil service, assistant postmasters in first-class offices being among the latest to be added to the classified lists. It is estimated that there is a Federal patronage in this city worth something like $50,000 yearly. Although most of the heads of Federal offices are appointed by the President "with the consent and by the advice of the Senate," it is generally understood that such officers are removable at the will of the President and hold office only until the appointment of their successors.

Probably the most-coveted position here is the postmastership, now held by William H. Harrison. The salary is $6000 yearly. Harrison's commission expires March 1, 1914, and it is not likely that he will resign before that time. Every other employee of the postoffice from Assistant Postmaster Dishman down is protected by civil service.

FOR POSTMASTER.

Several leading Democrats are mentioned for the postmaster plum, notably William Humphreys of the Board of Public Works; Thomas H. Kirk, DODGING NOT ITS FORTE.

Heavy Truck Tries to Sidestep a Pedestrian, but Runs Over Her Instead—Bannister Lets Go.

Mrs. C. H. Cook of No. 325 East Thirty-seventh street sustained a lacerated left leg and a sprained left ankle yesterday when run over by a heavy truck near Third and Spring streets. When the driver saw that he had knocked Mrs. Cook down he turned the machine to one side in the hope of avoiding her. He would probably have succeeded had not the truck skidded.

Mrs. Anna Green, 49 years old, of No. 1310 West Temple street, sustained a sprained left ankle yesterday when she fell downstairs. The bannister over which she was leaning broke.

WOMAN DETECTIVE SUMMONED.

Miss Eula Hitchcock, Important Factor in McNamara Investigation, to Testify at Indianapolis.

Miss Eula Hitchcock, said to be the only woman detective who was employed on the McNamara investigation, leaves for Indianapolis tomorrow in response to a Federal subpoena which was served on her yesterday.

She is supposed to know certain moves made by Anton Johannsen, O. A. Tveitmoe and others when the hunt for the murderers of the twenty Times employees was getting too close for the comfort of the San Francisco unionite leaders.

She located Mrs. Caplan, wife of one of the men indicted for dynamiting and murder, and later investigated other phases of what is known as the "San Francisco end" of the far-reaching plot.

When Johannsen was keeping under cover to avoid being subpoenaed as a witness before the county grand jury Miss Hitchcock traced him to a certain saloon and thrust a subpoena in his hand before he knew who she was.

Thousands Pay Their Taxes But Not With Joy.

Odd Psychology Brought Out by Purse-Tapping.

Birth, death and taxes. And the greatest of these, at least about the time the frost nestles on the pumpkin, is taxes, as proved yesterday, today and until the 25th inst. in the emporium on the fifth floor of the Hall of Records building, conducted by County Tax Collector Welch, Chief Deputy Alfonso and a large corps of assistants. Two thousand persons called there yesterday and about $100,000 was taken in.

Here is the biggest collection agency on the happy side of the Great Divide and the most interesting school in psychology. The public does not pay its taxes gladly. The individual difference lies in the fact that some go to the operating-room less hopelessly than others. It's a great leveler, this collection bureau, and if there is one time above all others when the American citizen appreciates the liberty of free speech it is when he pays his taxes, wherefor all taxes are not paid in silence.

An indignant little woman found herself assessed $2.80 more than she paid last year, and she was laying down the law while the long line crept snail-like toward the cashier's window.

"It's nothing but robbery!" she said. "We are just paying all this money for a lot of men who spend their time thinking up new things to tax us for. You can't tell me the county is so poor it has to tax me $2.80. What's it for? My sister says, says she, it's to pay for the Panama Canal, but for my part I'd rather have my $2.80 than a hundred Panama canals."

THE SIX STAGES.

The average taxpayer endures six different emotions during the hour, more or less, that he spends in separating himself from his funds. These in their chronological order are confidence, uncertainty, perplexity, determination, horror and achievement. He enters the portals confident that the process of spending money must be simple, and soon over. "Got your description?" demands "Charlie" Rutledge, and the uncertain stage is reached.

Some of them act as if Rutledge, who is master of ceremonies, is trying to find out the whereabouts of the family skeleton, but usually the sprightly victim replies in effect: "Sure; I got a little place in Long Beach, or Watts, or Glendale. It's the third house from the right after you leave the car line."

That man's troubles cover him like a blanket. By the time he has emerged from the line at the "name window" he is deep in the third development; that of perplexity. Now he seeks Rutledge quite humbly, and is steered into another vortex, which finally lands him ker-bump against a window through which eventually he is handed a slip which bears a cabalistic numeral.

By this time the seeker's pride is aroused and determination gleams from the windows of his soul as he directs his course to another kind of a window bearing numerals corresponding to his slip. Here presently patience has its reward, and the happy citizen enters into possession of his tax bill. He studies it carefully, first in interest, and then with indignation. "Taxes is gone up again. Wonder if this here county thinks we're made of money? I'm going to sell every blamed thing I've got before next year. Rotten system. Why, back in Punxsutawney we just step up to the collector's office and ask him what we owe him, and that's all there is to it."

A MIGHTY MOB.

Six long lines of depressed humanity now confront the horror-stricken taxpayer. Six lines stretching away from six windows, and each line containing from twenty to fifty individuals, each individual grasping as though it were the last straw his Eddie's Purity Ordinance.

DOORS SHATTERED, TEN HALED INTO COURT.

THE so-called "rooming-house" ordinance, framed by Guy Eddie just before his arrest on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of Alice Phelps and passed by the City Council, is working overtime in the University district. Yesterday morning there were five cases in rapid succession before Police Judge Williams. In nearly all the offenders pleaded guilty and were fined.

This ordinance, the most drastic of its kind in the country, according to prosecuting officers, makes it a misdemeanor for a man and woman other than husband and wife to be found in a room under any circumstances. The ordinance does not provide for any evidence other than the mere fact that the couple were in the same room. The police magistrates say that if the ordinance is vigorously enforced scores of offenders will daily appear in the police courts for trial.

The University court is in a residence section where there are many handsome rooming-houses and apartments. Under the Eddie ordinance these apartments can be invaded by the police and doors leading to the rooms can be broken down without any prior warrant or complaint issued by a committing magistrate.

Curiously enough, though the ordinance gives absolute power to police officers to batter down doors and demand marriage certificates, there is no mention of private offices in it.

According to statements made by the members of the District Attorney's staff who will prosecute Eddie on the charge of contributing to the dependency of Mrs. Phelps, a minor, testimony will be introduced tending to show that Eddie asked his "secret service" girls to submit to familiarities from men in the rooming-houses while the members of the "purity squad" glued their eyes to the peepholes.

In Eddie's own case, his battery of lawyers will try to show that the four men who looked through auger holes in the City Prosecutor's door are not to be believed. Efforts will also be made to contradict assertions of a score of young women who will say under oath that Eddie insulted them when they went to his office on business.

The Eddie case was continued yesterday by Superior Judge Wilbur from the 21st inst. until December 5, the defense asking the additional time. One of the lawyers for the accused stated that more time is needed to get evidence from the East. It was also said that Rogers, chief counsel, is still in a sanatorium. This continuance was predicted when the Phelps case was set for trial with the statement that the defense would seek to gain more time in the hope that the prosecution would finally be dropped.

Bleak Prospect.

PLUMS WITHOUT SACCHARINE.

That's What Some County Jobs May Soon Be.

Grand Jury's Shaft Deals Blow at Perquisites.

Proposed Law Would Spoil Looks of Incomes.

If the next Legislature shall enact a law the county grand jury has asked Deputy District Attorney Hammon to draft, this enactment, coupled with provisions incorporated in the new county charter, will daprive the County Treasurer of more than $3000 a year as a perquisite for collecting the inheritance tax, cut $1200 a year from the income of the Recorder as local registrar of vital statistics under the State Board of Health, shear fees from the Sheriff's emolument estimated at from $7000 to $15,000 a year, take approximately $1000 from the earnings of each of the constables of the four township justice courts, deduct more than $7000 a year from the income of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and practically put some humane societies out of existence.

According to figures given yesterday by Treasurer Hunt, the sum that has fallen to his credit for collecting inheritance taxes during the past six years has been $19,350. This is computed on the collection of $1,507,466. The records do not show the intaking for each year, since the fiscal twelvemonth is variable and does not coincide with the calendar year; but the average is $3208 a year.

Hunt is awarded 3 per cent. of the first $50,000 collected, 1½ per cent. of the second like amount and ¾ of 1 per cent. of the balance. His salary is $5600 a year.

As local registrar under the State Board of Health, Recorder Logan has $100 a month added to the $300 given him by the county, making a total of $4800 a year. Out of his income as registrar he pays twenty-two subregistrars about the county. This statement of his compensation is taken from a communication sent by him to the Board of Freeholders during the framing of the charter.

County Clerk Lelande could not be found yesterday, but a deputy stated that his compensation over and above his salary of $3600, through commissions for issuing hunting licenses, would amount to more than $1000 a year, to which must be added his perquisite for the naturalization of aliens.

It has been popular talk during political campaigns that the Sheriff's office is "good for" $35,000 a year, in addition to the salary of $4000. The extras come largely from fees for the service of civil papers, at 15 cents a mile. Sheriff Hammel characterized these figures yesterday as preposterous.

"It may have been so in the good old days," he said, "but there's no truth in that now. You can estimate the value of the office liberally at $11,000 a year, including salary. The Sheriff must pay his own attorney, meaning a retainer of $50 a month, and is personally liable for false arrest or any other cause for damage suit. I have lost a couple of those suits, and know what I'm talking about."

Common talk about the Courthouse has placed the value of the office of constable at anywhere from $5000 to $10,000 a year. The men are paid $150 a month for handling criminal work, and are allowed all fees for service of civil papers; but they must pay their own deputies, with the exception of one, who is allowed $100 a month by law.

"Those figures are swollen," said a constable yesterday. "I suppose I make as much as any of them, with perhaps one exception, and my average doesn't run over $2500 a year. I am responsible and liable to damage suits, just as the Sheriff is. Suppose an attorney comes here and asks me to serve papers. I go and do it. I can't investigate every case; he is supposed to do that. Then later I may be sued for false arrest, and have to pay big damages, if he has laid me liable.

"More than that, I may be shot or seriously injured when arresting a desperate criminal. The county offers no recompense for that. Again, I am often out all day and all night, looking for lawbreakers. The work is of a class that ought to be better paid for than what we shall get without the fees. The service won't be so good when a man can knock off at 5 o'clock and know his pay will go on just the same."

Logan's fees from collecting the inheritance tax will go into the county treasury, and tax collectors will take in the money, under the bill Hammon will draft. The humane societies will lose their revenue from fines, if another law he will draft shall be enacted. The other officials will no longer benefit by the fee system if the charter is ratified.

The Sheriff and constables oppose the abolition of the fee system. The Treasurer, Recorder and Clerk say they prefer to be on straight salary. All were called before both the grand jury and Board of Freeholders to express their views on the subject. Logan wrote the Finance Committee of the grand jury August 12, last, asking that his office be placed on straight salary, to come from the salary fund. It is the understanding, according to reliable sources of information, that the salaries of all these officials will be increased if they lose the fees.

According to figures given by Superintendent Zimmer of the S.P.C.A. yesterday, that organization received $7221 last year in fines under a State law giving such income to all societies of the kind. The income from the same source for the preceding three years, 1908, 1909 and 1910, in the reverse order, was: $6267, $5789 and $4242. The balance of the income, which last year reached a total of $14,798, came from county and city allowances, (the latter now discontinued,) fees, dues of members, board of animals in hospital and other sources.

HONOR RETIRING PRESIDENT.

Honoring C. C. Loomis, retiring president of the Southern California Hotel Men's Association, that organization will tender him a banquet at the Hayward tomorrow evening. The newly-elected president, George von Ache, will preside as toastmaster of the evening and will introduce a number of city officials and professional men. The banquet will be the most elaborate ever attempted at the Hayward, according to Manager Carter, who has been working for two weeks preparing decorations for the menu.

Bourbons Lick Thumb.

late Democratic candidate for Concratic candidate for Congress from the Ninth District, and Joseph Simons, gress from the Ninth District, and Joseph Simons, brick manufacturer and old Democratic wheelhorse. Humphreys admitted yesterday that he would accept the position if it was offered to him, but declared he was not making an active fight for the place. Humphreys is one of the leading Bourbons in Southern California and is very popular in his party circles. He took an active part in the recent campaign and did yeoman work for the unterrified cause. Kirk is an avowed candidate for the job and many friends are booming him. He is one of the ablest Democrats in California and is an author and orator of note. Joe Simons asserted yesterday that he is not after the postmastership, but coyly hinted that he would "do a whole lot of thinking before he refused it." City Clerk Lorin A. Handley is talked of in some quarters. Handley is an old Princeton man and stands close to the President-elect.

FOR REVENUE COLLECTOR.

Dan Neuhart, real estate man and battle-scarred Democratic warrior, is out for the Collector of Internal Revenue plum, which pays $4500 a year. Attorney Lynn Helm, former president of the Los Angeles County Bar Association and leading Democrat, is also talked of for this position. Helm is a Princeton man and was graduated in the same class with "Tommy" Wilson. He visited Wilson at Sea Girt during the recent campaign and talked over conditions in Southern California with him. There is no doubt but that Wilson will seek advice from Helm before making any appointments in Los Angeles. Helm will be one of the men who will settle all matters of Federal patronage south of the Tehachepi.

Several other Democrats are casting expectant eyes toward this job. James Hanly, former Superintendent of Streets and one of the most popular Democratic leaders in this city, is being boomed by friends, but he vigorously asserts that he does not want the office. Hanly is well-to-do and says he is willing to let the other fellow win the prize. Claude I. Parker, present holder of the office, is there during the pleasure of the Secretary of the Treasury. He will probably be displaced when the Wilson administration goes into effect. All other employees of the office are on the classified list.

FOR CUSTOMS COLLECTOR.

C. W. Pendleton, Collector of Customs, has a year and a half left to draw his maximum of $5000 a year. His chief deputy, William Wickersham, is exposed to the political elements, but all of the other employees are protected by the civil service. Councilman Martin Betkouski is mentioned by many Bourbons as Pendleton's successor. He appeared surprised yesterday when informed that he is a leading candidate for the position and declared that "it is news to me." Betkouski has the Mayoralty bee in his bonnet and he is confident that he will be elected if he makes the race. He is independently wealthy and his friends say he would rather be Mayor than anything else. S. M. Smyser, a well-known attorney and a recent candidate for the Assembly, will take the place if it is offered to him. Smyser was prominent in Nebraska politics for many years and held several political offices before coming to Los Angeles in 1906. David Fulwider, a lawyer of this city and vice-chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, is being boosted for the place by his friends. He is not a candidate for it, however, and says he will make no personal efforts.

FOR MARSHAL.

United States Marshal Leo V. Youngworth, who holds an appointive office, has two more years to serve. His chief clerk, Albert Sittel, and his stenographer, George White, are under civil service, but Deputies Durlin and Dingle are supplantable. W. T. Harris, who was defeated for Sheriff two years ago, is an avowed candidate for this place. Harris is one of the leaders in the party here and is sure to make a strong bid for the place. George Ringo, defeated candidate from the Tenth Congress District, is also spoken of in certain quarters. Youngworth is now engaged in the practice of law and may resign before his term of office expires.

FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

United States District Attorney A. I. McCormick, with his three assistants, will retire next April, when McCormick's term of four years expires. The position pays $4000 a year, with the deputyships ranging from $2200 to $1500. Albert M. Norton, former chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, and Emmet H. Wilson, former deputy City Attorney and recent candidate for the Assembly, are prominently mentioned for the berth. Force Parker of Venice, lawyer and loyal Bourbon, is also talked of. A score of young Democratic barristers are out gunning for the three deputyships.

IN THE LAND OFFICE.

Register Buren and Receiver Robinson of the local land office are subject to change after the expiration of their term of service, one year from the coming January. These places pay $3000 a year. The clerks in the office are under civil service. P. F. Dodson, recent candidate for the State Senate from the Thirty-fifth District and a rising young attorney, hopes to succeed Buren, 'tis said. To date no Democrat has shied his hat into the ring for Robinson's place, although scores of the Bourbon pie huntsmen have hungry eyes focused on the $3000 plum.

CALL FOR CABINET.

A 90-horse-power boom for Joseph H. Call for a Cabinet berth, preferably Secretary of the Interior, has been launched by leading Democrats in Southern California. Call has the name of being one of the ablest lawyers in California and has been prominent in the Democratic party for years. He was boomed for Governor two years ago, but declined to seek the nomination, withdrawing in favor of Theodore Bell. Call says he is perfectly willing to accept a seat in Wilson's Cabinet if he is acceptable to Wilson. Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia and Rudolph Spreckels of San Francisco are also mentioned as Secretary of the Interior "possibilities." Spreckels stands close to the President-elect. As president of the National Wilson Republican League he gained considerable prominence during the campaign. He contributed handsomely to the Bourbon doughbag and played a big part in the fight against the Lissner-Johnson-Earl machine in this State.

Ex-Mayor Phelan of San Francisco is also mentioned as a Cabinet possibility.

Do You Know WHY

An Arlington Square Lot is Better?

A prospective buyer or home builder may find it difficult to choose from so many desirable offerings in the beautiful residence districts of the Southwest; but there is one invariable rule which, if followed, leads to the best selection.

Where other features are nearly equal, be guided by the price. Save the money whenever you can. A hundred dollars saved on the price represents ten monthly payments on my "liberal terms" plan.

Go and see Arlington Square for yourself and measure its charms and advantages against any other high-class residence tract. You will satisfy your own mind that it has no superior in that vicinity.

Do this, and there will be another lot sold in Arlington Square, and you will save the money.

You Can Buy Today for LESS --- Because It Cost Me LESS

I designed, platted and improved it myself. You pay no middleman's profits when you buy in Arlington Square. There is no brokerage. There are no bills to follow for improvements completed. Everything is included in the price. You have wide cement walks, and nice wide parkings planted with ornamental trees. You have gas, water and electricity in front of your lot. You are in a neighborhood enriched and beautified by lovely Arlington street bungalows, and in the vicinity made attractive by Exposition Park and the new Manual Arts High and grammar schools. You have four car lines to serve you at 5-cent fare.

And you can buy a lot there for $725 and up, on payments of $25 down and $10 a month. You cannot select an equally desirable lot at that price on such easy terms anywhere else in that neighborhood.

That's why an Arlington Square lot is better. Come in and let us take you to see them.

A Conservative Investment

This is a pretty good time to think about your financial affairs. One of the most prosperous years in the history of California is drawing to a close, and you want to be in perfect condition financially to meet whatever the new year may bring.

You may have money coming due the end of the year that you will wish to reinvest quickly so as not to lose any interest. You will probably want to make some changes in your present investments with a view to greater security or better income. And in January dividends will be due and ready for reinvestment.

In any case you cannot find any investment that will better meet your needs than the 6 per cent. Investment Certificates of this Association. They are safe, stable in value and easily convertible into cash. The condition of the money markets can have no effect whatever on the value of these Certificates nor on the regularity of the 6 per cent. interest paid.

Now is a good time to investigate these Certificates. Come in and ask about them or write for our Investment Folder.

SMUGGLING RING GOES TO SMASH.

FELIX PLEADS GUILTY AND IS GIVEN LIGHT SENTENCE.

Federal Court Believes That Culprits Have Suffered Much in Waiting for Trial and Lets Them Off in Consequence of Admissions of Their Wrong-Doing.

The last prop in the defense of Antonio Felix, Sr., and Ethel Hall, the "Queen of the Smugglers," fell to the ground yesterday, when Felix, after "stalling" around for more than a week, went into the United States District Court, and pleaded guilty to conspiracy. Judge Rudkins sentenced him to three months in the County Jail. Felix has already served nearly a year in the same institution, and United States District Attorney Robinson recommend a jail sentence.

Felix's partner in the job, Mrs. Hall, pleaded guilty in Judge Wellborn's court three weeks ago, and was given a fine of $10, which she was unable to pay, and the court let her go free. The plea of Felix clears up the entire batch of smugglers rounded up by government officers when the gasoline launch "Comrade," entered into the pier at Oakland, July 8, 1911, and deposited a cargo of contraband Chinese.

The indictment returned by the federal grand jury in 1911 included Antonio Felix, Sr., Charlie Wing, Ethel Hall, Reynold Scott, Elfred W. Tracey, Louie Fat, Kunt Umont, Antonio Felix, Jr., and Me Tin Loy. At the same time Mrs. Hall was charged with having paid Capt. James Wright for running the boat from Ensenada. Capt. Wright, although arrested, was never indicted and it has been understood that he was to have immunity in return for such testimony he might give the government in prosecuting the other defendants.

Of those who were indicted, Reynold Scott, of San Pedro, who was the owner of the "Comrade," pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three months in the County Jail. Kunt Umont, a Japanese, who was in command of the small boat caught putting the pier loaded with Chinese, was sentenced to thirty days in the County Jail on a plea of guilty. All men have served out their sentences. Elfred W. Tracey, of San Pedro, owner of the "Comrade," disappeared when the capture was made in Oakland and when last heard from was in Mexico. Charlie Wing, Me Tin Ley and Louie Fat are yet to be tried. Antonio Felix, Sr., was never captured.

The combination of smugglers headed by Felix and Mrs. Hall worked with great success along the coast, and records will show that the two landed a number of loads of Chinese at various time brought up from Ensenada, and deposited on the wharves in San Francisco and Oakland earlier that made thousands of dollars for them.

The records also show that while Felix was the directing head in the smuggling operations, Mrs. Hall handled the purse and made all payments for services. She also kept a tight hold on the cash, and her keenness added to the success of the various undertakings, for the immigration officers assert she was the brains and the directing force of the band of smugglers that was flourished for years.

OR HALLUCINATION?

Ordered to Be Returned to Missouri Today for Investigation of Story of Double Murder.

Mrs. Leah, accused, prepared to face a charge of first-degree murder she has taken on herself, to ease a torturing conscience, Mrs. Fanny Ellen Leah, a feminine enigma, was hustled into police headquarters a year ago, her baby boy at her side, and confessed double murder of two doctors, will be returned to Missouri, today.

Extradition papers arrived here from Sacramento yesterday and arrangements were at once made for the prisoner, which will result ultimately in the woman's trial, or incarceration in an asylum. She will be examined by alienists on her arrival at Sedalia and if found unbalanced will be confined at the Nevada State Institution.

Deputy U. S. M. T. Henderson of Pettis County, Missouri, here to to take the woman back East, completed arrangements last night for the trip, and so far as Mrs. Leah is concerned would not have been delayed pending for requisition warrant. It is understood the authorities that requisitions were unnecessary, but Sheriff Henderson did not care to take with a possible eleventh hour change of mind.

Mrs. Leah says she poisoned Mrs. Belle Cox of Greenridge seven years ago and Mrs. Cox of Sedalia, by giving her rough on rats when they visited. Prosecution for the death of Mrs. Cox is said to be impossible as the physician who attended her died. But she may have to stand charge of having killed Mrs. Belle Cox, who was attended by a different physician.

Even if it was at first believed Mrs. Leah's confession to Detective Capt. Hammer was the outgrowth of a diseased mentality, her story in the several eastern reports seem consistent.

Mrs. Leah, the husband who heard her confession as the raving of an insane woman probably will accompany her.

ARRAIGNING SMUGGLERS.

Immigration Authorities Arrest Seven Men Alleged to Be Members of Rollander's Gang.

Arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Angel E. O'Banion, Deputy Inspector Sweets and William Kirby, is said to be a telling blow at the smuggling traffic. The men charged with having convoyed six Chinese laborers from Ensenada, to Redondo Beach, last May. The latter, it is charged, the coolies were transported in this city in a covered wagon, concealed under a tarpaulin belonging to the Security Transfer Company, 1155 Temple street.

Those seven, with John Oosterhoudt, the reputed leader of the band, are under indictment by the Federal grand jury, which is in San Francisco now, and will result ultimately in bond on a former indictment against them. They were again arrested yesterday by immigration authorities.

The immigration authorities are looking for three other men who are said to be members of the smuggling band, which has driven a thriving trade in contraband Chinese.

THREE-CORNERED LIBRARY.

Trustees Approve Plans for Triangular Building With Open-air Features on Pasadena Avenue.

Plans for the Arroyoside Carnegie branch library at Garvanza, prepared by Architects Train & Williams and Frederick M. Ashley, have been accepted by the board of library trustees. They provide for a building costing $50,000 to fit a triangular lot at the junction of Pasadena and Piedmont avenues and include an open-air reading-room.

As soon as detailed specifications can be prepared bids on the construction contract will be advertised for. Work should begin about the first of January and it is planned to have the branch ready for occupancy within ten months or less thereafter.

The building will be one story in height, seventy feet long and thirty feet wide at the front, widening toward the rear. The architecture is an adaptation of the French Renaissance, while the material used will be brick and stone, with terra-cotta pillars and trimmings. The main approach is to face in a northeasterly direction on Pasadena avenue.

The plans provide for a large reading-room on the north side and a children's room on the south. An open-air reading-room of triangular shape will occupy the space between the other two. Supervision and observation of the entire main floor may be had from the delivery counter. The capacity of the branch will be 25,000 volumes. Plans for interior finishing and furnishing are incomplete.

The lot was donated by the citizens of Garvanza and Highland Park. This will be the second of six branch libraries to be put up out of the Carnegie appropriation of $210,000, made two years ago. The first is now in course of construction at Forty-seventh street and Budlong and will be completed by January 1. The other four will be at Central avenue and Forty-fifth street, First and Chicago, in Boyle Heights, Santa Monica and Madison, and North Workman and Avenue Twenty-six.

GARAGE AN OFFICE.

Extensive alterations now being made at the Hall of Justice will give Undersheriff Brain an office where the Sheriff's old garage used to be and will increase the space allotted to the whole clerical force. The railing in the criminal office will be moved back five feet, a telephone operator will be installed where Brain's office is at present, back of the civil counter; and offices for deputies on secret work will be fitted up in the back of the garage space. The changes have been necessitated by the tremendous increase in business, a result of the fast-growing population.

THREE-CORNERED LIBRARY.

Plans for the Arroyoside Carnegie branch library at Garvanza, prepared by Architects Train & Williams and Frederick M. Ashley, have been accepted by the board of library trustees. They provide for a building costing $50,000 to fit a triangular lot at the junction of Pasadena and Piedmont avenues and include an open-air reading-room.

As soon as detailed specifications can be prepared bids on the construction contract will be advertised for. Work should begin about the first of January and it is planned to have the branch ready for occupancy within ten months or less thereafter.

The building will be one story in height, seventy feet long and thirty feet wide at the front, widening toward the rear. The architecture is an adaptation of the French Renaissance, while the material used will be brick and stone, with terra-cotta pillars and trimmings. The main approach is to face in a northeasterly direction on Pasadena avenue.

The plans provide for a large reading-room on the north side and a children's room on the south. An open-air reading-room of triangular shape will occupy the space between the other two. Supervision and observation of the entire main floor may be had from the delivery counter. The capacity of the branch will be 25,000 volumes. Plans for interior finishing and furnishing are incomplete.

The lot was donated by the citizens of Garvanza and Highland Park. This will be the second of six branch libraries to be put up out of the Carnegie appropriation of $210,000, made two years ago. The first is now in course of construction at Forty-seventh street and Budlong and will be completed by January 1. The other four will be at Central avenue and Forty-fifth street, First and Chicago, in Boyle Heights, Santa Monica and Middleton, and North Workman and Avenue Twenty-six.

GARAGE AN OFFICE.

Extensive alterations now being made at the Hall of Justice will give Undersheriff Brain an office where the Sheriff's old garage used to be and will increase the space allotted to the whole clerical force. The railing in the criminal office will be moved back five feet, a telephone operator will be installed where Brain's office is at present, back of the civil counter; and offices for deputies on secret work will be fitted up in the back of the garage space. The changes have been necessitated by the tremendous increase in business, a result of the fast-growing population.

MERELY CAN'T COLLECT.

That Is About What the Evil of Betting Amounts to When the Subject's Taken Into Court.

The evils of betting, when it comes to a law-suit, are likely to be simply one's inability to collect, to judge from the experience of George Mowatt, who sought yesterday to get a judgment for $125 against E. F. Cressat on a note in an action before Justice Reeve.

Mowatt said that in June he offered to bet $20 with Cressat, a bartender, on a horse race, and that the man in the white apron took his money. W. C. Henderson strolled in just then and announced that a worth of the bet looked good to him. He was accommodated.

The horse romped home a winner, at odds of thirteen to one. Mowatt had $260 due, as well as the original twenty. Henderson paid the $130 he owed to Cressat, who gave $155 to Mowatt, with his note for $125. This note has not been paid.

Justice Reeve preached a homily on betting, saying that the court could take no cognizance of it. "Betting on an election is bad enough," he said, "but a gamble on a horse, especially at thirteen to one, is flying in the face of providence. Go and settle your difficulties somewhere else."

Those which have the stitching forming a border are especially pretty and they come in all the delicate shades. They are of silk and satin, and the "filling" is of the finest and softest of lamb's wool, which is even lighter than eiderdown, it seems, and which does not work through the outer covering as the eider sometimes does.

Your New Vest.

If you are growing a bit too stout buy your next vest with the stripes running up and down, as this will make you look taller and less wide. Of course, I mean this as a "beauty hint" for men. I would also suggest that you have the buttons made from looking-glass, as then those whom you meet would be so deeply engaged in seeing themselves that they would fail to observe in that suave and exasperating tone and with that knowing look, "You're looking highty well."

Fashion's Reflections.

Stockings of the most brilliant shades are fashion's present fancy.

Small hats and Persian toques reign supreme.

For little folks, smart black fur hats, with a single rosebud placed at one side, are very attractive and new.

Crystal and emerald buttons are used on footgear, and they make the footgear they adorn decidedly smart.

The person who does not wear a touch of color about the feet is the exception.

A suit made of corduroy and trimmed with big self-covered buttons, is most attractive.

The newest street hats are small and close-fitting, and very well adapted to the use of veils.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY SYDNEY FORD.

"Going to the club?" I asked the lady in the smart tailor-made gown as she boarded the car and sat down beside me.

"No indeed, I'm on my way to the cooking school," she announced with an air of satisfaction. I happen to know that this particular woman is the most immaculate housekeeper, and a perfect epicurean in the art of cookery—I have dined with her, therefore I speak from first-hand knowledge.

I hear it on all sides—the awakening to the call of the kitchen. Cooking schools are becoming about the most fashionable functions in town among the feminine citizens. I haven't seen women more interested in any topic presented in clubdom this year than was that crowd of Ebell women who flocked about the stage to examine the cooking utensils exhibited there the other day by Charles Barnard, the "household engineer," who interlarded his address with sage observations drawn from his scientific experiments in household economics.

"Edward Everett Hale once told me," he commented as he poured the amber fluid from the coffee percolator, "that coffee, to be perfect, should be just the color of the cheek of a maid of Seville—afterward he visited Spain and changed his mind."

Going on to the subject of tea-making, this expert in household economics, exhorted the women on the crime of boiling tea.

"Never boil anything," he exclaimed emphatically, "steam it." He exhibited a new-fangled teapot imported from England. It was of brown earthenware and had on the inside what Mr. Barnard called "a perforated diaphragm," which separated the compartment for the tea from the rest of the vessel. He spoke most sarcastically concerning the usual custom of the hostess in pouring the tea, allowing the teapot to stand until the guest had finished his first cup and then offering a second from the pot where infusion had been going on so long that the tea was spoiled.

"Ten minutes' infusion spoils it; thirty minutes reduces it to poison," he declared; "three minutes makes it perfect and at this point the infusion should stop." This accommodating English teapot can be laid on its side for the prescribed three minutes while the tea is making and then set upright which separates the leaves from the fluid and instantly shuts off the infusion, leaving the cream of the tea.

Ladies, Look to Your Umbrellas.

Since the Badger Club is waging war on the deadly protruding hatpin, it might be well if these energetic women turn their attention, now that the rainy season is approaching, to the manner in which most women carry their umbrellas. I came near having an eye punched out the other day when boarding a street car. The woman ahead of me had her umbrella furled and was carrying it under her arm. As she mounted the car steps the slender point of the umbrella rod shot out from under her arm aimed straight for the face of the passenger behind.

After that I watched, and discovered that eight out of every ten women carried their umbrellas under the arm, and precisely the same thing happened every time they boarded a car. One man had his hat knocked off and everybody had to dodge that protruding umbrella stick.

On the Heights.

The Travel Club scaled the heights of Mt. Washington and were entertained at the meeting last week by Mrs. Harold A. Gillman of Riverside drive, which commands a sweeping view of the city and suburbs. The hostess contributed a sketch of Joaquin Miller to the programme, which was further enriched by a delightful trip by proxy through the mountains of California by Mrs. Ulrey, wife of Prof. Albert B. Ulrey of the University of Southern California.

Music was furnished by Miss Elizabeth Slaughter, whose vocal solo so pleased her listeners that she was recalled for another; and by little Miss Beatrice Meyers, who played a violin solo to the piano accompaniment of Mrs. Gillman. A dramatic reading by Mrs. A. Sydney Cox further entertained the club members.

Annual Church Bazaar.

The annual bazaar given by the women of the First Congregational Church came off Tuesday, and, as usual, was a tremendous success. Such a throng assembled for the chicken dinner served in the parish annex at 6 o'clock that every ticket was taken long before the demand ceased. The sale of fancy work, dolls, food, candies and Christmas articles was a great success owing to the enthusiastic efforts of the following women who had the affair in hand: Mrs. Seeley W. Mudd, president of HIGHER ELECTRIC SIGNS WANTED IN THIS CITY.

THAT the merchants in Los Angeles want electric roof signs is attested by the fact that forty-eight of the most prominent merchants, manufacturers and banks, as well as the Merchants' and Manufacturers Association and the Ad Club indorsed the petition requesting the City Council to raise the present height of thirty feet to sixty feet. When a merchant puts $2000 or $4000 in an electric sign he wants it high enough so that people can see it. A thirty-foot sign is a poor advertising investment, because it cannot be seen far enough. An electric sign should be twenty feet off the fire wall before you start the first letter, according to the Electrical League, which has the petition before the Council. Roger M. Andrews, assistant to the president of the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank, will speak before the Legislative Committee of the Council today in behalf of the change.

New York has signs eighty and 100 feet high. The new Kellogg sign there is eighty feet high, 106 long and weighs eighty tons. Louisville, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis have signs sixty and seventy feet high. Galveston put up a sign fifty by seventy-five feet. Birmingham has a bank sign five stories high, on the top of a twenty-two-story building. Ontario, Can., is erecting a sign seventy-five feet high by 135. These cities have snow, sleet and high winds to contend with, and so far as known, none of these signs ever came down, the electrical men say. Los Angeles has no such conditions to contend with.

Electric signs are city beautifiers, the petitioners maintain, and a city cannot have too many of them. They show business activity, progress and enterprise. Well-lighted streets are an asset to any city, and municipal authorities elsewhere, realizing the value of illumination as a police measure, are encouraging the more lavish use of display lighting. This is another point brought out by the league.

Some of the prominent merchants on Broadway cannot put up beautiful and artistic signs, as the present ordinance does not give them height enough. They are taxpayers, they pay rent at night, and why shouldn't they advertise at night? the petitioners ask.

Following is a list of signatures of representative business concerns indorsing the Electrical League's request to the Council to amend the present thirty-foot ordinance to permit sixty-foot electric display signs:

POLITICIAN IN COURT.

Democratic Worker Arrested on Unpleasant Charge a Month Ago Given Suspended Sentence.

William J. Kennedy, a well-known Democratic politician and real estate dealer, who was arrested October 5 on an unpleasant charge and released on $500 cash bail, was given a suspended sentence of 180 days by Police Judge Williams of the University Police Court, yesterday.

When Kennedy was arrested on complaint of a number of women residing near No. 3133 South Los Angeles street, he gave the name of "John Kennedy" to the police. Shortly before sentence was pronounced yesterday Kennedy told Judge Williams that his real name is William J. Kennedy and it was so entered on the records.

Kennedy is a member of the Jefferson Club and for many years was a leader in the old Third-Ward, where he controlled a strong political machine. He is well known in realty circles and has handled several large deals on Broadway. He is a man of independent means.

THE WORLD'S OPINION.

The great powers of Europe will be less than mindful of the good opinion of the civilized world if they attempt to save Turkey from the fate she has earned by 460 years of oppression of Christians. Whatever guarantees the powers need for the legitimate protection of their subjects and their interests in Constantinople and the adjacent territory will undoubtedly be granted by the victorious Balkans after they shall have captured Constantinople and driven the Sultan and his army into Asia. Fair play and the law of nations decree that neutral powers should deal with the conquerors and not with the conquered in a war.

NO SMOKING.

A correspondent of The Times "has it in" for all worshipers at the shrine of Madam Nicotine. He is not satisfied with their exclusion from all of the interior and one-half of the open-air part of the street car. He would shut them out altogether and disappoint those ladies who decline seats in the interior of the car and leave the rear open-air end vacant in order to strap hang and snuggle in the smoking compartments. He would go further. He would prohibit smoking on the streets. He would banish smokers to the roofs of houses. When he accomplishes that much he may assert that tobacco fumes are injurious to the inmates of aeroplanes.

ALAS, POOR HUBBY.

Is it fit and proper for a wife to go through her hubby's pockets when she finds herself short on the month's housekeeping? According to the Rev. Dr. Locke, emphatically—yes; because no man deserves a wife who will put her to such a humiliating necessity. The doctor's opinion is incontrovertible.

When smoking has been abolished, his pocket money taken away, the "lodge" excuse turned down for good and all, his hats and neckties chosen for him, a curfew bell established to fix his home-comings and Spring street abolished in favor of Broadway, then it will at last begin to dawn on slow-witted man that woman has really and truly come into her own.

THE WONDERFUL WIRELESS.

At 8 o'clock at night on Tuesday, November 5, it was known in New York City that Woodrow Wilson was elected President. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, or three hours before the polls closed in New York, the wireless operator on board the steamer Nile, just entering the port of Honolulu from the Orient, received the tidings. He wired it to the liner Mongolia en route to San Francisco from Yokohama and 3500 miles out. The Mongolia flashed the tidings to the Nippon, six days out of Hongkong, and 4500 miles from San Francisco, and the passengers on the Nippon learned, while eating their luncheon, the result in New York, which the New Yorkers did not know until supper time. Puck now puts a girdle around the earth in 1400 minutes less than 40 minutes. This marvel is easily accounted for. It takes our slow old earth twenty-four hours to travel around the sun. The wireless can do it in as many minutes.

RENO AND DIVORCE.

On the banks of the Truckee River, among superlatively beautiful surroundings, stands Reno, as pretty a little town as you will find in a month's march. Within in the city limits of Nevada's attractive health resort resides a colony that has made the name of Reno famous over two continents. Asiatics, being mostly polygamous, don't take so much stock in it.

Does it not then seem a little ungrateful to abolish this colony that has advertised Nevada's fairest city and caused its name to loom so largely in magazines, in fiction, in the society items of newspapers and the columns of law journals? Yet, though the good people of Reno appreciate the dough that this colony has brought to their shop, they have decided against the brand of leaven used for raising this dough. So probably before long the divorce colony will disappear.

And what then? Well, on the banks of the Truckee, amid superlatively beautiful surroundings, will stand Reno, as pretty a little town as you will find in a month's march.

A NOTABLE PICTURE.

Sometimes art for art's sake pays for itself in meal tickets. A few years ago H. C. Best was seized with an inspiration to paint Ramona in the mustard fields. The subject was doubly happy, for Ramona was lovely and so is wild mustard. It is also possible that of all the Ramona legends the one that she once passed through a field of wild mustard is most likely to be true. This she certainly did, unless she always kept to the open road or could fly. With all the stories of Ramona crowding upon him the wise artist knew too much to confine his subject to any one model. For the hands he used one Ramona model, for the feet another, for the figure a third and for the head a fourth. Nevertheless, when Ramona finally got herself collected she was well satisfied with the job. Mr. Best hung his picture in the San Diego house where Ramona virtuously had herself married and last week a rich Texan paid $3500 for the canvas. We waive the cheap pun of saying that he got the best of the bargain to venture the opinion that he has a better painting than if he had tried to make his money win an old master from abroad.

CAUSE FOR THANKSGIVING.

It is nine days after election and the millennium has not yet come laden with gifts into Democratic households, the wolves of poverty and hunger have not yet fastened their fangs upon the throats of Republican workers, and the Progressive mule has discontinued the braying with which he struck terror to the heart of loathsome capitalism, and made predatory wealth flee affrighted to safety deposit vaults. Bread and meat are no higher, stocks and bonds are no lower. The popcorn vendor has not abandoned the street corner. The trolley cars are still crowded with strap hangers. The buckskin-breeched and sombrero-crowned cowboy continues to rescue the girl from the feather-topped aborigine in the nickelodeons. The parquettes of the theaters at the matinees present the usual glowing life-picture of pretty toilettes and lovely faces. The fourth crop of alfalfa is ready for cutting. The oranges on the trees are taking on their deeper hues and welcoming the advent of the white and fragrant blossoms that announce their successors. The turkeys are singing "the melancholy days are come, the saddest of the year." The banks are not strengthening their reserves, because the money that is withdrawn by a hundred small depositors for the purchase of Christmas gifts will be returned by the storekeepers who sell the gifts.

Thanksgiving and Christmas and New Year's feasts. Who will not welcome them? Who is not the better for them?

"The veins unfill'd, our blood is cold, and then
We pout upon the morning, are unapt
To give or to forgive; but when we have stuff'd
These pipes, and these conveyances of our blood,
With wine, and feeding, we have supple souls

AMBASSADOR BRYCE.

The resignation of Ambassador Bryce will be a distinct loss to the official life in Washington. Mr. Bryce was one of the few Englishmen who seemed thoroughly to understand the American character and to appreciate American motives. A man of ripe scholarship, broad views and wide experience, he did more than any of his predecessors to establish friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain.

During his Ambassadorship he handled many thorny questions with consummate tact and fairness. He will be especially remembered in Washington for the assistance he rendered President Taft in his effort to substitute arbitration for war. Literary America will appreciate him for his careful work on the American Commonwealth. If he remains with us long enough to correct the wrong-headed view taken by his government on the Panama Canal rates, his mission will be nicely rounded out.

THE DASHEEN.

When our Secretary of Agriculture has a new edible called to his notice, he has it cooked and served at a banquet of the National Geographical Society. He emulates the example of the New York theatrical managers who give the first presentation of a new play at Newark, and call it "trying it on the dog." If the members of the National Geographical Society survive the assimilation of the new food product and keep out of the hospital, the Secretary next tries it on the clerks in his department. If they pronounce it good and have no trouble with their vermiform appendices, he tries it himself. If he likes it that settles it and the seeds of it are distributed throughout the country under Congressional franks.

The latest addition to the food products of the land is the dasheen. Like an Arizonan, it has a rough exterior, but within it is all sweetness and light. It is a tuber resembling a potato so closely in taste that only a connoisseur can detect the difference. It is a semi-tropic root vegetable that has been grown with success on the moist lands of Florida and South and Central America. A crop of from 400 to 450 bushels to the acre of dasheens can be raised. You can boil, bake, fry, cream, escallop or mash a dasheen. The jacket of him is not so thin nor so smooth as that of a potato, but it covers more of an interior.

The lordly potato, which is now costing the economical housekeeper almost as much as nightingales' tongues cost Lucullus, may be driven from his throne by the dasheen, and farmers who raise the solanum tuberosus may be obliged to rotate to the dasheen or give up their autos.

FOREIGN CRITICISM.

"It is a land of discontent, a land of promise, a land of hope. All American mothers and fathers have ambitions for their children. They intend them to go one better than they themselves have gone."

This is the criticism of a well-known London lady journalist after a short visit to New York; in these words she sums up her impressions of the American people.

As far as it goes—and coming from one who has only seen a few phases of New York life—this is not so bad. At the same time it is rather amusing to notice how foreign writers, after a few weeks' investigation of one small section of the country, believe they have discovered everything worth knowing about the whole United States. It is somewhat like a flea who has hopped upon the tail of an elephant publishing a weighty opinion on the general appearance of the whole massive quadruped.

Ambition, not of the rulers as in Europe, but of the people as individuals, is the root of the discontent and the promise and the hope which this foreign critic sees in our national life.

Discontent; we acknowledge it is ever prevalent; the results of the last Presidential election prove it; yet perhaps it is better to be dissatisfied as many Americans are than self-satisfied as too many of our foreign critics seem to be.

Promise; well, since we live in a land where some new wonder or some old impossibility is forever being realized, we are justified in accepting for America the title of the Land of Promise. Yet no foreigner can begin to grasp how great this promise is till he or she has visited the Pacific Coast and spent at least one wide-awake and intelligent year in Los Angeles. Why, even our own native sons are often amazed at the rapidity with which each successive promise is fulfilled!

And then hope; surely more than discontent or promise hope has molded and is still molding the national destiny of America. For our hopes are inextricably woven into the woof of our ambitions. Every bricklayer expects his son to get a college education and enter the learned professions, though as such he may earn far less than a skilled stonemason. Every country grocer hopes to see his son a member of Congress, or at least of the local school board—and of course every true American mother sees in her first-born a possible President of the United States. This is the best brand of ambition displayed by each individual to build up his nation from within, not the ambition of the ruler to add to it always from without.

Every man who has become saturated with the American spirit is a climber—financially, socially, as an artist, or as a craftsman. If he sometimes slip a few rungs on the ladder he scrambles so much the harder to recover his lost vantage. Socialism will never pervert many workers imbued with this persevering spirit; it will never get as firm a grip here as it has in Britain or Germany. There are too many prizes, too much excitement, too many engaged in the various contests.

For the Socialist, when he sees his fellow-citizen is getting ahead of him in climbing the ladder of success, instead of redoubling his own efforts asks for a law to compel the too successful climber to be pulled down again. A policy only natural to the unambitious. As long as promise and hope exceed discontent down-grading will never be popular in America.

It is curious to note that these three qualities, pointed out by our foreign critic, were symbolized by the three chief contestants for Presidential honors at the late election. "Progressive" discontent—Theodore Roosevelt; Democratic promises—Dr. Wilson; Republican hope—President Taft. We have decided for the present to live for four years on promises; in 1916 "hope" will again be our watchword.

THE SANJAK OF NOVIPAZAR.

The Austrian Foreign Office has announced to the Triple Alliance and the Triple Entente that so far as Austria is concerned there is "no via media between the maintenance of the status quo and the occupation by Austria of the Sanjak of Novipazar."

The diplomatic cuss of The Times staff, who comprehends the occult phraseology of European diplomacy, has gone to Milpitas on a fishing excursion, and in his absence his duties have devolved upon the court reporter. He asks indignantly why there should be a via media between the maintenance of the status quo and anything whatever? Is not the status quo entitled to maintenance, and alimony, and court costs, and counsel fees and the custody of the children?

As to Austria's claim to occupy the Sanjak of Novipazar, that depends largely upon the rent that Mr. Novipazar will ask for his sanjak, and as to who shall pay for the much needed improvements. The habits of the Turkish tenant of the sanjak were quite mediaeval. There was not a bathroom in the entire shack. The epidermis of the tenant Harsan Ben Effendis was overlaid and encrusted with soil and the sanjak badly needs sweeping and fumigating. If Austria will undertake the renovation of the sanjak and will pay a fair rent, Col. Novipazar will let her occupy the premises, otherwise they will be reserved for a Bulgarian tenant.

Quite a rush for free lunch licenses by the saloon men of the town. There promises to be a big trade in the commodity if the Democratic administration follows in the footsteps of the rule of Grover Cleveland.

Col. Roosevelt says the Bull Moose party has come to stay. At this time it looks as if the American people had handed the outfit its hat and inquired, "What's your hurry?"

STREAKS OF WIT.

[Boston Post:] "Never write letters, young man, that you'll regret in after life."

"You speak as from experience."

No Chance to Quarrel.

[Judge:] Mrs. Brown-Smith: They must be very happily married.

Mrs. Jones-Robinson: Why do you think so?

Mrs. Brown-Smith: Oh, they see so little of each other.

A Polite Official.

[Scribner's Magazine:] "D'ye believe in coincidences, mister?"

"Eh!—coincidences—why?"

"Well, fer instance—take you an' me. Ye're trespassin'; ye're ketchin' traout aout o' season, an' I'm constable o' this hyer taownship."

Margaret: Yes, but I promised I would not tell. However, I don't think there'll be any harm in my writing his name on a piece of paper for you.

Proved a Coward.

[Detroit Free Press:] "Burglars broke into our house last night."

"That so? Did they get anything."

"Nothing except my husband's nerve."

[Kansas City Star:] Mrs. Hardin: Can you lend me a cup of sugar, an egg, a piece of butter and a——

Mrs. Testy: Yes, and it's too bad you can't take home some of our gas to cook things with.

A Speaking Likeness.

[Fliegende Blatter:] "What success have you had with the portrait of your mother-in-law?"

Both Are Called "Successful."

[Judge:] "Father, what is a minor operation?"

"And a major operation?"

Keep It In the Law.

[Chicago Record-Herald:] "Do you believe in divorce?"

"No."

"Then you are in favor of abolishing it?"

"Oh, no; I don't believe in wet weather, but it seems to be necessary sometimes."

Just a Woman.

[Life:] Hotel Proprietor (at fashionable resort:) Shall I introduce you to some of the women who are also living here?

Mrs. Parvenu (sadly:) No, thank you. I cannot smoke cigarettes, drink cocktails, play cards for money, or talk politics. I am not a lady.

Lincoln's Chin-fly Story.

[Judge:] A certain amount of trouble is a good thing.

Lincoln used to illustrate the point with a story about a "chin-fly."

It seems that once a man was plowing with a very lazy mule. Suddenly the mule lifted his head, switched its stump of a tail, and went across the field at a rapid walk and with most unusual energy.

Reaching the end of the row, there was a man on the fence. When the mule and man came up, the fellow got down, walked over to the mule, and hit him a slap on the jaw, at the same time remarking: "Well, I killed him that time!"

"Killed what?"

"Why, that chin-fly!"

"Well, you interfering fool, I wish you would mind your own business! That chin-fly was the only thing that made this mule go!"

DIVIDING THE SPOILS.

By MARSHALL D. TAYLOR.

The first step in the secret partition of European Turkey was the seizure of Tripoli by Italy. Austria, as one of the three signatory powers of the Triple Alliance, made no objection to her ally's course of action, while Germany, the originator of the "mailed fist," protested only half-heartedly.

The spoils of war, which rightly belong to the Bulgarians, Servians, Greeks and Montenegrins, are about to be "apportioned" by the bullies of Europe.

European Turkey resembles a huge apple. The powers, both great and small, are grouped round about eagerly waiting to dig their sharpened teeth into the luscious prize. Each wishes to have the first bite. Like the pariahs of Stamboul, already they are beginning to snarl and show their teeth at each other.

So fearful are they that the apple will prove too small for their voracious maws that they are keeping close watch upon each other, as an extra large bite would deprive one or the other of an equal share.

Russia, smarting under the treatment she received at the hands of Austria, when that power grabbed Bosnia and Herzegovina, in violation of the treaty of Berlin, will claim the right to free passage for her warships through the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus.

Great Britain, for having remained passive, in all probability will insist that the powers recognize her permanent occupation of Egypt. Seeing that she has given no hint of ever leaving the Khedive's domains, the powers will not be called upon to grant any great favor.

Austria will demand Novi Bazar, and possibly insist upon an additional slice of territory being given her; while Germany will be given a free hand in pushing her pet scheme of building a railway through Turkish territory to the Persian Gulf.

The victorious allies already have come to a secret understanding in regard to partitioning the bulk of the spoils, as is evident from the manner in which they have ignored the premature overtures of the non-combative powers. When that apportionment takes place, then the real trouble will begin. It will be Turkey's turn to laugh.

Enmity and petty jealousy between the peoples of Europe and Asia have existed ever since 1683, when Sobieski drove the Turks back from the walls of Vienna.

During the Sultanship of Abdul Hamid, that wily old fox made use of these strifes by fomenting ill-feeling between the various Christian states. So successful was he that for years the Balkan states were kept from forming an alliance. Since the forced abdication of Abdul Hamid, internal dissension, rebellions and the divided counsels of the Sublime Porte have caused Turkey to retrograde and lose prestige. The Turks of today are as unlike the Turks who defended Plevna against the very flower of the Russian army as chalk is from cheese. With a view to reviving the fighting spirit of Mohammedans at the front, Mullahs armed with the Koran are inciting the faithful to daring deeds of valor.

The question frequently arises: What is the power behind Mohammedanism which has kept the followers of the prophet steadfast in the faith throughout all these past centuries. Is it the Caaba that inspires all true believers with a faith that cannot be shaken, or is it the city of Mecca, the birthplace of the founder of their religion that causes Moslems the world over, daily to turn their faces toward the east and thank Allah that they are not infidels? It is all this and more.

The Caaba, or "Holy of Holies," is the object of veneration for Moslems throughout the world. Ishmael and Abraham built it. During its construction Gabriel appeared and gave them a stone said to have been one from Seth's altar, which through the ages remained hidden under the debris of the flood. This they inserted in the outer wall.

Pilgrims enter the Caaba by the gate of Bab-el-Salaam, and, after kissing this stone, make seven circuits of the building. Then they repair to the station of Abraham, where they offer up prayers. After drinking copiously from the well of Zem-Zem, they traverse the hill of Zafa in commemoration of the wanderings of Hagar and Ishmael. Having performed all these ceremonies, their initiation is complete and they take the title of Hadji.

CALIFORNIA'S MESSAGE.

No part of the world has a more welcome message for the rest of the world than California. It is a message of boundless promise. It is a message of opportunity—opportunity for the investor, who finds a field of tremendous resources in the process of rapid development; opportunity for the home-seeker, who wants a productive soil and a prosperous business environment; opportunity for the infirm in quest of health, who regain vigor in a climate without parallel on the earth; opportunity for the tourist, who crosses continents and seas in pursuit of pleasure.

And there is no herald so convincing, none that reaches so many of the hundreds of thousands of home-seekers, health-seekers, tourists, investors, who yearly make for a greater and better and more prosperous California, as the MIDWINTER NUMBER OF THE LOS ANGELES TIMES.

Every adult person in Southern California should know these things about the TIMES MIDWINTER NUMBER:

DATE OF ISSUE—On or about January 1, 1913.

FORM—Six thirty-two-page magazine sections and the regular daily.

CIRCULATION—200,000 copies. Of these 50,000 go to foreign financiers and investors; between 55,000 and 60,000 to daily subscribers; and more than 90,000 to persons in the East and Middle West who are looking to Southern California with interest today.

CHARACTER—The Midwinter Number is distinctly a work of character and with character. It is a masterpiece in every sense. Months have been devoted to its compilation. It is accurate and sane in every particular. It is convincing. It is dependable. It does not contain an extravagant statement. It is a vast compendium of reliable information concerning Southern California. It treats of practically every phase of progress in the Southwest, the great industries that are in operation and building, the stupendous improvements in process of unfoldment, the unexampled growth of Los Angeles and of the Southwest in general. It graphically portrays the Southland's God and man-wrought beauties. It pictures Southern California as it is. There is no more eloquent story than the truth about the Southwest, and the Midwinter Number tells it faithfully.

The Majestic at the box-office to-

The popularity of Paul Armstrong's great play, "The Escape," is now in its third week at the Mason Theater, has serious- with the plans of Manager Morosco, who is just now to figure out how he is to get rid of the pieces for which he holds contracts to play at a suitable time, while he is considering the advisability of making a long box-office in the theater in an effort to accommodate the line of patrons that will clear out to the side- when the piece opened

Another interest next week in Majestic will be the inauguration Monday night at the Majestic of the special joint engagement of Bert Lytell and Evelyn Vaughn, two uncommonly clever players, opening in Marshall Ritchie's notable success, "The Ritchie." Mr. Lytell and Miss Vaughn are great favorites all over this country having played from N. Y. to San Francisco, and in the latter city they have appeared many times they have appeared with great success at Fred Belasco's Theater.

Harry Fox and Dick Ferris will be among the members of the Winter Garden company, which will come from Sunday in the famous melodrama "The Yoke Slave," and it is said that all of the members of the company go in Los Angeles during their rehearsals during the week mornings. The sale of seats at the Lyceum box-office will open Monday morning, and a wide range of prices ranging from $1 to $2 will prevail.

Among one of America's foremost artists, will be the remarkable headliner to be presented by the Orpheum the coming week, opening Monday, with almost an entirely new bill. Miss Bingham, whose work on the legitimate stage is world-famed, has evolved a totally new method of presenting the drama to vaudeville. Taking her best-known plays she has epitomized in each the "big" scene about which the whole drama revolves. Among the plays given most frequently are "Tosca," "Fedora," "The Climbers," "Mme. Sans Gene" and "A Modern Lady Godiva," the latter from Miss Bingham's own pen.

Nellie Nichols, formerly a favorite singer here, comes to the Orpheum with the cachet of eastern success, with a lot of lilting new ditties, and Frank Morrell, the California minstrel, brings his bulk, his fine tenor and his newest songs also. On the other hand, Claudius & Scarlet, with their banjo act, go back to the "befo'-de-wah" times for their material and find it ever welcome. The Ward brothers bring monocles and a line of talk in accord with them, droll and funny. "In 1999," with the Jefferson company; Melville & Higgins and "Slivers" remain another week.

Moving pictures of war scenes in the Balkans will form an interesting feature of next week's Pantages show. Immediately upon the outbreak of hostilities the camera men of the Eclair company were hurried to the front, and these are the first of their pictures to be released.

Nellie Schmidt, "The Venus of 'Frisco Bay," will be the feature act of the show in a diving and swimming act that combines endurance and skill in unusual degree.

Eleanor Otis will be welcomed in "De Vere of the Chorus."

Esmeralda, xylophonist; De Lea & Orma with "Six Feet of Comedy" and Millard brothers, the incomparable cycling comedians, with the animated weekly news pictures, make up an attractive programme.

As might have been expected, the

That Really Clean Look—
Just Soap and Water Isn't Enough
There Must Be a Good Cleansing Cream

—And for this skin-cleansing that goes deeper than soap and water—Princess Cold Cream and Skin Clean-o.
It accomplishes a double purpose—as all good cleansing creams must. First it removes the dust and dirt from the pores and then it re-supplies the nourishment and "life" that this dirt and dust has exhausted from the skin.
So many cleansing creams—either cleanse, without re-supplying the oils the skin needs—or re-supply these oils before the skin is thoroughly cleansed.
But the Princess Cold Cream does both—and does it well.

Then For Sensitive Skins—
Skin Clean-O is a Splendid Substitute For Irritating Soaps

Made of powdered grains and nuts—it has the cleansing properties of soap—and instead of that rough, "drawn" feeling that you so often notice after a soap and water face bath—Skin Clean-o leaves the face velvety smooth—wonderfully refreshed.

LUCK LEAVES HIM IN LURCH.

OKLAHOMA SHERIFF FAILS TO GET BY WITH IT.

Races Frantically Over the County After Train to Take Legislator Back for Trial on Bad Check Charge But Is Thwarted by Timetables and Second Writ.

Sheriff J. H. Sales failed yesterday in his attempt to carry O. H. Akin, the Oklahoma solon, back to Oklahoma City, where he is wanted to answer to a charge of issuing fictitious checks.

While the Sheriff was rushing his prisoner in an auto from one station to another in an effort to catch a train for the East, a squad from the local Sheriff's office were hunting for the couple in another machine, armed with the writ in a second habeas corpus proceedings instituted by Attorney Hugh J. Crawford, in an effort to prevent his client being taken back.

When Akin learned that he was about to be whisked away without having been given an opportunity to bid his wife and children good-by, or make provisions for their maintenance, he effected a compromise with the Sheriff. He agreed to quash the second court action if the Sheriff would provide transportation for his wife and children to their former home. To this Sheriff Sales agreed and a couple of hours later Akin was again behind the bars at the Central Station.

Sheriff Sales presented himself at the Central Station shortly before 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and demanded his prisoner. When informed that Akin was in the custody of the Police Court on fugitive warrant proceedings, which would not come to an issue until Friday morning, he induced Deputy District Attorney Hamman, who issued the complaint, to quash the action.

Instead of taking Akin to a hotel, as the latter expected, Sheriff Sales rushed him to the Southern Pacific Depot. The train for Oklahoma City had just gone. Then he raced over to the Salt Lake Station, only to find that he had missed another train.

Then the Sheriff ordered a cross-country run to Corona, where he hoped to catch a third train. By that time, Akin realized the Sheriff was trying to kidnap him. It was then that he informed his political enemy of the second habeas corpus proceedings instituted before Judge Bordwell in the Superior Court.

The Sheriff was given to understand that, even if he did succeed in getting out of the city with his prisoner, he would be served with the papers on the train by telegraph, and would be forced to bring Akin back to Los Angeles and remain here while the case was being fought in the courts. So the officer gave up.

The party will leave this morning for Oklahoma City.

Tax Time in Los Angeles County.

A glimpse of the jam in County Tax Collector Welch's headquarters in the Hall of Records yesterday. About $100,000 was taken in in the course of the day at the six windows. Above is "Charlie" Rutledge, the original bureau of information and master of ceremonies, pointing the straight and narrow way to the big safe.

URGE IMPROVEMENT.

Santa Monica Boulevard to Be Opened to Tidewater—Three Residences in New Subdivision.

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 13.—An effort is to be made to open Santa Monica boulevard, formerly Oregon avenue, to tidewater by the construction of a double incline down the bluff at Linda Vista Park. The Greater Santa Monica Club, in session at the Los Angeles Athletic Club last night, voted unanimously in favor of immediately urging the City Council to complete the improvement, using the park funds.

The club members voted to hire an architect to draw plans for the inclines before submitting the project to the city fathers. The building of oil macadam roadways leading both north and south from the foot of this street to the sand will mark the beginning of an ocean boulevard, it is hoped.

Contractor H. K. Goetz has been awarded the job of building three new residences to cost $15,000 in the new J. J. Davis subdivision north of the city. These are to be the first of many to be built on the rolling mesa east of the Palisades. New residences are going up on every hand in the new subdivisions lying along San Vicente boulevard and the historic Santa Monica Canyon.

Woe Alloy to Joy.

precious statement, while up at the head of each line a running fire of comment is passing through the wicket with the money.

"No, I'll only pay half. Maybe I'll be dead before the next half is due."

"Where is the tax collector? I'll show him!"

"My house stands on two lots and is assessed on each. I don't think that's very nice."

"You won't give me the change on that check? My name is Smith. Everybody knows me."

"Goodness, I've dropped some money." Business of seventeen persons scrambling about the floor searching for the lost treasure, which turned out to be a copper cent.

"I'm a railroad man and I paid my poll tax in Bakersfield. My brother is there now. He's just had quite a sick spell, but when he gets better he'll send it down to me. Sure, then I'll bring it up to you." "Hire a hall," came from down the line, and the man from Bakersfield moves on.

"I live in Alhambra, but my property is in Sawtelle. Must I see a lawyer about it?"

"My middle name isn't on that bill. Does that make any difference? It's Wilfred."

"Will it be as crowded as this tomorrow?"

At last our hero reaches the goal toward which he has been striving; finds he has his check filled out to correspond to his house number; borrows a fountain pen to make the correction; draws two perfectly good long breaths, and hurries away with "achievement" written all over his countenance.

One woman who got in too big a hurry during the afternoon is going to have a lot of trouble after while unless she reads this. This taxpayer, after spending an hour and a half in reaching the cashier's window suddenly became obsessed with the idea that the last elevator was about to start for the street, and reaching through the wicket she grasped her receipt and beat a hasty retreat.

Before the officials could get into action she was gone. With her went the office stub of the statement upon which is written the name and property location. There is no way in the world to credit this payment to the property unless the stub is returned and the amount, $11.27, will be turned into the treasurer as an unaccounted for collection, the woman's taxes will become delinquent; the property may be sold, and there will be grief and weepings and wailings galore. She will relieve the minds of the officials if she will return the stub and straighten the record.

A day's sojourn in the midst of the scene leaves several impressions upon the mind of the sojournist, which may properly be catalogued for the benefit of posterity and the information of the public. It appears:

That taxes are coming in at the rate of about $100,000 per day, which is not fast enough at this stage of the game.

That a lot of good folks are going to be fooled by the fact that this year "last Monday in November" comes on the 25th of the month.

That a large percentage of the taxpayers are only paying the first half of the double installment. This is likely to mean a heavy delinquent list. County officials believe that the system should be changed so that a discount could be allowed on the last half if paid when the first half is due.

That most of the heavy taxpayers have not yet stepped up to the captain's office.

That in spite of the big crowds, many lines and the number of things to be done before actual payment can be made they are being handled without friction by one man, Rutledge aforesaid, who was told when he assumed the post that he "could get as mad as he wanted to, but mustn't let anybody know it."

That fully 50 per cent. of the taxpayers presenting themselves for the sacrifice are women.

That considering the fact that more than $4,000,000 is to be raised this year over the last assessment there is very little grumbling.

Wives, Sisters and Sweethearts of Street Railway Men Add to Success of Occasion by Taking Part in Discussions of Evening at Bristol Cafe.

Employers and employees, with their wives, daughters and sweethearts, mingled in utmost goodfellowship with a freedom that bespoke a common interest Tuesday night at the annual banquet of the Los Angeles Railway Employees' Recreation Club at the Bristol Cafe. The tables literally groaned beneath the weight of the things to eat, while the unique program of the evening's entertainment would have recompensed a confirmed dyspeptic for his inability to attend the feast.

Not the least enjoyable feature of the repast was the music furnished by a newly-uniformed recreation band of fifty pieces, resplendent in gold lace and silver trappings. Despite the popular belief that "Music vat's dot is made in Berlin," the aggregation of musically-inclined street railway employees dished out a brand of melody worthy of comparison with that heard upon more pretentious occasions. There is a popular belief among the railway men that Capt. Dahl is eminently capable of securing harmonious sounds from a buzz saw, and the result of his efforts last night was appreciated by every one of the 300 persons present.

The gathering early resolved itself into a family affair and it must not be believed that the women were content to sit by and permit the men to do all the talking. If there were such intentions, they were quickly squelched by D. J. Kurhts, chief dispatcher of the Los Angeles Railway system, who exercised the prerogatives of his position as toastmaster to call indiscriminately upon men and women present. The welfare of the association; the relations of employers to employees; the benefits derived from closer association and knowledge of each other; the means of success and like subjects formed the theme for most of the speakers.

The banquet hall was fittingly decorated with carnations while the brilliance of feminine apparel showed a pleasing contrast to the more somber garb of the men. In the midst of the festivities a surprise was sprung by the president of the club, L. O. Lieber, who was presented with a diamond ring in appreciation of his personal interest in the success of the association.

The annual election of officers of the club, every employee being eligible, resulted in the election of the following persons: L. O. Lieber, president; J. L. Stephens, F. Van Ranken and J. J. Lewis, vice-presidents; J. Bonsteter, secretary, and W. J. Fuller, treasurer.

Mrs. Elizabeth Baker Bohan will give a talk on prison reform this afternoon at the monthly meeting of the Church Work Society. At the morning missionary session, Mrs. Mary Porter Haines, president of the missionary societies, will speak on the meeting of the American board, which she attended during the summer while in the East. Miss Emily M. Peck, who has recently returned from a summer jaunt, will also speak, and the current events discussed will concern Turkey and the stirring events there.

Will Eat New England Supper.

As Thanksgiving approaches the thoughts of transplanted easterners invariably go back to the festive harvest feast of New England when turkey and pumpkin pie crowned the board, and so the New Hampshire Society, which is made up of immigrants from the good old Granite State, will assemble at Mammoth Hall tomorrow evening for a genuine New England supper.

Los Angeles Girls in Opera.

Two Los Angeles girls, Rena MacDonald, and Madge Stephens, will be heard in the forty-minute operetta, "Vanetta," to be presented before the Friday Morning Club tomorrow by Mme. Anne von Meyerinck. This little operetta is considered one of the most polished musical jewels ever written by Mascagni, combining the orchestral and vocal finish which proves him a master musician.

Admission will be limited to club members only.

"Taken" by Your Own Fireside.

Frances Benjamin Johnston of Washington was known during the Cleveland administration as "the photographer of the American court" as she was the official White House photographer. She introduced the fashion at the national capital of taking her camera under her arm and going to the homes of the wives of Cabinet officers and other ladies of the American court, and photographing them sitting by their own firesides or in picturesque poses in boudoir, or library, or music-room.

To be sure, there were some difficulties in the way and Miss Johnston certainly had her trials—as what photographer has not? I remember she told me once with tears in her eyes, of the difficulty she was having in pleasing a certain patron—the wife of a Cabinet officer. The lady in question was undeniably stout—actually fat, in plain English—but she wanted to be photographed as sitting by her own fireside in a meditative mood and with all superfluous flesh lines subdued to a becoming slenderness.

There has recently come to Los Angeles a young Chicago artist who makes a specialty of these "home pictures." I saw some of her work at an exhibit the other day, and it was certainly stunning. Two of her pictures have hung in the Paris Salon for she studied for some time in the French capital.

GREAT FAIR IS BOOMING.

Says Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Back from Quick Trip to San Francisco.

"The San Franciscans are going ahead with plans for the great exposition in fine shape," said Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce on his return yesterday from a quick trip to the northern city. Wiggins declined to discuss the report that came from San Francisco a few days ago that the Panama-Pacific Exposition management had again endeavored to secure the partial services of Southern California's great booster and veteran in the art of running fairs.

"I was only in the city a few hours on business," said he, "but took enough time for a rapid motor ride to Harbor View, where the exposition managers are to concentrate their efforts. It is a beautiful location.

"I had a talk with George Roeding of Fresno, who is in charge of the horticultural department. He told me work was going ahead satisfactorily. Until the State Legislature meets we cannot tell whether there will be a California building. If there is, the counties will have room for their individual exhibits. If not, each county will have to look out for itself."

GIRL OUT OF DANGER.

Miss Lillian Fabrigat of No. 615 Ceres avenue, who drank a pint of hydrogen peroxide Tuesday evening because of parental objection to the attention of Joe Daniels, was pronounced out of danger yesterday. Daniels, who is an Assyrian, says that he had to take a revolver away from her after she had been reprimanded by her mother on account of her desire to wed the young man. He credits the mother with the assertion that he is about to return to his native country and take part in the Balkan war, but denies it himself.

"Yes, I too will look around in the Yamato, before I make my Xmas list."

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

VETERAN COP IS SURPRISED.

Seventy Years Old and He's Still in the Ring.

Children to Be Taught Rules of Street Traffic.

Officers Named for Parade on New Year's Day.

PASADENA, Nov. 14.—Sergt. Albert O. Bristol, veteran police officer of Pasadena and the man who built the first house here, planted the first flower garden, and whose home is now in imminent danger of being whittled away by souvenir-hunting tourists, was given a surprise party last night to which practically all of the members of the police force were his guests. The occasion was his seventieth birthday.

When the time came for Bristol to quit his watch at 7 o'clock last night he was asked by Chief of Police Wood to step into the department automobile and go with him, Capt. O'Dell and Patrolman Shelton to the Chief's home.

"Look here, we've found out that you're having a birthday," the officers told him.

Despite his eagerness to go home, where he said some of his relatives were to have supper with him, the sergeant was kept at the Chief's home until the patrolmen had had time to gather at his own house, No. 591 Linden avenue. Bristol was then taken home in the car, and on entering his house, and turning on the electric lights, he found the entire department seated in his parlor. They had brought with them a handsome Morris chair, which was presented to him in token of the occasion. Refreshments were served and an enjoyable hour passed. The party was a complete surprise to the chief actor. Police Surgeon T. A. Williams paid the sergeant an eloquent tribute, calling him "the grand old man."

Sergt. Bristol came to Pasadena thirty-nine years ago with a party of Indianans. He has been a member of the police department for nineteen years, and for several years was himself the entire department. He then managed the Tournament of Roses crowd single-handed. Now over 100 policemen are required to do the work.

TEACH TRAFFIC RULES.

A unique plan has been hit upon by the members of the Andrew Jackson School Parent-Teacher Association. They would prevent accidents in the future by teaching the present children the laws of the road. Accordingly, they have introduced a custom in the school of teaching the pupils how to cross a congested street and what to do in case of accident. The lessons are taught by the school teachers along with the lessons in grammar and arithmetic, and the text-book used is one that has been prepared by Chief of Police Wood.

"I believe," said Chief Wood yesterday, "that 90 per cent of the accidents arise from failure to observe the ordinary rules of the road. If we begin educating the children in these rules possibly the next generation will not see so many accidents as are now occurring every day."

MARSHAL IS NAMED.

The board of directors of the Tournament of Roses Association has made partial arrangements for the New Year's Day parade. Leigh Guyer has been appointed grand marshal, Robert G. Neustadt, assistant grand marshal and Eric Kobbe, chief of staff.

It is declared by those who are at work on it that this year's programme will be larger and better than ever before. There will be chariot races at Tournament Park in the afternoon as usual, and between the heats of the races some exhibition horses will be shown.

C. N. Post, vice-president of the Pasadena National Bank, has been made chairman of the committee that will have charge of the street decorations, and plans are now on foot to decorate the city as it has never been decorated before.

The committee on private entries is composed of H. H. Sinclair, R. G. Neustadt, H. T. Fuller, H. I. Drummond and Robert Pitcairn, Jr.

TO ADVERTISE CITY.

H. H. Godber, a past president of the California Christan Endeavor Union now chairman of the publicity board for the international convention to be held in Los Angeles next July, whose office is in Pasadena, has made arrangements to advertise the Crown City on every piece of mail sent out. This means that attention to Pasadena and the advantages to be enjoyed here will be called to persons living in all parts of the United States, and that when the delegates and others come to the convention they will come with the determination that one of the places they must not return without seeing is Pasadena.

Godber is also planning the distribution of 40,000 cloth and paper pennants advertising Southern California in general.

CITY BRIEFS.

A bureau of information was opened at the postoffice yesterday. Miss Gertrude Hamilton has charge of it.

What promises to be one of the most enjoyable of ante-Christmas affairs that has been planned is an open house, which will be kept at the Annandale Country Club December 20. The clubhouse will be handsomely decorated for the occasion.

Indications are that there will be an unusually large attendance at the Board of Trade luncheon to be given at the Hotel Maryland tonight. Besides the addresses that are on the programme, there will be an informal discussion of questions of interest to Pasadenans this winter.

To a committee of club members the Shakespeare Club has referred the question of purchasing, for $100, the set of Shakespeare's works that belonged to the late Belmont Perry of this city. The books are declared to be worth many times this amount, but Mrs. Perry is desirous that they should become the property of the club. If they are purchased they will probably become the nucleus of a library later to be obtained by the club.

Thousands of seals advertising the Christmas shop, which is to be conducted at the furniture store of Broadway Brothers, for three days, beginning next Wednesday, have been distributed. They have been affixed to packages, and letters and sent to all parts of the country.

One of the most interesting High School football games of the season will take place next Saturday, when the Pasadena High School team will meet the team from the Santa Ana High School on the Santa Ana field. Pasadena must win the Santa Ana game in order to figure in the championship.

PETITION ASKS IMPROVEMENTS.

COMMITTEE'S AGGRESSIVE WORK BEARING FRUIT.

Appeal to Be Entered by City in Huntington Drive Improvement. Fair Oaks Avenue Property Owners Attend Meeting to Take Up Questions of Paving and Sewerage.

SOUTH PASADENA, Nov. 13.—A petition was presented to the Board of City Trustees yesterday evening requesting the improvement of Monterey road. It represents owners of 6481 feet of frontage and asks for the improvement from Fair Oaks avenue to the west end of the road.

This is the culmination of agressive work on the part of a committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and it is the intention to follow it with a similiar petition for Fair Oaks avenue.

A communication was received from the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company asking for a franchise for fifty years to maintain a system of gas-pipes along all the public streets of the city. To this communication was appended a draught of the franchise and the matter was referred to the board as a whole.

TO CARRY IT UP.

Judgment has been entered in the suit of Huntington drive property holders against the city, in which proceedings for the improvement of the drive were enjoined. The judgment practically finds that the city exhausted its rights to proceed with the improvement in its contract with the Pacific Electric Railway Company, by which the company agreed to pay one-fourth of the street improvement. The City Attorney was instructed with the appeal.

Redlands requested this city to join with others in a test case to determine the question of what rates the Edison Electric Company may charge. As this city is furnished power from the Pacific Light and Power Company, the City Clerk was instructed to notify Redlands the Edison company was not in South Pasadena.

A similiar communication was read from Pasadena, asking this city to join in an appeal to the Railroad Commission to establish the rates for the lighting by the Edison Electric Company, and this was referred to the Light Committee.

The resignation of N. Ledgerwood as fire marshal was accepted, effective October 25, at which date he assumed his duties as City Tax Collector.

Andrew Holloway was given an extension of thirty days from November 17 for the return of the assessment on Mission street, and an extension of ninety days from November 23, on his contract for the improvement of Huntington drive.

PROPERTY OWNERS OUT.

More than twenty property owners on Fair Oaks avenue attended the meeting last evening in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce to discuss questions relative to the improvement of that street. The opinion was unanimous that the paving should be undertaken, and that only the highest class of material should be used.

The question as to whether a sewer line should be laid before the paving is laid, was settled by recommendation of Trustee Hawgood and other expert engineers, that two main lines of sewers be laid in the street, one under each gutter. This method will be necessary from Monterey Road to Oneonta Park, because of the private right of way of the railroad and because of the shortening of lateral connections, this would be no more expensive north of Monterey. Under this plan the gutters would be laid of concrete or stone blocks, so that they could be easily removed for the laying of any pipes whatever, while the paving itself would not be disturbed.

To settle the question of the type of paving to be used, a committee was appointed consisting of T. W. Gillette, E. N. Grant, F. D. Butterfield, J. C. Lanning, and John D. Reavis. Before making recommendations they will consult with paving experts and with property holders on the street.

The opinion of the meeting was decidedly in favor of installing electric lighting posts on Fair Oaks, the single globe system such as it used on Orange Grove avenue in Pasadena, being strongly preferred. The same committee was instructed to investigate the lighting question also and to report at a future meeting. Trustee Sutton said that the city would undoubtedly pay for the electricity necessary to maintain the lights.

BOYD FUNERAL.

The funeral service of James P. Boyd, a pioneer resident of this city, who passed away at his home, No. 1715 Rollins street, yesterday afternoon, will be held at his late residence tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. G. W. Coultas, pastor of the Methodist Church of Whittier and a former pastor in this city, officiating, with interment in Mountain View Cemetery.

Long Beach.

WOMAN IS DEAD OF STARVATION.

Endeavored to Cure Case of Stomach Trouble.

School Official Criticiss Local Curriculum.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 13.—A death certificate filed today by Dr. W. H. Newman, with the city health office, certifies to "starvation" as the cause of the passing of Mrs. Elsie Crewe.

Mrs. Crewe, who was a native of Missouri and 59 years old, came here a year ago from St. Louis, accompanied by her daughters. A sufferer from stomach trouble she became interested in a book which maintained that fasting was one of the best cures for such disorders. Adopting this as a method of relief, she went for thirty-seven days without food.

At the end of that time her condition was such that she was persuaded to begin taking food, but it was found that the long fast had seriously impaired the digestive organs, which refused their functions and Mrs. Crewe was unable to retain anything she ate. Under these conditions she grew weaker and weaker and Dr. Newman was called in, but found her condition baffling to medical science, and the woman slowly starved to death. The remains were taken to Los Angeles yesterday and cremated.

BROTHERS ARRESTED.

William and Isaac Zetel, ladies' tailors, were arrested this afternoon for battery on W. J. Roberts, another business man. The trouble occured in Zetel's tailor shop when Ward objected to an extra charge of $5 on two suits of clothes, and tendering the tailors the price agreed upon started out of the door, when the brothers attacked him.

Ward floored Isaac and was pummeling him when William leaped upon him and bit a piece of flesh nearly out of Ward's forehead just over the eye. Passers-by interfered and the arrest of the brothers followed.

CHANGE THEIR MINDS.

The City Council at a special meeting last night, reconsidered its decision of the morning in deferring for one week action on a request to incorporate an alternative proposition on the liquor question in the proposed charter amendments.

Interviews with constituents during the afternoon convinced them that their action in denying both sides a fair show was being resented and at last night's meeting the alternative proposition was incorporated in the amendments on which an election will be called December 20.

The alternative measure is identical with the initiative except that it permits hotels of 200 or more rooms to serve liquors to its registered guests, the same privilege as is granted to citizens in their own homes in the initiative ordinance.

Superintendent Stephens, the new head of the public schools, sharply criticised the school situation at a meeting of the Board of Education last night, when one member questioned the advisability of reducing the number of sloyd lessons and providing for a supervisor of penmanship.

"The trouble with your school situation," said Prof. Stephens, "is that you are giving time to music, art and sloyd, of which a part could be given more profitably to reading, writing and arithmetic. I do not think, for instance, that it is at all necessary or essential to have two music supervisors, two art supervisors and an extra sloyd teacher in the grammar schools. The penmanship of the Long Beach schools is poor and immediate steps should be taken for its improvement, and the wiping out of every vestige of the vertical system."

After a long discussion the recommendation was adopted unanimously.

An increase of 427 students over last year's enrollment in the grammar schools has conjested the present buildings so that more room is imperatively needed and the school board will call a district meeting November 25 to instruct the board to call an election for a bond issue to erect three new school buildings, one on East Fourth, one on Temple and one on Linden avenue. A bond issue was voted for these buildings a year ago, but the bonds were not bid for because of technical errors in the proceedings.

Superintendent Stephens is of the opinion also that within a year the present Polytechnic High School will have to be enlarged, although when built two years ago, it was expected it would serve needs for several years.

PROPELLER RECOVERED.

E. F. Lefevre, a professional diver from San Pedro, today recovered the propeller of the launch Tillicum, which dropped off Monday night east of the outer wharf. Lefevre was under water forty-five minutes before he located the propeller.

QUIT TALKING ABOUT RHEUMATISM AND GOUT

It's all ridiculous, absurd and preposterous to talk about Rheumatism and Gout when you can get Trunk's Prescription for Rheumatism and Gout for $1.50, or Six Prescriptions for $7.50. You simply cannot suffer with Rheumatism in any form if you will get Trunk's Prescription and use it according to the directions.

It is really a pity and a shame to talk about Rheumatism and Gout, much less suffer with it, when you know you can get rid of it with Trunk's Prescription, beyond any question of doubt. This Prescription does not ruin the stomach, and it does not depress the heart; it does not contain any Mercury, Salicylate of Soda, Aspirin, Oil of Wintergreen, Morphine or Opium.

But it does get rid of your Rheumatism. What more do you want? There is nothing just as good, and it is impossible to get something better. This Prescription is also a very excellent Liver Medicine.

UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT.

Redondo Beach Hotel is Opened up and Strand Society Makes it a Notable Event.

REDONDO BEACH, Nov. 13.—Redondo Beach's society was out en masse last evening at the informal reception given at Hotel Redondo by the new management to residents of the town. The event was in the nature of a "good-fellowship" reception for the residents of Redondo Beach and was one of the most brilliant gatherings held in the hotel for years.

Masses of scarlet geraniums, carnations and asparagus fern decorated the spacious lobby, mingling with the antique oak of the room in an effective manner and the same color scheme was carried out in the parlors and ballroom.

Card tables were placed in the parlors and billiard-rooms and many enjoyed this pastime, while others danced in the ballroom, where the Schoneman and Blanchard orchestra discoursed dance music. Punch was served throughout the evening.

The reception marks a new regime for the hotel, under the management of T. C. Lynch, formerly of the Green Hotel, and many improvements are planned for the hotel under the new management.

The guests this evening were Messrs. and Mmes. S. D. Barkley, O. P. Brady, F. C. Slingluff, E. C. Thomas, A. L. Walton, A. L. Monahan, J. P. Erickson, R. E. Matheson, J. P. Luxford, H. C. Howard, B. FAIR AFFAIRS.

Arrangements are all completed for the "country fair" to be held tomorrow and next day in the pavilion auditorium under the auspices of the Woman's Club. The executive committee, composed of Mrs. W. A. Galentine, Mrs. C. C. Mangold and Mrs. E. T. Thompson, assisted by the sub-committees have made and carried out elaborate plans for the event. Many of the business firms will have booths, while a good luck camp, a delicatessen and an art booth are other features. Spanish dinners will be served both evenings and a baby show held each afternoon and vaudeville programmes in the evenings. The proceeds of the fair are to be used for a building fun for a new clubhouse.

RESULT UNCHANGED.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 13.—The official count in this county made no material change in the results. For the first electors, the vote was the same, showing 5137 for Roosevelt and 4411 for Wilson. R. W. Bull, a Roosevelt elector, lost twenty-eight votes in Precinct 7, Santa Ana. In Precinct 5, all the Roosevelt electors except Wallace lost ninety-one votes because the election board thought it unnecessary to tally for any elector but the first on the list. The Democrats lost eighty-four in the same precinct in the same way.

Are You Sick?

Manology Will Cure You

What is MANOLOGY? MANOLOGY is the Gospel of Healing, the most wonderful book of this era, and is a Balm for every ill. It is the Greatest and most Powerful Curative Agent, performing veritable Miracles in bringing Health to the afflicted. Dr. S. A. Richmond is the author and promulgator of MANOLOGY. His wonderful cures, based on the knowledge of Manology, have astounded the people. Professors, Physicians, Ministers of the Gospel and critics of every sort are dumfounded in the presence of his astounding success. Hundreds are being continually cured where others have failed, giving sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, making the lame walk, and curing every disease that afflicts the human family.

Stories of cripples hobbling on their crutches into trains from all parts of the country, bound for Los Angeles and later, returning to their homes carrying their crutches under their arms and sounding the praise of the great doctor, are told daily in Los Angeles, and are spread broadcast throughout the land.

Many come on crutches and go away leaping and shouting for joy, thankful that Dr. Richmond has found the key to Manology that heals every known disease. Ear Trumpets are laid aside, Trusses, Bandages, Braces, Canes, Crutches, Pipes and Tobacco, Morphine Habit, etc., quickly, speedily and permanently cured. Drugs of every kind and character are laid aside as of no further use. Cases after cases could be cited including every known disease—Cancer, Tumors, Rheumatism, Asthma, Consumption, Constipation, Stomach Troubles, Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia—each and every one are cured by this wonderful power of Manology healing. Skepticism melts away like dew in the light of Dr. Richmond's facts.

Wonderful it appears to be according to the testimony of hundreds who have been healed right here in Los Angeles. Dr. Richmond cures all who wish it without money and without price. When asked, "How do you live?" the Doctor replied: "By teaching the laws of life, and by selling my literature, lessons and books on MANOLOGY."

WANTS AN EARLY TRIAL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When Joe Foxen, aged 20, appeared yesterday before Judge Rizor for his preliminary hearing on the charge of murdering pretty Clorinda Gutierrez, aged 17, last week, he interrupted proceedings by requesting a speedy trial so as, he said, he could get the matter over with.

Foxen killed the girl as she was emerging from the parochial school. He said the act was prompted by her refusal to dance with him.

The examination developed the same line of testimony as that produced at the Coroner's inquest, and resulted in the holding of Foxen without bonds, to answer to the Superior Court.

"I want a speedy trial. I don't want to be fooling around here. I've got to come to it anyway and the sooner the better. I've been there before and it's better than here," was the youth's statement, made after he had been bound over.

MARTIN'S NEW FACTORY.

Secures Site at Newport Bay and Plans to Experiment in Hydro-Aeroplanes.

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 13.—Workmen employed by the Glenn L. Martin Company started erecting this morning a big tent on lot No. 168, adjoining the South Coast Yacht Club at East Newport, which will provide shelter for the Martin hydro-aeroplane already on the ground until a permanent building for the company is finished.

The Glenn L. Martin Company was recently organized with a capital stock of $100,000. The officers and stockholders are: Glenn L. Martin, president; W. S. Collins, vice-president; W. A. Zimmerman, secretary and treasurer, and William Loftus and C. Y. Martin.

A deal was made with the East Newport Town Company Monday whereby lots nots 168 and 170 were taken on a two years' option to purchase at a price of $22,000. The site has a frontage on Newport Bay of 350 feet, and on it will be erected a permanent studded building with a pile foundation, 50x100 feet, large enough to contain three machines.

The purpose of the company is to build new machines and teach novices the art of flying.

Martin experimented with his hydro-aeroplane on Newport Bay last spring before he made his flight to Catalina and return. He has studied out a number of features, which, he says, are improvements, one of which will be to set the engine lower down and enlarge the pontoons. This will reduce the tendency of the machines to be topheavy and Martin says that it will be much safer to fly over water than over land.

The eight square miles of still water on Newport Bay was the inducement that brought Martin here to experiment with his hydro-aeroplanes.

BANNING WOMEN ARE ALERT.

Political Science Attracts Them and Club Meetings Are Devoted to Discussing Civic Problems.

BANNING, Nov. 13.—Banning women are taking up the regular work of civic improvement and political science which has heretofore been handled by the men of this locality.

At a meeting of the Woman's Club there were addresses by women on the subjects, "The Duties of the Legislature" and "The Duties of the Governor." The ladies also secured data on the subject of incorporation of cities by securing the presence of Robert M. Hargue of Colton, who spoke on the subject of "Incorporation of Cities of the Sixth Class."

IN FOREIGN LANDS.

J. A. Gray, pioneer merchant of the town of Beaumont, has been heard from in Central America after a long absence from home. He is traveling for a large oil company of which the late John W. Gates was the head.

The case of Mr. Gray shows the loyalty which Mr. Gates displayed towards his friends. Gray failed in business a few years ago and applied to Gates, who was his friend of childhood, for a position, which Gates gladly gave him, insisting however that he must start at the bottom of the ladder and prove his efficiency. Gray proved himself to be a more successful oil salesman than merchant and before Gates's death in Paris, the ex-merchant had gained a prominent place in the oil world.

TEACHERS DEMAND THAT PRINTING BE KEPT CLEAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The annual County Teachers' Institute, attended by more than 200 teachers closed this afternoon. The three-days' sessions were marked by addresses by leading educators of the State, the institute as a whole being considered the most successful ever held in this county.

Just prior to adjournment the institute passed a number of resolutions, the most important of which related to the free text-book amendment which carried at the last State election. It follows:

"Since the last county convention the electorate of the State has expressed its approval of an act by which the State shall furnish free text-books to the graded schools. While we approve of free text-books, we regret that with them must come such a change in the State school system as may make it the target for political manipulattors in the Legislature. We believe that the educational interests of the State should be kept out of politics and we therefore urge the members-elect to the Legislature from Santa Barbara county to do their part toward establishing a system of control by which the educational interests of the State may be placed in the hands of capable, efficient, public-spirited men, having at heart the best interests of the Statesmen, who, under long tenure of office, may administer the system for the good of the people, free from political considerations. To this end we also urge the educational council of the State Teachers' Association to do its part toward making the coming change a benefit rather than an injury to our State school system."

WOMEN SMOKED OUT IN SMOKER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A smoker exclusively for women is an innovation in Riverside social circles. Unaccustomed to such peculiarly masculine functions the women of All-Saints Episcopal Church were actually "smoked out" of the parish-house late this afternoon. The cause, however, is attributed to the firing of a rubbish pile in the rear of the building. The smoke finally being found to issue from beneath the floor, the department quenched the blaze after a persistent hour's fight.

NEIGHBORS PAY TRIBUTE.

Promising Career of Young Ventura Man Is Ended by Death—Short News Stories.

VENTURA, Nov. 13.—The funeral of the late Oliver B. Dunn of Camarillo, this county, took place under Masonic auspices, and was largely attended.

Mr. Dunn was one of the most prosperous and progressive of the younger bean growers of the county and with splendid prospects ahead of him. He took sick only recently and it was found necessary, because of his peculiar ailment and its seriousness, to have him sent to Chicago for treatment by a specialist in blood diseases. He died soon after his arrival in the eastern city. His body was returned here for burial. He was a member of Oxnard Masonic lodge and it was through that lodge that the services were conducted, though in this city all the members of the local order turned out. The services took place at the Presbyterian Church, the sermon being preached by Rev. James B. Stone.

Word has been received here of the death of young Chester Miller, son of Mrs. Maude Miller, a former resident of this city. The youth died in a hospital at Hollywood, yesterday, following an operation for appendicitis. He was aged 18 years and was a pupil in the Hollywood High School.

Pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of the Plaza grammar school have been removed to the former High School building, where they will take up their quarters in future. The former building and site of the High School was acquired by purchase by the local Board of Education and the old building has been remodeled for use of the grammar school grades, which were becoming much crowded for room. The board is now seeking a name for the new school and is asking patrons to suggest names from which to choose a fitting one.

A partial distribution of the estate of the late Nancy Taylor has been made among the several heirs, who are Mrs. Alice Grubb, Edward Taylor and Charles Taylor, an incompetent. HER FATHER OBJECTS.

Asserts His Son-in-Law Perjured Himself in Giving Girl's Age Falsely to Marriage License Clerk.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A warrant was issued here today for the arrest of Albert I. De Rosa, of Los Angeles, formerly employed there as a janitor, on a charge of perjury. On October 26 he was married to Annie Montana by Justice of the Peace Fullerton of Orange. Joe Cesano and C. A. Lombard, both of Los Angeles, were the witnesses. De Rosa gave his age as 27, the girl's as 21.

Today Andrew Montana, father of the girl, informed Dist.-Atty. West that the girl was but 16 years old. Montana is anxious to separate the girl from De Rosa, saying he preferred prosecuting the man to allowing the girl to live with him.

De Rosa and his girl-wife live at No. 335 South Avenue 21 in Los Angeles. His friends say his actions have long been peculiar. He is from Mexico.

Sullivan & Considine Road Show is attracting overflowing audiences to the Empress Theater this week at every performance, and the bill, with "The Waltz Dream" as the feature, has been generally acclaimed as one of the best attractions that have yet been seen on this stage.

Next week's bill will bring to the local Empress the first of the Lew Fields's musical-comedy productions, known as "Fun in a Delicatessen Shop," presented by a splendid company headed by the well-known comedian, Frank Bernard.

The second feature of the new bill will be Walter Browne and his associate players in the powerful drama in two scenes, "His Father's Son," while others to be seen will be Barney Gilmore, the well-known Irish singer; Alf Holt, the globe-trotting mimic and comedian; Weston & Leon, and Long & Ling, acrobatic comedians, and the new comedy and news pictures.

"The Holy City," this week's presentation at the Mozart Grand-Avenue Theater, is attracting a large and appreciative audience. This beautiful scenic offering in moving pictures includes portrayals of many Biblical events and scenes in the life of Christ. Educational and instructive photo-plays, such as Manager Mozart has been making a specialty of in his weekly programmes, cannot fail to find a host of admirers, and this is easily attested by this week's large patronage. One of the particular charms of the leading feature is the musical accompaniment, "The Holy City" being sung on the auxetephone during the presentation of the Biblical play.

The management of the popular Sunday-afternoon concerts announces today the engagement of Miss Gertrude Cohen, one of Los Angeles' most brilliant and gifted of pianists, for the concert next Sunday. Miss Cohen will play the difficult Saint-Saens concerto for piano and orchestra, a composition which she has played with many European orchestras and which she gave last winter in New York, when she was specially engaged to go there for a series of concerts with the Philharmonic Orchestra.

Fred G. Ellis, president of the Music Teachers' Association, will give baritone solos, and the orchestra, under the baton of Eduardo Lebegott, has already aroused wide interest in Los Angeles.

The concert for next Sunday at the Auditorium Theater will begin at 3 o'clock sharp and the programme will be as follows:

Prometheus, arrangement (Beethoven,) Second Concerto, "Saint-Saens." Miss Cohen; concert overture, F Minor, M. F. Mason; prologue, "Il Pagliacci," Fred G. Ellis; Symphonie La Gazza Ladra, Rossini.

The eighty-ninth organ recital of Archibald Sessions, recently returned from Paris, will be given tonight at 8:15 o'clock in Christ Church. Numbers from Wagner, Rossini, Debussy Tschaikowsky will be rendered.

COUNTY ASSOCIATIONS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There will be a gathering of representatives of the Fish and Game Protective Association in this city next Saturday. The meeting has been called by the California Fish and Game Commission for the purpose of organizing the protective association into county associations.

It is likely that the conference will bring here a number of State officials from Sacramento and delegates from the counties interested. The conference will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

WALNUTS IN FILMS.

S. S. Hutchinson, president of the American Film Manufacturing Company, today visited the Goleta district and was so interested in the walnut industry that he decided to produce it in moving pictures. Arrangements were made with Phillip Marble, superintendent of the Goleta storehouse, which is believed will result in a picture there of much activity.

Other views will show the method of handling the walnuts from the time they are emptied from the wagons until placed on the car, ready to be shipped East.

The work of harvesting the nuts will also be shown.

BROKE A PROPELLER.

Officers in command of the U.S.S. Vicksburg, which broke her propeller in the Santa Barbara Channel Saturday night, prepared today to have the craft towed to the Mare Island navy yard. The tug Iroquois arrived late this evening to do the towing.

MONSTER SNAKE LOOSE IN VENICE.

VENICE, Nov. 13.—John Makin, proprietor of a restaurant, went into the cellar today and was greatly frightened by coming face to face with a python ten feet long and six inches through.

After sizing up the reptile he hastily made his way upstairs, and, with his cook, two waiters and a half-dozen customers who had procured a box, they repaired to the basement again to find the snake gone.

Now Makin does not imbibe, and found that the python had escaped under the boardwalk in that vicinity through an opening in the foundations. It is recalled that the Barnes show reported a python lost here last winter, and the residents of the ocean front are much perturbed over the fact that the reptile is loose.

Makin, the restaurateur, now knows who stole the rabbits he kept in his cellar for discriminating patrons.

STOCK LETTER.

NEW WORK, Nov. 13.—The stock market as a whole just about held its own today. The active issues were, as a result of the day's trading, quoted much differently from the level which prevailed last night, with the exception of smelters, which for quite a period has been under pressure, owing to the fact that the dividend was not increased at the last meeting and in view of the fears that legislation inimical to the company's interests may be enacted at next session of Congress. Steel acted somewhat better, as copper did, it being reported that London and the continent were moderate buyers of the metal stocks on balance. The advices from the other side relative to the situation in the Balkans were more cheerful and suggestive of efforts on the part of the powers to force at least a temporary cessation of hostilities in an effort to arrange peace. The stock market outlook has not altered materially during the past few days, except in the sense that the short interest has expanded still quite a few week accounts have been eliminated. Conditions still appear such as to warrant a conservative course, and judging by the action of call money rates today it is not improbable that any disposition to force rising tendencies in the stock market would be quickly reflected by a pronounced hardening of accounts.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

There were no changes of importance in market prices of produce yesterday. The supply is very good and just about keeps up with the demand.

There was a considerable quantity of berries on the market for this time of the year. Strawberries were selling from 4 to 12 cents a basket, and very fancy stock which brings a good price, having arrived. Blackberries were selling around 9 cents a basket, and raspberries from 12 to 15. Fresh figs were selling around $1.50 for good stock, and are still on the market in fairly large quantities. Persimmons are quoted at 7 to 9 cents and are very much in evidence. Receipts of apples were 2402 boxes.

Prices on sweet potatoes and tomatoes exhibited no changes of importance. Onions and potatoes were also quite steady. Receipts of onions were 900 sacks and 2600 sacks of potatoes came in. There was quite a large quantity of peas on the market.

Eggs were firm, although an advance in the prices of ranch stock is expected. Receipts were fifty-seven cases. Butter receipts were 18,000 pounds, and 2600 pounds of cheese came in. Northern fresh cheese was offered as low as 17½ cents, and still appears rather weak. The market will probably not remain in this state for any length of time, however. Prices should be steady again soon.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Union Provident and United Petroleum Stronger—Union Oil Shows a Decline During Day.

The morning session opened somewhat quieter on the Union issues, and for a time, activity was apparently more general. This probably was due to the fact that there was nothing new of a substantial nature concerning the negotiations for the companies. Later on Union Oil awakened and sold off from yesterday's close, forty-two shares changing hands at 99. A further decline of an eighth of a point occurred, and ten shares changed hands at 98.87½. These were all the sales in the morning.

During the afternoon session, the trading was much brisker. The stock showed a falling off from morning prices in the first sales, twenty shares changing hands at 98.75. Following this, it declined an eighth of a point, fifty shares selling at 98.62½. Then two shares sold at 98.50. Following this sale, the stock reacted. Thirty shares sold at 98.75, and fifty at 98.87½. A falling off was apparent again before the close, fifty shares selling on the down-turn at 98.75. Closing quotations were 98.62½ bid, 98.87½ asked. Many of the shares changed hands in fitful spurts of trading.

The first sales in Union Provident were for cash, a quarter of a point below yesterday's closing transaction. Forty shares changed hands on this basis, at 104. Following this, two more were traded on a time basis. In the afternoon, the stock was stronger by two points, but only ten shares changed hands at 106. Closing quotations were 105.75 bid, and 106.25 asked, showing a considerably better tone than the close of the preceding day. United Petroleum was much more in evidence in the afternoon yesterday, selling steadily at 106, one hundred shares changing hands. The stock also showed a better tone at the close, 106 being the bid and 106.50 the asked price.

There was a fair amount of activity in the other oil issues. Ten shares of Associated Oil changed hands for cash at 45.50, and twenty on time basis for 45.25. Ten shares of Amalgamated sold for cash at 58.75. New Pednsylvania Oil was a little more active than usual and the following were the sales: 100 shares at 53½, 100 at 54, 100 at 54½ and 100 at 55. Offboard thirty shares of Traders Oil sold at 69.

Searchlight Parallel mining stock was active, and at the opening, 5000 shares sold at 1 1-8. Interest centered around the issue for a time after this, and 7000 shares changed hands altogether, at 1 3-8. Four thousand shares of Consolidated Mines sold at 5 7-8, and 1000 at 5 3-4.

BERRY SIGNS AN OUTFIELDER.

Los Angeles Magnate Secures Wotell of Syracuse.

Baum Signs New Ump and Will Retain Three

Cal Ewing Resigns from Board of Arbitration.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Henry Berry has added another player to his list. Today he signed Wotell, an outfielder from Syracuse, New York State League, who is a free agent. Wotell was with Syracuse last year, but did not have a good season and was given a release. He is said to be a fast man and a fair hitter.

Announcement was made at St. Joseph, Mo., today, of the sale of Pitcher Charles Jackson to the Los Angeles club. Jackson is a big right-hand twirler. He is a veteran of the league, having served virtually all his career with Denver, Pueblo, Topeka, Wichita and St. Joseph.

He was purchased by St. Joseph to finish the season, but refused to report, except with the understanding that an effort would be made to place him in the Coast League, as Joe Berger, a former team-mate, had written him regarding that organization. He has always been with losing clubs, but his percentage has been near the .500 mark each year.

Hap Hogan has not turned a deal so far as actual trades are concerned, although he looks the busiest proposition at the convention. Everybody has heard of Hogan, who is quite an attraction. He proposed a number of trades to Walter McCredie this evening and was just as gravely accepted. The two shook hands on their deals and then promptly forgot them.

One was to trade Carson for Koestner, and the other, Brown for Howley. Neither deal was anything more than a joke. The Coast League delegation, in fact, is by far the most conspicuous one in Milwaukee. Chicago newspaper men complain the coasters are the only ones to do any business and produce any news, and it looks to be about right.

NEW UMP FOR COAST.

The signing of Garnett Bush, former National League umpire, to work out on the Pacific Coast next season; the announcement of Matty McIntyre that he intends going into business in Chicago, and would under no consideration think of playing ball with the Seals, and the decision reached by the Pacific Northwestern League that its fight for higher classification would have to be abandoned, were the main

DE PALMA WILL QUIT RACE GAME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ralph De Palma, famous auto racer, and his wife stayed at Ranger Mussall's ranch-house on the Santa Ynez River Tuesday night. De Palma and his wife did not drive in from the main road in a 100-horse-power racing machine, but reached the camp on foot by the trail, De Palma carrying a forty-pound pack and his wife carrying a few necessities of trail life.

De Palma has tired of the auto as a means of travel and is trying this hike, which will end in Santa Maria or some place further north, as a new and slower means of covering ground. He is still suffering from two broken ribs and other internal injuries received in his accident at Milwaukee.

In the conversation between Ranger Mussall, De Palma told of his future plans. The racer will enter two more races and will then retire to land he owns at Vancouver.

Championship!

WHO'S TO JUDGE RITCHIE-AD GO?

WOLGAST WILL TAKE ROONEY NORTH WITH HIM.

The Champion Says He Can't See Ritchie At All as a Contender. Willie to Train at Shannons, Wolgast at Seal Rocks—Choice of Referee.

Ad Wolgast will leave Friday or Saturday night for San Francisco to go into training for his fight with Willie Ritchie for the lightweight championship of the world.

"I hope there aren't many people who have the same opinion of Ritchie that I have," said Ad last night. "Or there won't be anybody at the fight. Ritchie doesn't amount to anything. He was a good newspaper 'story' at the time that he fought Freddie Welsh in my place and he has been living on that reputation ever since. I don't figure him at all."

Ad will train at the Seal Rocks Hotel. His rubber will be Willie Rooney, who was the trainer of Joe Rivers. "Tom Jones will pick up a couple of local boys for me to box with. I don't care who they are."

Ad says that he does not intend to box any for the first week of his training, merely roughing it in the gymnasium and on the road.

Yesterday, he placed a bet that Joe Mandot will not stop or knockout Joe Rivers. Having fought both, Wolgast thinks that the Mexican stands more than a good chance with Mandot if he trains faithfully.

"Rivers is a dandy hitter," said Ad. "He can not only hit about the hardest of any lightweight now in the ring, but he can hit correctly."

Rivers has not expressed an opinion; but Mandot says that Wolgast can beat Ritchie without much difficulty.

WILLIE RITCHIE.
HIS TRAINING.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 13.—[Special Dispatch.] With the return today from Los Angeles of Billy Nolan plans for Willie Ritchie's preparation for his fight with Ad Wolgast on Thanksgiving afternoon were laid. Willie will go over to Shannon's training quarters tomorrow with two or three training mates and a professional rubber. All of his assistants will be picked with extreme care, especially in the case of a rough boxer of the Wolgast style.

The Wolgast admirers expected Ritchie to ask Hobo Dougherty, Wolgast's retired sparring partner, to join his camp in order to get some inside information from the champion, but Ritchie has not given Hobo a thought. Ritchie's $1000 forfeit was posted with Coffroth today, leaving the selection of a referee to be settled. That Wolgast will hold out for Jack Welsh is the general expectation, but if Coffroth has his way about it, Jim Griffin would be the third man in the ring.

KANGAROO WARATAHS TURN TROJANS TO PIGMIES.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

WARATAHS, 41; U. S. C., 0.

Yes, Stephen, real Rugby is rather a live little game and after seeing the famous Australian Waratahs in action yesterday on Bovard Field against the Trojans, it is little wonder that the type of play produced by American teams has been severely criticised by the experts.

For years we have been laboring along, watching two teams tear at each other's throats as well as at the ball, and have tried to get a thrill out of the game, but said thrill has nearly always been of a negative nature. Now the Australians trot out on the field in their faded blue suits, looking like average human beings, but oh, what a sight once they get to going.

The game old Trojans were rushed off their feet by a dazzling assortment of the most brilliant Rugby that has ever been seen in the South. Play followed play with such rapidity that it was almost impossible to keep track of the flying pigskin as it was swept down the field toward the goal line.

Each member of the Australian team has every known trick of the game at his finger tips and knows just when to use it. For the first time in the history of the game here, open play was the order of the day. The ball was passed all over the field by the speedy Waratahs and the U. S. C. backs spent the afternoon tackling the wrong man, which is rather discouraging. However, the Trojans played a much better game than at any previous time this season, when the terrific odds against them are taken into consideration.

OPEN ORDER ORDERED.

Manning sent his men into the contest with orders to open up, and, like good soldiers, they obeyed orders. Because of this, the Trojans were able to work the ball to the Waratah line several times and on various occasions nearly broke away for a score.

The game was a great lesson in the fine art of Rugby and will undoubtedly be of great material value to the southern teams who watched the struggle yesterday. The men from over the water used tactics never heard of before and got away with these so fast that the whole field was in a continual quandary as to what was being done and what would happen next.

At 3:20 p.m., the Australians trotted on the field and began to frisk around with the ball like a lot of kittens. They took very little preliminary warming-up practice, but their ability to handle the ball like a lot of circus acrobats soon got the bleacher goat. During the wait for the appearance of the U. S. C. team, the Trojan band wrecked all the harmony of the surrounding country. Two bass horns and drums were the only instruments that seemed to have any idea of the tunes that were attempted. When the Trojans flocked on the field and started to pass up and down, the band was drowned out by the rousing reception tendered the team.

WARATAHS ARE OFF.

A few minutes later the game was on with a rush, when Capt. Prentice of the Waratahs kicked off to Murphy of the Trojans. The big U. S. C. Irishman kicked to touch. Scrum was formed and all waited with bated breath to see what the first scrum formations of the day would show. In went the ball, then a wild yell arose from the Trojan stands, the local scrum took the ball cleanly away from the famous front row of the Waratahs, Patterson received Alber's pass and kicked to touch on the Australian's 1-yard line, amid more Bedlam. The Waratahs fought out of danger by dribbling, but Patterson again nailed the ball and booted down the field to the same spot as before.

The Waratahs again dribbled out of danger by some clever footwork, placing the ball on their own 25-yard line. The U.S.C. forwards then rucked the ball over the line, but Jones was too fast, and came tearing out from behind the line, dodging about a dozen flying Trojans and kicked to touch for a good gain. So far the play had been in the Australian side of the field, but the joy of the home guard was doomed to sudden ruin.

U. S. C.'s GOAL LINE.

On the next scrum the ball went sailing down to the U.S.C. 15-yard line, where Ted Secor averted a try by booting to touch from under the very cleats of the rushing enemy. Another scrum and the Waratah forwards took the ball, dribbling it to the Trojan 1-yard line. In this mess it went over, but Davis fell on the rolling balloon, saving the score once more. After the drop-out, the same brilliant dribbling tactics took the ball to the U.S.C. goal-line. Scrum was formed and again the ball went out to Australia. This time Capt. Prentice started a passing rush that went all the way across the field, Wogan going over the line for the first score of the game, in the extreme corner of the field. Kent missed a very difficult goal. Score: Waratahs, 3; U.S.C., 0.

It took ten minutes to make the first score, but the second was romped over the last line in jig time.

SNODGRASS IS OUTFIELD STAR.

Giant Shows Flash World's Series Form.

Catches Five Fly Balls and Drops One.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Fred Snodgrass of the New York Giants gave a flash of world's series form in the benefit game for Hughey Smith at Washington Park yesterday, when he caught five fly balls, and dropped one. To have seen anything like that in the late unpleasantness between New York and Boston would have cost you a week's wages, but those present yesterday saw it for all the way from 25 cents to four bits, the same depending on whether you disported yourself in the grand stand or warmed a scantling in the bleachers.

Weber's assorted All-Stars defeated Los Angeles, 8 to 4, and something like $500 was realized for sweet charity. Charity is nearly always sweet. True, I have been charitable all my life, and no one has yet accused me of being sweet, but mine is an aggravated case. However, all these things dwindled into insignificance alongside of Snodgrass's sensational work in center field. Flanked on one side by "Rube" Ellis of the Cardinals and on the other by Jack Bliss, also of the Cardinals, Snodgrass insisted on playing all three fields. He caught fly balls on his eyebrow, and picked others off hat signs on the fence. His solitary muff was executed on a fly by Boles in the eighth. It was one of these "impossible" chances, and had he been wise in his day and generation, he would not have monkeyed with it.

By some dark and mysterious means Johnny Kane got into the Los Angeles line-up. They stationed him at third base. His stop of Olson's Arizona drive in the fourth was easily the fielding disturbance of the game. This made "Speed" McDonnell intensely jealous, and he refused to speak to Johnny after the game. "Speed" was playing third for the All-Stars, and he wasn't fortunate enough to have a hard chance come his way. Charley Cheek pitched awhile. Puffing like a porpoise he relinquished in favor of Walter Slagle at the end of the fourth. The All-Stars had but one regular pitcher, Walter Leverenz. Walt grew weary about the fifth, and traded places with Ole Olson of Cleveland, who had been playing third. Ole pitched quite a game. They were able to make only four runs off him.

Aside from the numerous things mentioned, Tom Darmody's umpiring was the feature of the game. Just why Tom insists on trying to umpire is a mystery. His friends have begged him to emulate the example of Cy Townsend and Phil Knell and retire, but he sticks to his purpose like a piece of molasses candy.

It was a neck-and-neck race for two whole innings. Then in the third the All-Stars ambled along with four runs, the product of enthusiastic and consecutive hits by Thomas, Cheek, Leverenz, Snodgrass and Ellis, and a couple of enthusiastic and consecutive low throws by Walter Boles. Walt isn't in mid-season form, and doesn't pretend to be. Singles by Thomas and Cheek, a double by Leverenz, a triple by Snodgrass, and another single by the eminent "Rube" Ellis, gave the All-Stars four more runs in the fourth, and a lead which was commanding in every sense of the word.

When Dillon appeared at the plate in the fourth he was presented with a gold watch with a diamond attachment by the Angel club directors. Tom Darmody delivering the high-priced junk in well-rounded phrases.

Los Angeles rebelled in the seventh, when stinging blows by Dillon, Boles, Lober and Slagle, with an able sacrifice fly by Wally-Nagle germinated two runs. A single by Dillon, and Snodgrass's aforementioned muff, gave them the residue of their runs in the eighth.

LONG BEACH PREPARED FOR SAN DIEGO TEAM.

San Diego High School and Long Beach High are to meet on the football field Saturday afternoon. This should be one of the best prep school football games played in California this season.

Both teams are strong combinations, but odds slightly favor the Long Beach boys. They have not lost a game this season and R. D. Elliott, the coach, has developed a style of play that would do credit to many college elevens.

San Diego has had hard luck all season. Minor injuries have interfered with the progress of the team considerably and parental objections have kept some of the best players of the school from playing the game.

San Diego lost to Pasadena High last Saturday by a small score, but the team has picked up wonderfully during the week and it is expected that it will put up a stronger game this Saturday than at any time this season.

Long Beach High has been on the road almost all season and this game which is to be played on the home field is second in importance to the "big game" with Pasadena, Thanksgiving Day.

FIFTY-SEVEN ENTRIES IN BOXING TOURNAMENT.

Large List of Men Available for Great Amateur Contests to Be Held at Los Angeles Athletic Club—Four Good Ones Arrive from San Francisco and Two Come from Portland.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

THERE are just fifty-seven entries for the coming amateur Coast championships that start tonight at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Fifty-seven entries would mean about fifty-seven contests, provided that each entrant would weigh in and go through the tournament. There is, however, a certain percentage that fails to weigh. Some enter to see their names in the papers and some get cold feet at the last minute.

Then again there are a few that fail to pass the examination and are barred. Figuring in this way there should be between thirty and forty contests between the best boys. Some boys have entered in two classes, but as a usual thing, they are lucky if they hold their own in one class.

Taking the entries as a whole, it is the best class of boxers presented to the amateur fans since the fleet week tournament at Chutes Park about five years ago.

MULTNOMAH READY.

Tommy Tracy, boxing instructor of the Multnomah Athletic Club of Portland, arrived in town yesterday morning with two of his champions, Walter Williams, a 115-pound boy, and Earl Miebus, his middleweight champion.

Both of these boys have met and defeated the best amateurs in Spokane, Seattle, Portland and Vancouver, B. C. They are two clean and quiet fellows and look the part. Tommy is one of the best welterweights that ever came over from Australia and like all old-timers, has little to say for his boys.

But Tommy was as foxy in the boxing game as any of them and knows his business. He says, "I have two good boys with me and they will do their best to win. If we lose you will find us good losers and will have nothing to say."

The Multnomah Athletic Club of Portland, by the way, is one of the best known in America. It is purely an amateur club and wherever there are any championships to be contended for in any line, it always sends good representatives, and these usually take home a share of prizes.

FOUR OLYMPICS HERE.

Billy Leonard, boxing instructor of the Olympic Club, has four champions in different classes, and like Tracy says little about his boys. The Olympic Club of San Francisco is the oldest amateur athletic club in the world and has turned out more amateur champions than all the clubs in the country put together.

His little champion, W. C. Anderson, who is entered in the 115-pound class, is touted to be a corker. He is a little blonde, and a clean-cut, likely-looking boy. Frank Malone is said to be the Terry McGovern of the bunch and boxes at a fast pace from the start to finish. Phil Noonan, his lightweight boxer, was here during the Elks celebration four years ago and lost, but Leonard says Phil has improved a lot since and expects him to win in his class.

Bill is priding himself on Bob McAllister, his middleweight champion. To hear Bill talk, no one else in his class has a chance. Bill is surely a booster and a loyal fellow to his pupils, and that is one reason that he is a success as an instructor. He watches his charges like an old lady with a lot of grandchildren and never leaves them for a moment.

The Western, Columbia and Pasadena clubs have a bunch of good entries that may be dark horses and worth while watching.

Billy Hart of the Western Club, Billy Huddy of the Columbia Club and Harry Uyttenhove of the Pasadena Athletic Club say they are ready.

LOCALS CONFIDENT.

"Let them bring their northern champions down at fast as they like. We are some live ones in this southern country and do some boxing here. If they take back any medals there will surely someone know that there has been some fast boxing done when they leave town."

I am now going to butt in and say I have a few very live ones that should not be overlooked. We have only started in our big club, but have been busy in the short time we have had to get together.

If some of those northern champions do not run up against some good punchers I will miss my guess. But it is just such good, clean, friendly rivalry that makes the amateur boxing game so popular.

While the boys always do their best to win on their merits, they never lose their friendship for each other after the show is over. It is always worth the price to listen to the rooters for the different clubs and boys.

Phil Wand, boxing commissioner from the Olympic Club, came down yesterday to root for his boys. He is a guest of the L.A.A.C. and is one of the most enthusiastic boosters and rooters for amateur boxing.

Wand is an old-time boxer and amateur runner and knows all angles of amateur sport. He was a judge for many years at the amateur boxing contests at the Olympic Club of San Francisco and also refereed many professional contests.

He says that the so-called amateur boxers of San Francisco have done a lot to hurt the real amateur stuff around the Bay City.

All contestants in the coming tournaments box for medals, watches and jewelry of some kind, never receiving one cent for their work. The best arrangements possible have been made to entertain the large crowd that will surely attend.

The tournament is open to outsiders at $1.50 each for single admission. Reserved seats are set at $2 each and they are going fast.

The boys are to weigh in between 5 and 7 o'clock each night and the bouts are to start promptly at 8 o'clock.

JAP BILLIARDIST BEATS WILLIE HOPPE.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 13.—[Special Dispatch.] In a game filled with sensational runs, Kodji Yamada, the Japanese, tonight defeated Willie Hoppe by the score of 500 points to 497. There were three runs of a hundred or better, and the Japanese finished with an average of 22 16-22, and his best runs were 188, 92 and 85. The speed and generalgracefulness of Yamada, together with his nervy execution, provided amazement for the spectators, who hung on breathless to the end. Hoppe's average was 23 14-21 and his best runs were 102, 100 and 47.

Morningstar earned his victory over Demarest by consistent billiards, for the younger player was at all times resourceful and twice during the match forged ahead to a commanding lead. At every stage Morningstar played excellent position and ball-to-ball billiards.

The match between Hoppe and Yamada was sensational. On his second turn at the table, Yamada surprised his admirers by counting fifty-six of gracefully-juggled caroms. Hoppe came back at the Jap with a dazzling run of 100 on his third turn. Yamada outplayed Hoppe in showy shots. The Jap performed like a wizard.

Then Yamada put in a run of ninety-two on his tenth turn. Hoppe had his courage and his skill with him. By wonderful position play and marvelous control, he topped the Jap's run by counting 102, in which he played all kinds of billiards. Then it settled down into a battle in which, by gradual stages the phlegmatic steadiness of the American and his greater experience placed him in the lead.

The end was an agonizing struggle between the two. The Jap just nosed out.

Final Struggle.

WARATAHS PLAY ALL-STAR TEAM IN IMPORTANT GAME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERKELEY, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The game between the Australian Waratahs and the All-Star American team to be held on California field next Saturday promises to be the big Rugby event of the year. The big game with Stanford was a poor football exhibition this year on account of the mud, and there are a lot of people who will be on hand Saturday to see a real game of football played under ideal conditions.

When it comes to picking an all-star team there are bound to be wide differences of opinion, but when everything is taken into consideration the team that will represent California in the international match will be a good football organization. The boys may not play together as a unit, but each man has got enough personal ability to make the team dangerous.

Joe McKim of Pomona is one man who could not be kept off the front rank of a team of anyone's choosing. He is about the shortest man on the fifteen, but his aggressiveness has made him a great favorite with the fans. He is the only southern man chosen from the University of California.

There has been no definite action in regard to accepting California's resignation from the Rugby union. The management at California reserves the right to say who will play on the field, despite the rulings of the union and it is because the union has overstepped its bounds that the Blue and Gold is going to step out.

MARQUARD ASKED TO PAY FOR HUBBY'S LOVE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Suit for $25,000 damages was filed today against "Rube" Marquard, star pitcher of the New York National League baseball club, by Joseph Kane, husband of "Blossom Seeley," an actress, alleging that Marquard alienated her affections.

The husband recently traced the pair to an Atlantic City hotel, but they eluded him and escaped. The summons on Marquard was served while he was dining with Mrs. Seeley. For some time they have been appearing in a vaudeville sketch together.

EASY FOR PACKY.

With the ball in the possession of the visiting forwards, the play was soon on the U.S.C. goal line. Every man got into the rushes and when on the 10-yard line the forwards massed around the ball, heeled it out to the backs, and another try was scored by Carroll, who took the pass on the line from Capt. Prentice, who had a clear shot himself at the score. This try was made in the opposite corner of the field from the first. Prentice missed the hard goal. Score, 6 to 0. In these two scores the Australians showed that they knew how to take every advantage of the space offered.

TROJANS' HARD FIGHT.

After the drop-out, following this score, the play went back and forth over the field, the Trojans putting up a hard game fight, but being unable to stop the steady advances of the speedy Waratah dribbling rushes. Scrum was formed on the U.S.C. 25-yard line and the Australians took the ball, but instead of passing out, started to dribble, taking the ball over the line, where Murphy fell on it for the third score of the game. Prentice kicked this goal, making the score 11 to 0 in favor of the Waratahs.

Nothing daunted, the Trojans kicked off and once more were in the losing but whirlwind battle. Before the next try was scored Patterson and Dorn, with Lund, did some good work for the Trojans, kicking and carrying the ball for several good gains. In one instance Meadows took a cross kick from Dorn and went forty yards down the field before Dunbar nailed him with a pretty flying tackle.

WONDERFUL DRIBBLING.

Some more of the spectacular dribbling was in order, and the play was soon raging on the U.S.C. 25-yard line. Here Ted Secor took one of the bouts and made a great run and kick for a total gain of fifty yards. Two dribbling rushes took the ball to the U.S.C. 30-yard line. Then the visiting backs broke out in a rush after the forwards had heeled the ball out. Carroll finally worming his way over the goal line just as half time was called. Prentice kicked the goal, boosting the score to 16 to 0.

If the play had been startling in the first half, it was little short of marvelous in the second. During the first period the play was confined mostly to forward work, mixed with some passing rushes at critical times. In the second half, the backs opened up and the play swept from one end of the field to the other in a series of thrilling passing rushes. If a local college team could produce Rugby like this the city would be full of raving lunatics after each game. Every man on the Waratah team turned into a 10-flat man and sprinted all through the second period. The tries came like bird-shot from a scatter gun in this half, and the score keeper was yelling for an adding machine before the play had progressed ten minutes.

SPRINTING CENTER.

Secor kicked off to Jones and a passing rush was started, followed by a scrum. From this formation, Jones, the sprinting center three, broke away and ran 50 yards before Secor finally planted him. Another scrum and Jones was away again, passing to Carroll, who dodged all the Trojan backs and went swerving over the line for a try in the extreme corner of the field. Prentice missed another difficult goal. Score, 19 to 0.

By this time the Trojans were badly at sea, while the Waratahs were following the ball all over the field like a pack of famished wolf hounds after a piece of raw meat.

The next score came when the whole Waratah team romped over the line after a great passing rush that ended in the forwards taking the ball the rest of the way over the line by dribbling. They say that Kent went over, but about every man on the squad had his hands on the flying balloon before it finally went over the goal line. Prentice kicked the goal, making the score 22 to 0.

When the game was resumed the visitors seemed tired of the open passing game for the time being and once more resorted to dribbling and soon fought to the U.S.C. lines. Once the ball was in the line, but Secor took it out. There to cover and are Following the drop-out the forwards surrounded the ball, rushed it over the line and on it for the try. Prentice kicked the goal. Score, 27 to 0.

The greatest passing game resulted in the next try. George Kent got the ball had been carried on Prentice thumped his making a total score of 32 good offenses is like but surely proven by the

Here is another:

"If a man bunts safely, will the official scorer classify it as a safe hunt, or an infield hit?"

Neither one. The score book providing for separating safe bunts from infields hits has not yet been invented. It goes down in the records as a hit, pure and simple. Home runs and other extra base hits and sacrifice hits are the only ones which come in for special mention. These are emblazoned in the summary.

Roy Brashear and Homer Smith returned yesterday from an extended hunting trip with a quail in each pocket and a blister on each heel. They caused consternation among the quail all the way from Laguna Beach to Perris and back again. Brashear says that the birds are extremely plentiful around Perris, and he had little difficulty in exceeding the limit each day. They had planned to slaughter a duck or two in the vicinity of Elsinore before returning, but were advised that the hunting would be better a little later. Brashear, accompanied by Charley Chech, who has hunted for years in the wilds of Minneapolis, plan to invade Elsinore next week.

"Speed" McDonnell is acting as host to V. A. Langenhan, and S. W. Beer, young and promising ball players who grew up with him on the sand lots of dear old Cleveland. Langenhan has been playing with Columbia in the South Atlantic League, while Beer has been outfielding for Marysville in the Bluegrass League, all of which goes to show that neither of them have attained the same dizzy heights as "Speed." Marysville is famous, chiefly for having given to the world Pitcher Wellemann, who did such sensational work for the St. Louis Browns near the end of the season.

Langenhan and Wuffli of the San Francisco club were raised in Cleveland not more than a door apart, and passed their boyhood days fighting in the same back yard. Wuffli's nationality is something that has been haunting me since the first time that I saw his name in a box score. Langenhan kindly cleared up the mystery. Wuffli is a member of the race that gave William Tell and Arnold Winkelreid. He was born in Cherstdorf, Zurichgau county, Switzerland. His first name is Friedrishshafen.

Had Harvard tried, the Crimson could not have provided itself with a better test for the Yale engagement. The regulars who took in the Vanderbilt game on the side lines will start the Dartmouth battle, at least, and most of them will be held at their posts until they can no longer stand the gaff.

Capt. Wendell himself proposes to stick it out as long as his legs last. If he can go through that heavy Dartmouth line for any sort of gains Harvard's chances of beating Yale next week will be just so much better.

After all, the championship of the East will not be decided until Yale plays Harvard and though the Yale-Princeton match will carry the bulk of the prestige and all that sort of thing next Saturday the Harvard-Dartmouth affair will rank almost equally high in importance.

CHAMPIONSHIP HONORS FOR CO. A BOYS.

Co. A won the regimental championship in the first round of the State shoot and will compete for the State championship on the Glendale range next Sunday.

Co. G of Redlands was expected to give the local organization a close run, but was disqualified. Only twenty men shot instead of twenty-five, the number required for a team competing in the State championships.

After the shoot next Sunday, ten men will be picked from each regiment in the State to go to Sacramento and compete in the finals, November 24.

The new timed fire course, lately adopted by the National Guard of California, is becoming more popular with the marksmen who fell down in the first matches.

BIG PREP GAME TO BE PLAYED SATU

Santa Ana was defeated Beach, and if it loses to Pas chances for the championsh very small. The team worked over considerably past ten days and the men first-class condition.

The "Hopes."

LUTHER M'CARTY HERE FOR JIM FLYNN FIGHT.

LUTHER M'CARTY, who is to fight Jim Flynn, made his appearance at fight headquarters yesterday.

He is as big as an icehouse and about as emotional. When you seek to pry out the secrets from his soul he either grunts or says, "Aw, go see meh manager."

The big fellow is said to have Indian blood and nothing moves him. When he fought Al Kaufmann in San Francisco they sought to "get his goat" by making him wait half an hour or more in the ring. He borrowed a sporting edition of an evening paper from one of the reporters at the ringside and soon was so deep in the world series that he gave up the paper regretfully as Kaufmann finally came in to fight.

Arrangements have been made for him to train at the auditorium in Venice. Walter Monahan, the hope discovered by Jack Johnson, will be one of his trainers, and Montana Jack Sullivan, the other.

Flynn is expected Friday. He has sent ahead of him a genial promise to finish the aspirations of Brother McCarty.

McCarty seems to have more possibilities as a fighter than Flynn, but it is a question whether he has had enough experience in the tricks of the ring to be able to finish the big fellow.

Following is the record of McCarty:

features of the day, so far as baseball in the West is concerned. In addition to all this, three class AA leagues decided upon a salary limit, but refused to make it public, deeming such announcement would cause trouble with the ball players, all of whom would want the maximum salary.

One formal session of the Minor Leagues Association was anything but eventful, and from the dilatory fashion in which the delegates are transacting business they are not going to accomplish much, aside from a general understanding as to salary limits.

COASTERS BUSY.

All that, however, made no difference with the Pacific Coast interest, and from the presidents down the two bodies were full of hustle all the afternoon. Even though the northwesterners lost the higher classification fight they feel they gained an important point when they were granted a special privilege so far as the salary limit is concerned. The other class B leagues throughout the country will have to get along with a monthly salary roll of $2500, but the Pacific Northwestern clubs can spend as much as $3500 per month, if they desire.

The salary limit was the one point on which the minors got action today. The scheduled meeting in the forenoon was called off because of the tendency of the delegates to sleep late after the festivities of the night before, and President Sexton had his own troubles gathering a quorum late in the afternoon. When he did manage to bring his members together, it was discovered various league classes had no well-defined ideas as to what limits they wanted to adopt, and another adjournment was necessary.

KEEP FIGURES SECRET.

When the afternoon meeting was resumed and reports were received, the class AA men refused to make public their figures agreed upon, but told the association that a report would be sent to the national commission. Unofficially, it is understood they are to have a $6000 salary limit, with not more than $400 a month for any one player.

ROW IN SIGHT.

As a result of the difference of opinion between class AA leaguers and the balance of the minors on the question of making public the salary limits, class AA magnates tonight withdrew their agreement on a limit, and they are now declaring there is no limit so far as they are concerned.

By a vote of 5 to 7 the balance of the minors agreed to publish results of deliberations. The big minors said they didn't propose to make public their business and withdrew their agreement that had been deposited in a sealed envelope. The ruling of the National Commission was to the effect that a salary limit must be named, and it is hard to say what will come of this disagreement.

So far as the other classes are concerned the limits were named as follows: Class A, $2500; class B, $2500 (with special privilege to the Northwestern League; class C, $1400; class D, $1200. Baum says it will not affect the relations of the class AA leagues with the association.

President Baum says that under the new schedule no player in the Coast League will suffer and that the boys need not worry. All class B leagues except the Pacific Northwestern wanted a $2500 salary limit. The North Coast body explained it would be necessary for a special privilege, and a $3500 limit was named for the clubs in Fielder Jones's league. Fielder Jones announced this afternoon his league would not press the request for a class A rating. It seems the matter was taken up with the board of arbitration, which gave the Northwestern leaguers so cold a reception they realized the futility of going further. Jones and his club owners were asked about the population. They answered that while the last census did not show a million in the six cities of the Northwest concerned, they were sure the population had increased that figure since then. It was explained to the petitioners that probabilities could not be counted, and the questioning went no further. Cal Ewing and Walter McCredie represented the Coast and told of allowing the use of the Portland territory, but made no active fight against the plan. No official action was taken by the board, but the attitude of the members was quite sufficient.

JONES PHILOSOPHICAL.

"We have lost our fight," said Jones. "There is no use of presenting a request to the association since it would in all probability be turned down. Of course we have secured a concession of the salary limit and that will have to satisfy us."

However, it is a bitter pill for the losers, and even though facing certain defeat, Dugdale was for a time strongly in favor of submitting the proposition, fighting to the last ditch and going down with the colors.

M'INTYRE BALKS.

Calmer judgment prevailed, and the differences between the two leagues on the Pacific will not be aired in open meeting. Quite a blow was delivered to the San Francisco club today when Matty McIntyre told Cal Ewing he intended going into business and would not consider signing a contract for the Seals next season. Ewing offered the former Chicago outfielder an increase of $75 a month over what his contract called for last year, but Matty could not be persuaded. Ewing seems to think there is no chance to hold his man and will try to land another big league outfielder for the team.

Chicagoans are skeptical as to McIntyre's plans of going into business and think on the other hand that he prefers to remain East. If such is the case, he will still have to reckon with Ewing, who naturally has him under reserve. Ewing says he is after another first baseman and if he lands the right man, Del Howard will be played in the outfield, a job the heavy swatter likes. The chances are the man Ewing is after is Dr. Warren Gill of the Minneapolis Club, of whom mention was made the other day.

THREE UMPS REMAIN.

President Baum, with his league directors all busy signing players, hustled around and annexed an umpire with a National League reputation. Garnett Bush is the new man who will hold an indicator on the western slope. He has been umpiring for six years, and during that time has been in seven leagues. Last year he was in the National, but got into a mix-up with Muggsy McGraw and was dropped. Johnny Evers and many others recommend the newcomer as a good man. He is 28, of fine build and big enough, also, to fill the bill. Bush had his trouble with McGraw in a close game between the Giants and the Cubs late last season. The Giants had two on bases and a batted ball hit Bush, which prevented the runners from advancing more than one base. The next man up hit into a double play. After the game Muggsy is reported as rushing out to Bush and declaring: "I'll chase you out of the league for that." Nobody knows what happened, but Bush was dropped from the list. Baum says that Casey, Finney and McCarthy are sure to remain in the Coast League, which means he has already picked four of his crew of six. Just who the other two will be he declined to say. They may be picked from the men in harness last season.

The visiting magnates were the guests today of a local brewery where luncheon was served and entertainment enjoyed. Before lunch the outsiders inspected the plant and were initiated into the mysteries of making beer. Later they were instructed on how to drink it.

Nothing was scheduled for tonight, which is just as well, since a little sleep will not do the westerners any harm. Tomorrow night the annual banquet will take place, and that will practically wind up the session, which, however, is scheduled to last over Friday.

Golden Recognition.

'SALOME' SHOCKS, BUT IT PAYS.

Box-Office Is Barometer of Dramatic Ideals.

People Go to See How Bad It Really Is.

Tarquini Appears in Famous Role Tonight.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

It is a curious coincidence that the last performance of "La Traviata" in Los Angeles should have in the cast a tenor who happens to be a descendent of the one who first created the role of Germont, at the initial production of Verdi's great opera.

Graziani played last night Gaston; his ancestor was the original Alfredo Germont, on the stage of Venice in 1853, and Verdi remained through life a friend of the great artist who fought a losing battle that night.

According to Italian grand opera ideals of these far-one days, the quality of the voice of a principal was all that the composer and management insisted upon; lyric ability or personal appearance were altogether secondary and unimportant.

Mme. Donatelli had not been spared the opera singer's tragedy; consumption.

She was the very stoutest prima donna that had graced the Italian stage up to that time.

Just before the curtain went up, she fainted; a doctor called in haste, declared, in her presence, that the stout lady had heard disease and could not live over a month.

Women who faint have a keen hearing, that is an axiom. Donatelli, frightened and upset by being so suddenly condemned to death, lost her voice, and her part, spoiled the initial production of "La Traviata," notwithstanding the brave efforts of Graziani.

Without the excuse of the wonderful voice of that soprano, the public began to realize that a very charming woman tipping the scales at 250 pounds was really quite ridiculous as a dying consumptive heroine.

So the opera was withdrawn, an abject failure. But like all things that are born to live, struggle on and succeed, "La Traviata" was to become a great favorite in later years. Christine Nilsson was long considered a charming Violetta, and then came the marvelous Adelina Patti, who from 1856, when she first brought Paris to her feet, remained for a quarter of a century the true "La Traviata" throughout Europe.

Mme. Pereira, Armanini, Pinschi, Giardini, Graziani and Marco presented that popular opera yesterday in matinee.

The well-drilled chorus, the principals, and the now homogenous orchestra combined to please increasing audiences, as the third and last week of grand opera nears its end.

Heralded by much publicity, and bitter controversy, "Salome," will be given tonight at the Auditorium.

No opera has ever created more intensed discussion; after years, those who oppose it, as well as those who favor it, have not yet reached a point where they can agree. They never can.

Some criticise the libretto, others the music, and others the interferance of self-appointed censors in matters of art.

These three questions, these three independent points of view, are so far apart as to never bring any two parties together.

The sad, degenerate and yet great genius of Oscar Wilde conceived "Salome," a drama which pictures a brief episode of brutal passion, revenge and death, in an age when barbaric instincts moved men to end in death their loves and their hates.

As a production in book form it might have retained some interest for the bibliophil in the privacy of his sanctum; it is doubtful that it should have been produced as an opera or rather as a musical drama of one act, since the performance is continuous for one hour and forty-five minutes.

It seems that there are enough good and bad heroes, in the whole experience of man, to leave alone and untouched the lovable figure of the great Semite, without fear and without reproach.

To drag John the Baptist in the limelight of a modern playhouse is bad enough, but to do so for purpose of affording a young and vivacious woman to give the erotic dance of the seven veils, and show to an admiring audience beautiful naked toes bejeweled with near-emeralds and diamonds, is wretched taste. The layman and the artist unite in having a genuine dislike for the repulsive in art. There is, however, a large class of artists and cultured laymen who claim, and perhaps justly so, that art must be detached from the question of morals; that art is the craft of colors, sounds, rhythms and word pictures, which must possess the requisites of beauty and verity.

It is, nevertheless, a positive proposition that art must be educative and elevating to deserve to be called art.

"Salome" is frankly unpleasant, barbaric, effete, primitive and yet decadent, in an age of brutality and violence.

She offends the puritan, she shocks the religious, but the advance sales, unprecedented heretofore, indicate that the general public, which insists on having a good and bad label on the goods, derives unctuous enjoyment from finding just how bad the play is.

And it is probably the right point of view; no motherly advice, no paternal scolding ever taught the child the danger of a sharp knife. The public is a big, overgrown child—who wants to investigate the depth of the shadow, hunt some unwholesome sensation in the dark, but because he has acquired the knowledge of what is low, unclean, he rises to higher appreciation of the beauty of sunlight, love and beauty.

But, as to the playhouse, away with the paternalism that with the stage and everything else about us is choking to death the endeavors of genius.

The box office, after all, is the barometer of our dramatic ideals. When the public will have seen this play, unpleasant, brutal, excusable only as the production of a diseased great mind, it will not pay to see it again. If it does, it will get as good as it will pay for.

The music of Richard Strauss has created more discussion among both musical and unmusical people than any other opera, not excepting "Parsifal." Never before were more sharply-conflicting opinions expressed upon any art subject.

You can take your choice between what qualified critics have written: paradoxical, cerebral, audacious, says one; ravishing beauty, cyclonic, the greatest achievement since Tristan and Isolde.

As to Strauss's extreme theories, we can only set down the whole matter as too complex and new for us; another generation will settle their standing.

Bavagnoli has been rehearsing "Salome" for three weeks with a greatly increased orchestra. Tonight will be the first time that this opera will be given with an adequate orchestra, as prescribed by Strauss.

On its initial production, twenty-eight violins, ten violas, ten 'cellos, eight double bases, eight drums, a chime of bells, two harps, a xylophone, cymbals, a celestin, and a glockenspiel were required by the composer, who led in person.

A humorous critic once said that the list of instruments should be enlarged by the addition of four locomotive whistles, a fog horn and two sirens!

The widespread criticisms among the best European musical writers, combined with the general character of the play, which originally written in French for Sarah Bernhardt, who never produced it, was prohibited by British censors, has aroused the greatest curiosity.

There is all reason to believe that Tarquinia Tarquini will be tonight an Italian edition of Lili Marberg.

Tarquini as "Salome,"

STAGE WORLD AS CLINE SEES IT.

Billie Seaton, at the Orpheum this week, has two very good reasons for doffing her skirts in her "Nervous" number—reasons you might not be able to see otherwise. One glimpse of 'em, however, makes you certain that it would be a crime for her to go skirted through all her life. And how she does fill out those tights!

Al Dolson, ahead of "The Quaker Girl," next week's Mason attraction, had a unique experience in New York lately. Some one took him to the Winter Garden, and introduced him to Al Jolson. Though only one letter differentiates their names and they are often taken one for the other, it was their first meeting. They are good friends now.

Mae Melville calls her elongated husband and partner, Robert Higgins, her "human stringbean." Off stage, however, the couple are as loving as you'd not guess them to be from their stage work at the Orpheum.

Higgins, by the way, has the hard time of it; he has to keep thin to make the act a go. It means nothing fattening in his diet. His roly-poly wife is the opposite end of the act, and has to be fat. It is torture for Bob to watch his wife dine—he says so daily.

"We were both carrynig spears in the merry, merry, then," candidly admitted Billie. She still preserves those two best reasons why she was a triumph as a spear toter, too. Her stage work proves it. As to Miss Astor—well, she works in skirts.

Mary Elizabeth hasn't bought her orange ranch yet. What's happening to the real estate fraternity? Can't they get past the Orpheum stage door man?

Al Dolson, asserts that Natalie Alt, leading woman in "The Quaker Girl," is chaperoned by her mother on all her tours. What's the use of her coming to the Mason next week, if the local Johnnies have to get past mamma? Miss Alt is reputed to be independently wealthy and in musical comedy for the love of it. Oh, lots of 'em say that. Get a new one, Dolson.

Dolson also says that skirts are the rule in "The Quaker Girl" and that there isn't a naughty line or a suggestive pose in the opera. But he admits that he is merely ahead of the show, and has never seen it. He may wait over next Monday to get a glimpse of it. Will he be disappointed?

Charley Alisky will have his first vaudeville act at the Orpheum next week. It is a bunch of Honolulu Kanakas, with Joe Kekuku featured, in Hawaiian songs and dances. If Alisky comes through with a real Hula-Hula, he ought to make a fortune.

"Slivers," whose one man baseball game is a classic, and whose play at the Orpheum evokes highest applause from the fans, had the disappointment of his life in being unable to see the world's series. He had all his money on the Red Sox, however, and that helped some.

Jack Wilson, now at the Orpheum, says he is no relation to the President-elect and doesn't want a job from him. This is doubtless good news for Woodrow, as all the other Wilsons in the country, including "Wilson—that's all"—are bust climbing kin—and places. "I can make more money in vaudeville," is Jack's explanation, "but I'm proud of the family, just the same."

Oh, You Valeska.

CLOTHES SACRED SO SHE WEARS BUT FEW OF 'EM.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

"IT REVOLTS the soul."

Did Valeska, the fair, rail thus against millionairines and coronets, against dyeing the hair, the degredation of strong drink, or a fly in the soup?

Nay, 'twas none of these. It was merely the lowly subject of insurance which caused temperament to temp, while the high-geared emotionalist submitted to the ministrations of her maid, in her dressing-room at the Majestic.

Her Matzene Psyche arms were bare; her Charles Dana Gibson neck was being skillfully manipulated by her maid, and her Pathe Diana limbs were chastely draped in a Turkish towel, while a toe that any sculptor would have been glad to sculp wriggled in the excess of her emotions. Her soul strode was terrible.

While outside a trembling insurance man stood and dug his toe into the cement floor of the stage, ever and anon edging farther away, till he seemed about to be absorbed in his canvas background.

"Insure my life," she cried—as if insuring were something that hurt,—"but my gowns, ah." She worked her eyes. "My beautiful gowns. As for my jewels, now—"

She intimated by a wave of the hand that you might give them to the baby to play with, if you saw fit, or use them to hold the door open, or to shoot marbles with.

"You know a woman's dresses all have their separate little meanings. They are a part of one, as it were. And to have them all handled over by a mere insurance man—"

Goodness, it hurts me to hear bushels of rubies and quarts of diamonds spoken of so carelessly.

"But dresses—ah, they are a part of her—they perish. Take that little rose gown there—it means tenderness and the glory of love—but so soon it is consumed in the furnace of life. It is no more. A gown to a woman means sentiment and memories—but a diamond—bah."

Think of saying bah to a diamond—just like that. And looking at the great one on her finger as if it were a pebble to throw at Casey's cat.

"Well, I have an old beaded plush cape that's full of memories and moths, that I would trade any time for any old second-hand diamond she wants to give away. And she can have that old alpaca, of mine, too, full of memories of Dan—and gravy stains.

"And this lovely black lace," she went on, pointing a sculptured finger at the dress in question, hanging on its nail. "That clings to one as if it fairly understood one's moods—"

"Don't," I said. "I can bear no more." Never before had I really seen the pathos of pleats, the poetry of paniers, the sacredness of shades, the soaring beauty of basques.

Even the insurance man outside sobbed, and said he didn't see how he could ever have thought of doing such a thing.

Well, fire burneth when it listeth, and as for moths—what does a moth care about insurance? And every time you give a moth-ball, you know how they all come—

Fifteen thousand dollars worth of gowns. Why, judging from the pictures—

But we have a list of them as long as a Pullman ticket to Chicago to prove that they really exist.

Maybe it's because clothes are so sacred that she wears so few in public. She says she designs all her gowns herself—but why take the credit away from nature that way?

RHEUMATISM

URIC ACID CAUSES IT—S.S.S. CURES IT

Every variety of Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood; the different forms of the disease depending on whether this uric acid settles in the nerves, muscles or joints. In Sciatica it is the nerves which are attacked, the muscular form shows the muscles to be the seat of trouble, while manifestations of articular Rheumatism are evidence that the joints are being diseased. To cure Rheumatism the uric acid must be removed from the blood; the circulation must be made pure. This cannot be accomplished with external applications; such treatment may furnish temporary relief from the pain, but it does not reach the producing cause. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism of every variety and form because it purifies the blood. It goes down into the circulation, neutralizes the acids and dissolves the irritating deposits which are pressing on the sensitive nerves and tissues, and producing pain. Whether your case of Rheumatism be acute or chronic S. S. S. is the medicine you need; it will cure you and at the same time build up the entire system by its fine vegetable tonic effects. 'SALOME' SHOCKS, BUT IT PAYS.

Box Office Is Barometer of Dramatic Ideals.

Tarquini Appears in Famous Role Tonight.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

It is a curious coincidence that the last performance of "La Traviata" in Los Angeles should have in the cast a tenor who happens to be a descendent of the one who first created the role of Germont, at the initial production of Verdi's great opera.

Graziani played last night Gaston; his ancestor was the original Alfredo Germont, on the stage of Venice in 1853, and Verdi remained through life a friend of the great artist who fought a losing battle that night.

According to Italian grand opera ideals of these far -one days, the quality of the voice of a principal was all that the composer and management insisted upon; lyric ability or personal appearance were altogether secondary and unimportant.

It happened that Mme. Donatelli was at that time one of the greatest sopranos of Northern Italy and she was secured for the part of Violetta.

Mme. Donatelli had not been spared the opera singer's tragedy; embonpoint.

She was the very stoutest prima donna that had graced the Italian stage up to that time.

Just before the curtain went up, she fainted; a doctor called in haste, declared, in her presence, that the stout lady had heart disease and could not live over a month.

Women who faint have a keen hearing, that is an axiom. Donatelli, frightened and upset by being so suddenly condemned to death, lost her voice, and her part, spoiled the initial production of "La Traviata," notwithstanding the brave efforts of Graziani.

Without the excuse of the wonderful voice of that soprano, the public began to realize that a very charming woman tipping the scales at 250 pounds was really quite ridiculous as a dying consumptive heroine.

So the opera was withdrawn, an abject failure. But like all things that are born to live, struggle on and succeed, "La Traviata" was to become a great favorite in later years. Christine Nilsson was long considered a charming Violetta, and then came the marvelous Adelina Patti, who from 1856, when she first brought Paris to her feet, remained for a quarter of a century the true "La Traviata" throughout Europe.

Mme. Pereira, Armanini, Pinkeschi, Giardini, Graziani and Marco presented that popular opera yesterday in matinee.

The well-drilled chorus, the principals, and the now homogenous orchestra combined to please increasing audiences, as the third and last week of grand opera nears its end.

Heralded by much publicity, and bitter controversy, "Salome," will be given tonight at the Auditorium.

No opera has ever created more intensed discussion; after years, those who oppose it, as well as those who favor it, have not yet reached a point where they can agree. They never can.

Some criticise the libretto, others the music, and others the interferance of self-appointed censors in matters of art.

These three questions, these three independent points of view, are as far apart as to never bring any two parties together.

The sad, degenerate and yet great genius of Oscar Wilde conceived "Salome," a drama which pictures a brief episode of brutal passion, revenge and death, in an age when barbarous instincts moved men to end in death their lovers and their hates.

In the New Testament narrative, Herodias is the dominent character; Wagner, in creating Kundry, from one of the French transcriptions, made Herodias a sort of feminine wanderer, compelled as an outcast, to expiate her crime; Massenet's "Herodiade," Salome appars as Herod's infatuation.

As a production in book form it might have retained some interest for the bibliophil in the privacy of his sanctum; it isdoubtful that it should have been produced as an opera or rather as a musical drama of one act, since the performance is continuous for one hour and forty-five minutes.

It seems that there are enough good and bad heroes, in the whole experience of man, to leave alone and untouched the lovable figure of the great Semite, without fear and without reproach.

To drag John the Baptist in the limelight of a modern playhouse is bad enough, but to do so for purpose of affording a young and vivacious woman to gite the erotic dance of the seven veils, and show to an admiring audience beautiful naked toes bejeweled with near-emeralds and diamonds, is wretched taste. The layman and the artist unite in having a genuine dislike for the repulsive in art. There is, however, a large class of artists and cultured laymen who claim, and perhaps justly so, that art must be detached from the question of morals; that art is the craft of colors, sounds, rhythms and word pictures, which must possess the requisites of beauty and verity.

It is, nevertheless, a positive proposition that art must be educative and elevating to deserve to be called art.

"Salome" is frankly unpleasant, barbaric, effete, primitive and yet decadent, in an age of brutality and violence.

She offends the puritan, she shocks the religious, but the advance sales, unprecedented heretofore, indicate that the general public, which insists on having a good and bad label on the goods, derives unctuous enjoyment from finding just how bad the play is.

And it is probably the right point of view; no motherly advice, no paternal scolding ever taught the child the danger of a sharp knife. The public is a big, overgrown child—who wants to investigate the depth of the shadow, hunt some unwholesome sensation in the dark, but because he has acquired the knowledge of what is low, unclean, he rises to higher appreciation of the beauty of sunlight, love and beauty.

That censors should use a judicious and intelligent overseeing in the shows given for and attended by young children is quite right; immaturity does not possess the judgment and discernment of manhood.

But, as to the playhouse, away with the paternalism that with the stage and everything else about us is choking to death the endeavors of genius.

I believe, and that without capitulation, in the wholesome sanity of the greater number.

The box office, after all, is the barometer of our dramatic ideals. When the public will have seen this play, unpleasant, brutal, excusable only as the production of a diseased great mind, it will not pay to see it again. If it does, it will get as good as it will pay for.

The music of Richard Strauss has created more discussion among both musical and unmusical people than any other opera, not excepting "Parsifal." Never before were more sharply-conflicting opinions expressed upon any art subject.

You can take your choice between what qualified critics have written: paradoxical, cerebral, audacious, says one; ravishing beauty, cyclonic, the greatest achievement since Tristan and Isolde.

As to Strauss's extreme theories, we can only set down the whole matter as too complex and new for us; another generation will settle their standing.

Savagnoli has been rehearsing "Salome" for three weeks with a greatly increased orchestra. Tonight will be the first time that this opera will be given with an adequate orchestra, as prescribed by Strauss.

On its initial production, twenty-eight violins, ten violas, ten 'cellos, eight double bases, eight drums, a chime of bells, two harps, a xylophone, cymbals, a celestin, and a glockenspiel were required by the composer, who led in person.

A humorous critic once said that the list of instruments should be enlarged by the addition of four locomotive whistles, a fog horn and two sirens!

The widespread criticisms among the best European musical writers, combined with the general character of the play, which originally written in French for Sarah Bernhardt, who never produced it, was prohibited by British censors, has aroused the greatest curiosity.

In its first Munich production, the young and beautiful Lili Marberg of the Munchener Schauspielhaus, gave to Salome a barbaric grace that created illusion.

There is all reason to believe that Tarquinia Tarquini will be tonight an Italian edition of Lili Marberg.

Tarquini as "Salome,"

STAGE WORLD AS CLINE SEES IT.

Billie Seaton, at the Orpheum this week, has two very good reasons for doffing her skirts in her "Nervous" number—reasons you might not be able to see otherwise. One glimpse of 'em, however, makes you certain that it would be a crime for her to go skirted through all her life. And how she does fill out those tights!

Al Dolson, ahead of "The Quaker Girl," next week's Mason attraction, had a unique experience in New York lately. Some one took him to the Winter Garden, and introduced him to Al Jolson. Though only one letter differentiates their names and they are often taken one for the other, it was their first meeting. They are good friends now.

Mae Melville calls her elongated husband and partner, Robert Higgins, her "human stringbean." Off stage, however, the couple are as loving as you'd not guess them to be from their stage work at the Orpheum.

Higgins, by the way, has the hard time of it; he has to keep thin to make the act a go. It means nothing fattening in his diet. His roly-poly wife is the opposite end of the act, and has to be fat. It is torture for Bob to watch his wife dine—he says so daily.

Billie Seaton, the Orpheum singer, and Camille Astor, the Selig moving picture star, met at the Orpheum Monday night for the first time in seven years.

"We were both carrynig spears in the merry, merry, then," candidly admitted Billie. She still preserves those two best reasons why she was a triumph as a spear toter, too. Her stage work proves it. As to Miss Astor—well, she works in skirts.

Mary Elisabeth hasn't bought her orange ranch yet. What's happening to the real estate fraternity? Can't they get past the Orpheum stage door man?

Al Dolson asserts that Natalie Alt, leading woman in "The Quaker Girl," is chaperoned by her mother on all her tours. What's the use of her coming to the Mason next week, if the local Johnnies have to get past mamma? Miss Alt is reputed to be independently wealthy and in musical comedy for the love of it. Oh, lots of 'em say that. Get a new one, Dolson.

Dolson also says that skirts are the rule in "The Quaker Girl" and that there isn't a naughty line or a suggestive pose in the opera. But he admits that he is merely ahead of the show, and has never seen it. He may wait over next Monday to get a glimpse of it. Will he be disappointed?

Charley Alisky will have his first vaudeville act at the Orpheum next week. It is a bunch of Honolulu Kanakas, with Joe Kekuku featured, in Hawaiian songs and dances. If Alisky comes through with a real Hula-Hula, he ought to make a fortune.

"Slivers," whose one man baseball game is a classic, and whose play at the Orpheum evokes highest applause from the fans, had the disappointment of his life in being unable to see the world's series. He had all his money on the Red Sox, however, and that helped some.

Jack Wilson, now at the Orpheum, says he is no relation to the President-elect and doesn't want a job from him. This is doubtless good news for Woodrow, as all the other Wilsons in the country, including "Wilson—that's all"—are bust climbing kin—and places. "I can make more money in vaudeville," is Jack's explanation, "but I'm proud of the family, just the same."

Oh, You Valeska.

CLOTHES SACRED SO SHE WEARS BUT FEW OF 'EM.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

"IT REVOLTS the soul."

Did Valeska, the fair, rail thus against millionairines and coronets, against dyeing the hair, the degredation of strong drink, or a fly in the soup?

Nay, 'twas none of these. It was merely the lowly subject of insurance which caused temperament to temp, while the high-geared emotionalist submitted to the ministrations of her maid, in her dressing-room at the Majestic.

Little patches of sunlight lay about, and really I forget what else she had on.

Her Matzene Psyche arms were bare; her Charles Dana Gibson neck was being skillfully manipulated by her maid, and her Pathe Diana limbs were chastely draped in a Turkish towel, while a toe that any sculptor would have been glad to sculp wriggled in the excess of her emotions. Her soul streak was terrible.

While outside a trembling insurance man stood and dug his toe into the cement floor of the stage, ever and anon edging farther away, till he seemed about to be absorbed in his canvas background.

"Insure my life," she cried—as if insuring were something that hurt.—"but my gowns, ah." She worked her eyes. "My beautiful gowns. As for my jewels, now—"

She intimated by a wave of the hand that you might give them to the baby to play with, if you saw fit, or use them to hold the door open, or to shoot marbles with.

"You know a woman's dresses all have their separate little meanings. They are a part of one, as it were. And to have them all handled over by a mere insurance man—"

"A woman may have her jewels insured—"

Goodness, it hurts me to hear bushels of rubies and quarts of diamonds spoken of so carelessly.

"But dresses—ah, they are a part of her—they perish. Take that little rose gown there—it means tenderness and the glory of love—but so soon it is consumed in the furnace of life. It is no more. A gown to a woman means sentiment and memories—but a diamond—bah."

Think of saying bah to a diamond—just like that. And looking at the great one on her finger as if it were a pebble to throw at Casey's cat.

"Well, I have an old beaded plush cape that's full of memories and moths, that I would trade any time for any old second-hand diamond she wants to give away. And she can have that old alpaca, of mine, too, full of memories of Dan—and gravy stains.

"And this lovely black lace," she went on, pointing a sculptured finger at the dress in question, hanging on its nail. "That clings to one as if it fairly understood one's moods—"

"Don't," I said. "I can bear no more." Never before had I really seen the pathos of pleats, the poetry of paniers, the sacredness of shades, the soaring beauty of basques.

Even the insurance man outside sobbed, and said he didn't see how he could ever have thought of doing such a thing.

Well, fire burneth when it listeth, and as for moths—what does a moth care about insurance? And every time you give a moth-ball, you know how they all come—

Fifteen thousand dollars worth of gowns. Why, judging from the pictures—

But we have a list of them as long as a Pullman ticket to Chicago to prove that they really exist.

Maybe it's because clothes are so sacred that she wears so few in public. She says she designs all her gowns herself—but why take the credit away from nature that way?

RHEUMATISM

Every variety of Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood; the different forms of the disease depending on whether this uric acid settles in the nerves, muscles or joints. In Sciatica it is the nerves which are attacked, the muscular form shows the muscles to be the seat of trouble, while manifestations of articular Rheumatism are evidence that the joints are being diseased. To cure Rheumatism the uric acid must be removed from the blood; the circulation must be made pure. This cannot be accomplished with external applications; such treatment may furnish temporary relief from the pain, but it does not reach the producing cause. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism of every variety and form because it purifies the blood. It goes down into the circulation, neutralizes the acids and dissolves the irritating deposits which are pressing on the sensitive nerves and tissues, and producing pain. Whether your case of Rheumatism be acute or chronic S. S. S. is the medicine you need; it will cure you and at the same time build up the entire system by its fine vegetable tonic effects. London copper closed firm; spot, £77 2s 6d, up 7s 6d; futures, £77 17s 6d, up 7s 6d.

Market continues firm without change, official price 17⅝ asked, but metal is to be had as low as 17⅜ and the big agencies await cleaning up of cheap copper.

According to a cable dispatch just received from the Braden property the last 111 meters in the No. 1 Teniente, or roughly 350 feet, assayed over 4 per cent. copper. This is considerably above the average of Braden's reserves which are placed at 2.5 per cent copper. The present development is situated in a heretofore undeveloped section of the property and the face of the tunnel is now approximately 1500 feet beneath the surface.

During the month of October 42,600 tons of ore were treated, averaging around 2.8 per cent. copper. In the old mill a recovery of about 61 per cent. was made, while on the 16,000 tons treated by the Mineral Separation Process the extraction was 75½ per cent.

There has been very good buying of Braden recently. It is based upon the exceedingly favorable underground developments which are rapidly increasing the mine's reserves, the satisfactory results now being obtained by Minerfi Separation Process and the probability that after the present mills are equipped and are treating 3500 tons of ore a day, the property will be placed upon a 6000-ton basis, which if put into effect, would make this mine one of the largest of the copper producers.

Operations at the Tennessee Copper Company continue at a record-breaking pace and the indications point to October results being equally as good as September, which month was the best in the history of the company.

The custom feature of Tennessee Smelting operations is working out very well indeed and a considerable increase in production has been made. Not only is the production greater but on certain of these ores there is the quotation profit which the Tennessee Company realizes, owing to the higher metal prices. This is also making for greater earnings. The Tennessee Company is now turning out approximately 500 to 550 tons of sulphuric acid a day and this amount will gradually increase as colder weather comes on until it is brought up to 600 to 650 tons a day. It is estimated that for the year the production of acid will amount to slightly over 200,000 tons.

As the year 1912 draws to a close, the indications are that the total gross earnings will amount to between $1,250,000 to $1,300,000, or after allowing for depreciation charge, a figure close to $1,200,00 or $1,250,000.

Tennessee has 200,000 shares which should indicate earnings around $6 per share. At the present time, however, under the higher price for copper metal, which was not fully felt until summer, the earnings are running considerably in excess of this amount.

Chino Copper.—The very marked advance in the shares of this company, unusually large for a stock of this character, has raised innumerable inquiries as to the cause.

In reply to these we would say that we consider there are two main reasons; first, a tardy realization on the part of the general copper-share buying public that here is one of the great copper properties in the country, perhaps the most remarkably successful that has been developed within the last ten years, and which has now very nearly reached the point where it is in a position to distribute its earnings to its shareholders.

Secondly, the actual performance of the last three months, which has very much exceeded the expectations of even the most optimistic and has shown the company to be a bigger money-maker than even its closest friends could have believed possible.

While to those who merely look at the market price the advance seems to have been rapid, those who have taken the trouble to follow the development of this property know that its intrinsic value has actually increased far more rapidly than its market price.

Taking the two factors that determine the value of any mining property, viz., ore reserves and earning capacity, and one is just as important as the other, it will be remembered that when we took hold of this property three and a half years ago, there had been developed only 4,000,000 tons of ore. Today Chino has the third largest developed body of copper ore in this country, 55,000,000 tons, and before very long it is probable that new figures will be forthcoming, showing the reserves to be much in excess of this.

This developed value back of the stock has given it a stability and a standing with investors that the shares of very few new mining companies have enjoyed.

Now, turning to the question of earning capacity, which is always the more popular with the copper-share speculator. The engineers of this property, men noted for their conservatism, were of the opinion that it would be safe for us to predict an opinion from this property of 50,000,000 pounds a year and a cost of 8 cents a pound. This was decidedly below the average cost of copper production in this country, and there were many who questioned whether the company could realize this figure.

Now, what has been the actual result? In the last three months with only three of the five sections of the mill contributing to production, the company has produced over 10,000,000 pounds of copper, and at a cost, it is safe to say, of less than 7 cents a pound, earning better than $1,000,000. For the last two month the production has averaged 1,300,000 pounds per section per month, which means, with the plant operating to capacity, a monthly output of 6,000,000 pounds, or an annual output of at least 70,000,000.

This month the fourth section of the mill, which has been warming up for about a month past, will contribute to production for the first time and unless the company should happen to treat an unusually large percentage of oxidized ore the output should run above 4,000,000 pounds.

It is, therefore, quite safe to say that Chino is now earning better than $6 per share, and it remains only to put the last section of the mill in commission for the company to be earning better than $8. Needless to say, with a net income of better than $400,000 a month, Chino is reaching the point where it can consistently make returns to its shareholders at an earlier date than was originally anticipated.

Occupying the position that we do toward this company, it would hardly behoove us to make any definite prediction, but it is quite safe to say that unless there should be a sharp drop in the price of the metal, or a material let-up in deliveries of sales, the first declaration will be made not far from the first of the year, and will not be disappointing in amount.

The impression gained from reading the quarterly report of the development work at the North Butte property is not very pronounced either one way or the other. The "Edith May" and the "Jessie" veins still do not develop any bodies of commercial ore on the lower levels, and this, it must be admitted, is a disappointment.

On the other hand, there was encountered by cross-cutting on the 2800-foot level one of the "Gem" veins, showing 12 feet of ore, assaying about 5 per cent. copper. Evidently, this was the vein that in current reports was referred to as the "Jessie."

There was also developed on the 2400-foot level of the Adirondack a very satisfactory body of ore, averaging 16 feet in width and with an average value of 4 per cent. copper and 2½ ounces silver.

After all, it really makes little difference in which vein ore is discovered, and these two new developments should go a long way toward offsetting the apparently declining values in the "Edith May" and the "Jessie."

We know that it is current local opinion that North Butte is looking better than it has for several years past, and the large amount of development work that is being done each quarter is evidence of the desire of the management to maintain the company's ore reserves.

A. L. DENNIS, being duly sworn, declares that he is and has been for twelve years Superintendent of Circulation of the Los Angeles Times; that the above detailed statement of circulation for the month of October, 1912, is correct, and shows the circulation of The Times for each day of the month named.

A. L. DENNIS,
Superintendent of Circulation, The Times.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of November, 1912.
(Seal) T. L. CHAPIN,

The Times is the only newspaper in Los Angeles that does not make a practice of permitting agents, newsboys and dealers to return unsold copies of its issues. Neither does it misbrand or pervert its editions, or inflate its circulation by printing more copies than are actually necessary to supply its patrons.

The Times' entire circulation is practically net, and it is more genuine and superior in every respect to that of any other newspaper in Southern California.

DULLNESS PREVAILED ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

Even the Professionals Refuse to Take on New Commitments and in Consequence the Day Is of the Most Listless Character—Gains Are Made by a Few Specialties.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Extreme dullness featured today's stock market. Price changes were irregular for the greater part, with a steadier tone in the final hour, when the best prices of the day were recorded. Trading lost none of its professional character, but even that faction seemed averse to taking on new commitments. There were no developements to account for the market's apathy other than prevailing political and financial conditions. In the early part of the session there were signs of pressure upon such leaders as United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper, American Smelting, the several oil shares and American Sugar. Union Pacific also denoted short selling, while an abrupt decline in Wabash preferred was associated with the tangle in that road's reorganization plan. The few genuine gains of the day were limited to some of the high priced specialties, such as Woolworth, Sears-Roebuck and National Biscuit. Sluggishness of the copper group was accompanied by rumors of a slight shading of prices for the metal. Monetary conditions were unchanged although call loans did not get beyond 6 per cent. The bond market was devoid of especial features. Total sales, par value, $2,668,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Board of Public Works yesterday settled the bills of alleged experts in the harbor litigation.

The ordinance submitting the settling of the saloon question to a vote in Wilmington and San Pedro was passed and ordered on the ballot yesterday.

The Police Commission called on the Council yesterday to provide many more policemen, saying that 200 more are needed.

A husband of 75, who is seeking a divorce from a woman of 45, told a Superior Court judge yesterday that he married her in accordance with a wish expressed by his first wife. After the wedding, he declared, wife No. 2 began demanding all his property.

At the City Hall.

EASY MONEY FOR EXPERTS.

BILLS SHAVED BUT STILL THEY ARE REMUNERATIVE.

Harbor Cities Will Vote on the Saloon Question—Loud Call for More Policemen—To Drive "Curbstoners" Inside—New Traffic Ordinance for Wilshire Boulevard.

Somebody surely made easy money out of the city's suit to condemn certain lands at San Pedro for highway and warehouse purposes, but it was regarded as essential to the city's case that expert testimony be secured to fix the value of the land in question. It is possible that many of the men thus employed never before felt themselves experts, but be that as it may, the prices some of them put upon their services struck some business men around the City Hall as ridiculous. As finally adopted yesterday, the bill is as follows: R. M. Allen, $950; J. A. Anderson, $650; E. S. Butterworth, $950; P. E. Berry, $700; Charles Dreifus, $700; Alexander Culver, $1190; M. L. Campbell, $350; T. N. Camfield, $950; A. P. Ferl, $100; F. D. Howell, $1645; Charles Nicolai, $50; O. A. Smith, $2; Marshall Stimson, $200.

The amounts were adjusted by Attorney Hewitt, after sundry conferences with the claimants, and his figures were followed except in two instances. P. E. Berry and Charles Dreifus appeared before the Board of Public Works yesterday in support of their claim of $1000 each. Hewitt had allowed them $550 each, or at the rate of $25 a day. They demanded $50 a day. A compromise was finally agreed upon at $35 a day, or $700 for twenty days. Camfield demanded $1500, but took $950.

Commissioner Humphreys refused to accede to the compromise, but insisted upon supporting the report of the attorney, which he believed to be sufficiently liberal.

PLACED ON BALLOT.

HARBAR LIQUOR QUESTION.

When the ordinance came before the City Council yesterday, submitting the question of liquor licenses or no liquor licenses for San Pedro and Wilmington to a vote of the people of the two districts, nothing but the "straw" vote taken on the preceding day prevented the dropping of the whole question.

Topham moved to abandon the proceedings, as he said he believed it was a bad precedent to establish, to permit one section of the city to vote independently of another; that the Church Federation did not want the vote taken unless it could be by the whole city. "They know and I know," he said, "that if it is left to themselves they will vote 'wet,' and why not save the trouble."

The ordinance was passed by the vote of Tuesday—five to two—though at least two of the members expressed themselves as favoring Topham's suggestion if it had been made before the "straw" vote was taken. The question will now go on the ballot in the two districts, and will add "ginger" to the election down there, if it does nothing else.

WANTS MORE POLICEMEN.

COMMISSION ASKS FOR MONEY.

More policemen were called for yesterday by the Police Commission, the demand being set forth in a communication to the City Council, with the sanction of Chief Sebastian, who says that he could use 200 more men. The communication holds out as an inducement to the Council, the number of men on the police forces of various cities—generally two to one, in comparison with this city. This fact has looked well on paper for some time, but the increasing number of hold-ups, the commission suggests, indicates that better protection is needed. It makes a strong appeal for a larger allowance in the budget.

AFTER THE "BARKERS."

NEW ORDINANCE SUGGESTED.

The nuisance of sidewalk solicitors in front of stores is once more to come up before the City Council, on the initiative of the Police Commission. An ordinance was drawn at their suggestion covering the whole range of sidewalk nuisances, and will go to the Council with a recommendation for its passage on Tuesday.

The annoyance has as a rule been confined to Main street, but recently it began to bloom on Broadway, in the block in which the City Hall is located, and it is probable that even members of the Police Commission and members of the Council have been solicited to buy certain goods sold by a small establishment.

The ordinance goes further and puts the quietus on all sorts of noises resorted to for attracting attention of passers—horns, drums, and all kinds of objectionable "musical" instruments are under the ban, as well as word, gesture or act.

Chief Sebastian favors the ordinance and people generally hope to see it become a law. It excepts vegetable peddlers and other like venders outside the business district.

TRAFFIC ON WILSHIRE.

THREE BLOCKS AND BACK.

A new ordinance was adopted by the Council yesterday, regulating traffic on Wilshire boulevard. There has been a standing ordinance, prohibiting heavy traffic on the street, but the question sometimes arose as to what "heavy traffic" is. The new one absolutely prohibits oil wagons, manure wagons and haulers of trash, but makes provision for deliveries of merchandise, fuel and household supplies of other kinds, providing the wagon enters and leaves by the nearest cross street.

There is a provision that none of these delivery wagons may drive more than three blocks on the street, but there seems to be nothing prohibiting the driver from leaving the street at the end of three blocks, turning around and immediately driving three more blocks. However, the principal objection has been to oil wagons, and as these are prohibited from using the street the principal end has been attained.

At the Courthouse.

SO SAYS ELDERLY HUSBAND, SEEKING DIVORCE.

Asserts He Married Present Wife in Compliance of Request of His First, Who Was Nursed During Her Last Sickness by the Woman. Court's Query.

Seeking consolation in the professed love and affection of the woman who had nursed his dying wife, and believing that he was bound by the wish of his wife, expressed shortly before she died, that he marry her nurse, Thomas Wilcox two years ago gave her his name. He was 73 and she 43. The story of the unhappiness which followed was told in the divorce court yesterday.

"I wanted to live a quiet life, as I had with my first wife," Wilcox said. "We had been together fifty years and there never was an unpleasant word between us. My second wife wanted money. She wanted me to give her everything I had, put my property in her name. She said she would manage it for me."

"Didn't you know when you married her that she was after your money?" asked Judge Monroe.

"I did not think that," replied Wilcox.

"I don't know," disconsolately answered Wilcox.

Wilcox deeded to his wife shortly after they were married property at Long Beach worth $7000; three houses and lots in Manitoba, valued at $26,0000, and a house in Pasadena worth $4000, which he had bought from his second wife's mother before his marriage. He put his foot down when she asked him to give her his property in Canada, valued at $60,000. He saved it for his children, deeding it to them.

Mrs. Wilcox, calm and collected, did not seem disturbed by her husband's stories of alleged greed. Her story was that she married Albert Broberg at a village near St. Paul fifteen years ago, after one day's acquaintance. They lived together three days, when she fled to Pennsylvania. Her next venture was with Jacob Lehman, a wealthy farmer. They separated three years later, Lehman agreeing to give her $2500. At his death he left his $60,000 estate to the servants.

Mrs. Lehman met Wilcox at the Natick House, where the old man and his wife were staying. He stated yesterday he believed she was a widow, but when he asked her when her husband had died she was not able to tell him. After the first Mrs. Wilcox died, he was shown a newspaper article telling of the death of Lehman.

"After our marriage, she called me an old man," he said. "When I complained that she did not keep my house, she said if I did not like it I could divide the property. She was all the time after me to give her my property."

The case was continued until today.

ENIGMA FOR SOLOMON.

Whether baby Myrtle Bewley shall be given to her young mother or remain with Mrs. Sylvester H. Thompson, the wife of the wealthy Palo Verde farmer, will be determined this afternoon when Judge Craig will rule on the writ of habeas corpus taken out by Attorney Beardsley.

Beardsley contended yesterday that Mrs. Bewley, as the mother, has the prior right and that the written relinquishment she gave to the Children's Home Society is of no force. Attorney Edmonds, counsel for the Elizabeth Society, argued that the mother is estopped by reason of the relinquishment.

A dozen women neighbors of Mrs. Thompson were in court, all hoping that the baby would be given to her. They told yesterday how soon after Myrtle came to her she gave a christening party, naming her Sarah Elizabeth Thompson, and later on, the neighbors gave baby Elizabeth a shower. The thought of parting with the rosy-cheeked baby is breaking Mrs. Thompson's heart, they declare.

DEAL STANDS.

INVESTOR LOSES SUIT.

Joseph A. Curci, who bought a winery from Joseph Lagomarsini and Leonard Aquilino, paying $6000 cash and a note for the balance, later bringing suit to recover the money on the ground that false representations had been made as to the quantity of wine and brandy on hand, was unable to recover judgment in Judge Finlayson's court yesterday.

Curci asserted that while it was represented there was 60,000 gallons of wine, and 1000 gallons of brandy on hand, the actual amount was 26,000 gallons of wine and 680 gallons of brandy. The evidence showed that the amount of liquor on hand was approximately what it was represented to be.

"ALL'S WELL THAT—"

RUNAWAYS ARE FORGIVEN.

E. B. Ward, a marine engineer, No. 1524 East Twenty-fourth street, was bereft of his wife by death and his daughter, Edna, by elopement. He believed that his wife's death was hastened by the runaway marriage, and placing credence in the statement of a fellow-workman that Edna's husband had a wife living in San Francisco, Ward had the couple arrested.

When the parties grouped themselves around the table in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday, Edna was in tears, her husband looked downcast, and Ward's face was stern. The latter said Edna ran away last month. On the day before she left home while her mother was sick, Edna laughingly informed her she was going to marry Stanley F. Rogers.

Mrs. Rogers, who is 18, declared her father opposed the marriage because he believed she was under age.

"Mother told me last January that I was 18, and if father had not been set against my marriage to Stanley, he would not dispute it.

Rogers was able to satisfy the court that everything was all right, and Judge Wilbur discharged the bride and groom. As Rogers passed Ward he held out his hand.

Ward took it, saying, "I'll take it now. All I ask is that you will take good care of my only child."

"Never fear, I will do that," replied Rogers. Edna flashed back a bright smile.

HINGES ON CONTRACT.

DEFENDANT SAYS NOT SIGNED.

A contract, which the plaintiff admits he has not seen lately and which the defendant denies was ever signed, figures in a suit on trial in Judge Craig's court, brought by George C. Peckham, and the George C. Peckham Company against Dr. W. F. Fundenberg, growing out of the subdivision of the Live Oak ranch, near Claremont. Peckham asks $18,100 damages for the alleged breach of contract, asserting that after he began work on the subdivision, Fundenberg refused to allow him to proceed.

Fundenberg holds that the subdivision of the ranch depended on the development of water and that he spent $12,000 trying to develop water. Receipts were produced on the cross-examination of Peckham yesterday showing that he had been paid $1850 for his services, but he admits receiving only $150.

Another suit is pending against Fundenberg for a declaration of a trust on the same property. Peckham alleges under his declaration of trust he was to have been appointed agent and if it had been executed, the agency would have been worth $75,000 to him. He asks judgment for that amount.

REMEMBERS RELATIVES.

WIDOWER RECEIVES BULK.

After cash bequests to various relatives, Mrs. May Newton Levitt of South Pasadena left the bulk of her $183,800 estate to her husband, Arthur Newton Levitt, who is named executor under the will, dated June 8, 1907, and filed yesterday. Mrs. Levitt owned considerable real estate in this city, including property on Olive street.

She remembered Margaret Satches Allen, a colored servant, with $500, and placed $1000 in trust for her nephew, Newton Eugene Cattern, and niece, Marymae Cattern, the income from this sum to be paid them until they reach their majority.

NURSE IN COURT.

SAYS SHE WAS CHOKED.

The $2500 damage suit of Lolita Cordona, a professional nurse, against John D. Dawson, formerly a druggist at Thirty-sixth street and Central avenue, involves an alleged brutal attack Dawson committed on her in the store, December 13, last, when she called with reference to payment of a bill. Dawson entered a general denial. The case was set down for Judge Conrey's court yesterday and continued until next Wednesday because it could not be reached.

Miss Cordona alleges that Dawson, who disputed the bill, choked her and endeavored to throw her out of the store. There were no eye-witnesses to the alleged assault. Dawson, since the affair has been admitted to the bar and is practicing law.

NOT MATED.

WIFE TRAPS HUSBAND.

The divorce suit of Lena Frankel deals with her marriage to Harry S. Frankel at Beebe, Utah, in 1908, their coming to Los Angeles and their living apart since that time. It appears that Frankel went to his parents' home and Mrs. Frankel took up her abode with her folks.

An action for divorce she brought last year was denied. Frankel had gone to San Francisco. She wrote him there and he replied he could not support her. This letter will be used as the basis of her charge for non-support. The case was called yesterday and continued by Judge Monroe until he can look over the record in the former divorce suit.

DIG INTO RECORDS.

CITY'S TITLE RESISTED.

A ton of city and county records was taken to Judge Finlayson's courtroom yesterday for use in the trial of the quiet-title suit of the city against Roscoe E. Moore, involving land on Avenue 20. It was stipulated by the attorneys in the case yesterday that the city received a grant to the property from the Spanish government and later by patent from the United States government.

Moore alleges the land formed part of the possessions of John S. Griffith and that at his death it was deeded to John Griffith Johnston, his residuary legatee, and other heirs. Title is claimed by the defendant.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

TOO MANY. In order to hear what she had to say, Judge Monroe ordered Mrs. Orrell Kiefer to be brought into court yesterday after he had heard the testimony of her husband, Frank Kiefer, who brought suit for divorce on the ground of desertion. Cases where the wife deserts the husband are becoming too numerous, the court declared.

HIS PLAINT. A complaint filed for Oliver Watles, aged 15, by his guardian, Lena Watles, against Hop Wah, proprietor of a Chinese laundry, declares that solely by reason of pretense or erroneous surmise on the part of Hop that Oliver might have cast a stone through his laundry window, did Hop and his assistants rush out and manhandle the boy, October 4, last. Oliver came out of the scuffle with a broken leg, he alleges, and internal injuries. He asks $15,200 damages.

OBJECT TO REPORT. Property owners, defendants in the condemnation suit of the city for the opening of Eighteenth street from Eighth to Ninth avenues, filed an objection in Judge Finlayson's court yesterday to the findings of the referee's report, on the ground that the awards were disproportionate to the value of the land. The findings were for $1000, and the value placed by the property owners was $1350, which included that portion of the land not taken by the city. The defendants are Anna Lehman, the Los Angeles Abstract and Trust Company, and others. The trial was set for December 10, next.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Motorcyclist Paces Behind Police Auto on Hurry Call, Is Arrested for Speeding and Fined.

O. W. Fort, No. 816 North Normandie avenue, proved himself a good pacekeeper on a motorcycle on South Figueroa street yesterday, but his achievement didn't win him a medal or the applaudits of spectators. Instead, it cost him a fine of $25 or twenty-five days, for he was arraigned before Police Judge Chambers on a speeding charge.

Motorcycle Officer Blaisdell testified that he caught Fort making twenty-five miles an hour in the twelve-mile limit, between Fourth and Sixth streets.

"My arrest is an outrage," exclaimed Fort. "They discriminated against me. Why didn't the officers arrest the machine I was following? It was going just as fast as I was."

"You were pacing a police auto," replied Blaisdell. "It was responding to a fast call."

Speedy Speeder Fined.

Motorcycle Officer Hollowell had to speed his machine up to almost a mile a minute to overtake and arrest J. O. Barbee, who was making, the officer said, between thirty-five and forty miles an hour on Wilshire boulevard. Barbee told the court his engine was not working properly and that in attempting to "tune it up," he ran faster than he intended to. He was fined $50 or fifty days.

Expensive Joy Ride.

Lewis Hyer paid dearly for a joy ride when Police Judge Chambers sentenced him to pay $150 or pass 150 days in jail yesterday. He was prosecuted by Patrolman Hoffman, at the instigation of C. W. Jones, a member of the California Club. The latter testified that Hyer stole his machine and took a number of friends out for a ride. The car was wrecked and Hyer was injured. Jones said it cost him several hundred dollars to have the machine repaired.

Good Watch Charm.

"Where was he carrying that thing, on his watch chain?" asked Police Judge Chambers of Patrolman Farley, who was prosecuting S. Savella for carrying a "deadly weapon, to-wit, a revolver." The gun was so small it could be concealed in a man's hand. It could not be fired because the trigger wouldn't work. It shot B. B. cartridges, when in perfect condition, which didn't occur often, apparently.

"The man told me he got it to shoot rabbits with," testified Farley.

Man Takes to Heels When Commanded to Hold Up Hands—Armed Bandits Fail to Pursue.

There is virtue in running away when armed bandits command one to throw up his hands, in the opinion of R. T. Frazier, No. 542 Ceres avenue. Frazier did that thing in the small hours of Wednesday morning and escaped two masked robbers.

Frazier reported to the police he was crossing the old market at Third and Alameda streets, when two men stepped out from a shadow, covered him with guns, and commanded him to halt. Instead of obeying, he says he ducked and ran, following the line of least resistance, Third street.

Mike Brodri, No. 702 East Third street, reported to the police that his trunk was broken open and a watch, a charm and a stickpin were stolen.

LIFE PARTNERS SEPARATED.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 13.—Peter Meally, 72 years old, who had driven a team here from Nevada on the way to Long Beach, died at Garden Grove today from hemorrhage of the lungs, leaving his aged wife homeless and friendless. Mrs. Meally told the Coroner she had a daughter in Salt Lake City. Meally became ill immediately after pitching camp at Garden Grove, and died in a few minutes.
